Dear Readers,
When the tragedy of death touches your life, find a compassionate friend to whom you can talk from the bottom of your heart. Allow your suffering to spill into words. There is much wisdom in the Turkish proverb: 'He that conceals his grief finds no remedy for it.' When you express your emotions openly, you allow grief to surface - an important step on the road to recovery.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Open Letter

Dear Hugo's shoppers,

With budget cuts and over-crowded classrooms, it's hard to make ends meet in today's schools. Hugo's would like to help the public and parochial schools in our market area by offering a new program called Labels for Learning™.

The Labels for Learning™ program pays schools 4¢ and school foundations 1¢ for every label (UPC code) from Our Family brand products collected at participating schools. The money can be used for whatever they wish.

You can contribute to this effort by purchasing Our Family products and donating the labels to your local school. Won't you please join us in this effort and help improve the quality of our children's education.

Sincerely,

Schools close for conventions

Thief River Falls public schools will be closed this Thursday and Friday, October 15 and 16, while the Minnesota Education Association (MEA) and Minnesota Federation of Teachers (MFT) hold their annual conventions.

MEA conventions will take place October 15 and 16 at the Minneapolis Convention center and at the Bemidji middle school. The combined attendance will make the 107th convention the largest gathering of professional educators in Minnesota. Nearly 16,000 of the association's 45,500 members are expected to attend the two events, including 700 to 800 at Bemidji.

There will be more than 300 exhibitors and 50 professional workshops in Minneapolis and 33 exhibitors and 35 workshops in Bemidji. Activities at both conventions include hints on how to get more involved in children's education, the latest children's books and computer software and tips for more effective parent-teacher conferences.

Main speakers in Minneapolis will be William Raspberry, syndicated columnist of the "Washington Post" and William Graves, editor-in-chief of "National Geographic" magazine. Speakers in Bemidji will be Gene Mammenga, state commissioner of education, and Warren Bradbury, secretary-treasurer of the MEA.

Depending on standards set by local staff development committees, teachers who attend the MEA convention may be eligible to receive inservice credits for training. Credits could be earned by taking part in workshops, attending lectures by guest speakers or visiting exhibits and talking with developers of educational materials.

[illegible] to the low salaries. A two [illegible] apartment, for example, [illegible] $1 to $3 per month.

[illegible] are in line with the cost [illegible], but the people also lead a [illegible] lifestyle. They don't have many of the appliances that we take for granted and they rely [illegible] own gardens. Everyone has [illegible] own gardens, he said.

[illegible] was never a problem and they never saw a need for more. There was an abundance of quality food and lots of fruit, Dorn said. "We never ever had to skimp on meals," he said. The only place they were exposed to lines was in Moscow, a city of something like 8.5 million people.

Getting to Ishim was an adventure in itself. The small group flew from Grand Forks to New York, boarded a Finn Air plane to Helsinki and then to Moscow.

They had a 12-hour delay in Moscow before taking a train to Ishim so they stored their bags in an underground locker system. Dorn said they had the typical concerns anyone would have in a big city. For example, they were told by interpreters to pull off identification on their bags so that they could not be identified as belonging to Americans. The contents of their bags would provide a bonanza on the Black Market.

When they were ready to leave they had to go to another train station about a block away. As they had many bags they hired a youth to take their bags to the train. They learned in the process that the caddies seem to have territories and they had to pay several caddies to get their bags to the station. As they were waiting at the station a group of "Mongol looking people" began eyeing their bags and sizing them up. It became a tense situation as they didn't understand what was being said.

During the confusion, one of the interpreters was able to slip away and contact local authorities. As a result, they received an escort to the train and the group of people dispersed.

Dorn said they never felt threatened or that any hostility was directed at them during their entire trip. The situation at the train depot was something that could have happened in any big city.

What was amazing about the next adventure, a 37 hour train ride on the Siberian International railway in a 6 x 10 berth for four men, was that the train was due in at 10:47 a.m. in Ishim and it arrived at exactly 10:47 a.m.

Though the space they occupied was small, the car and the berths were clean. The bathroom facilities, which had toilets that opened out onto the tracks, caused a little concern and amusement during their long journey by train. Dorn said one thing he regrets is missing the Ural mountains. The train passed through the mountains at about 2 a.m.

The mayor of Ishim and 100 to 200 people greeted them when they arrived. "They really had the Welcome Wagon out for us," said Dorn.

The mayor and others showed great consideration for their three day journey and the 11 hour time difference and set the four men up with host families right away.

Dorn couldn't remember seeing or hearing about a motel. All of the cultural exchanges in the past had involved the use of host families. It was a great way to learn about their day to day lifestyle, he said.

Dorn and Buzz Marvin were with one family and an interpreter was assigned to them. The other two men were with different families.

Their lifestyle is simple, Dorn said. He wasn't sure that they took baths or showers each day when they weren't there but they fired up the coal-fired water heater each day so that their guests could take a bath.

Washing clothes meant washing the clothes in a bucket in the bath tub. They had indoor plumbing but paper could not be flushed down the toilet. "They just didn't have the appliances that we do," Dorn said.

Designs were what would have been expected in the period in America between the 1930s and 1950s. Dorn said they went into a furniture store and they had what would have been selling in America during the 1950s.

They seem to have very close family ties, Dorn said. In the two and one half weeks they were there they never heard or saw a voice raised in anger. The husband is the dominant figure in the family, the bread winner and the person in charge of discipline. Dorn said women, however, are appearing to participate in more important positions.

Infrastructure — roads and utilities — was the most important thing they need to work on, Dorn said. There are few paved roads, storm sewers didn't seem to exist because there is no curb and gutter, and although he didn't see a sewer treatment plant, he suspected that they had a lagoon system. The buildings were generally very drab. Dorn said there is very little brightness in buildings and visitors could tell when the government issued paint and what color because the buildings were all the same. He also watched eight to 10 guys grooming trees on a street one day. They were using hand saws.

While the region, known as the Tyumen region, which is the equivalent to a state, is about 40 years behind in many things, it is rich in natural resources. Oil is one of the rich resources they are just beginning to develop. Its location is roughly the 59th parallel, which is equivalent to the bottom of the Hudson Bay area, Dorn said. The Hudson Bay area is much more bleak, however. Dorn said that surprisingly, the area looked very similar to the area around Thief River Falls. In fact he took one picture of a river area, which could easily be mistaken for the Thief River.

While they were in Ishim, each day was carefully planned out. Dorn said they typically toured five or six different facilities each day. It was interesting for Buzz Marvin of Marvin Windows to visit a wood production plant. The equipment was outdated and labor intensive.

Dorn said that while they might be 40 years behind current U.S. standards, that didn't mean what was being produced wasn't adequate for their needs or that there wasn't any demand for the product.

They visited one machine plant that although manufacturing was labor intensive, the product they manufactured could have some applications for farmers in this area, Dorn said. A carpet factory they visited manufactured large rugs and beautiful hats. When they learned that each hat cost the U.S. equivalent of 53 cents, they immediately thought "what a great opportunity!"

They also visited a wood factory that produced a product composed of sawdust and magnesium chloride. The finished product was a wood brick used for structures. Dorn said they pounded nails in it and tried to get it to burn by pouring lighter fluid on it, but they couldn't destroy it. It also had a real respectable R factor.

Vodka is something they serve morning and night. "You certainly acquire a taste for vodka, cognac and caviar," Dorn said. One of the most impressive factories they visited was a vodka plant. It bottles 21 million litres of vodka every two weeks. They hope to export the product, Dorn said, but they need to revamp the bottling system and produce a screw-on top. They use a pop cap type of cap. Vodka was available all the time and it was very cheap. A good bottle of vodka was 90 cents, and a bottle of cognac was $1.30.

Experiments with privatization are beginning to take place. At one beer brewery, employees were in the process of banding together to buy out the brewery. At every meeting the Americans attended, there were many questions for them.

One of the highlights of their trip was a visit to a school and an orphanage. Dorn said they went to one school where they were teaching English to children at age 6. At an orphanage there were about 80 children. Dorn said children end up in orphanages mainly because of the high rate of alcoholism. Typically, he said, the father is the only bread winner and if he is an alcoholic they don't have any other place to go. Dorn said he never heard the word "abuse" used. It was also interesting to note that the Church typically made the decision to refer children to the orphanage. It was a very nice facility and they had a real good time there, Dorn said. The 100 suckers they took with them really came in handy, he added.

The medical situation was something else, Dorn said. Everything is located in one facility and much of the equipment is outdated and pretty basic. Dorn said they were advised to bring their own antibiotics. Dental care is free, but there is no novocain during office hours. It is available after hours on the black market but they have to pay for it.

Victor Reyn, director of Ishim administration, which is something like a mayor, is enthusiastic about involvement from the United States based on previous contacts.

Dorn said on a straight investment they were willing to agree to just about any terms. They would even guarantee an investment up to five years with both the city and regional government on the guarantee. Obviously, there's a risk, Dorn said, but as fast as things are going to move, there's an opportunity for great returns. Dorn said they were shown records of companies that had already appreciated 700 per cent.

The temptation to purchase goods like the caps and sell them in the United States was great, but because of unstable tariffs and money markets, the best investment would be with hard currency. Dorn said they are going to form an investment group and send over hard currency to be used in some of the fast moving privatized businesses. They would also re-invest their earnings. In return, they would receive a guarantee on 100 per cent of their investment in five years even if the investment goes bad. The investment would also always be recognized in dollars.

"There's a misconception out there that it's Russia vs. the U.S.," Dorn said. He is confident that anyone who spends time over there as they did would understand that they are people like us. "They know they are behind in times and are angry about that. We hope they understand it won't change overnight. We told them to have patience for the greatest industrial revolution in the world will take place in Russia. They are going to explode. It's going to be wild. They have to understand that they cannot move too fast or the world will take advantage of them."

From what he observed, Dorn said they will never return to communism — unless there's some major catastrophic event.

Contributions from several people and organizations made the trip much easier, Dorn said. Aretco gave them a coat to present to the Mayor of Ishim. The Fineline Dancers gave them some suckers. Pat Thompson sent over a lot of Mary Kay cosmetics, which were very well received by the women. The Chamber of Commerce provided them with literature and pins. It all helped, he said.

Would I go back? Dorn answered — "in a heartbeat".

Dorn said he's willing to talk to anyone about his trip. Until he knows what people are interested in hearing about, however, he'd rather it be question and answer sessions. Anyone interested in looking at all of his pictures and videos from his trip better pack an overnight bag. Tony took six and one-half hours of video and 350 pictures.

SIDS is topic of UMC panel

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is the subject of an infant panel discussion at the University of Crookston conference center at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, October 13.

Representatives from the Polk County Sheriff's Department, Crookston Police Department, Medical Examiner, County Attorney's Office and Polk County Nursing Service have been invited to speak during the panel.

SIDS is the unexpected and unexplained death of an infant, sometimes referred to as "crib death." SIDS is sudden and typically not preceded by respiratory problems, therefore it can't be predicted or recognized before cardiac arrest occurs.

It claims the lives of approximately 8,000 infants each year and the cause is unknown. While SIDS deaths occur between the ages of two weeks and 18 months, 90 per cent of them occur to infants under six months of age.

Topics discussed on October 13 relating to SIDS include investigations and documentation required, the parent and the child care provider's prospective, medical and emotional issues.

Panel members will allow time to answer questions from the audience.

There is no fee for the meeting. To register contact Maureen, Cindy, or Cheryl at Child Care Resource and Referral 1-800-543-7382 or 281-5832.

Impressions . . .

Five hundred years ago Columbus discovered America. This past weekend across America parades were held to celebrate this event. In Denver, the Columbus parade was canceled at the last moment because of unrest between protesters of Columbus' voyage and parade participants.

Our nation has been debating the Columbus voyage. Some see his voyage and discovery as a beginning to the land we now call America. Others see his voyage and discovery as being the demise of a society that had existed for generations before being discovered by Columbus. Regardless of how we in 20th Century America view Columbus' voyage, the fact remains that his discovery did bring an end to one way of life as it ushered into existence the America we know today.

This America of the 20th Century needs to reflect on her past. We need to remember who our forebearers were. Think about our nation and her people. We indeed are a melting pot of cultures. Consider the ways in which we or our ancestors arrived in this nation.

Some of us can trace our families through the generations to the beginning of this country. Legends passed down through the generations confirm the existence of these early ancestors.

Some of us can trace our families' arrival in this newly discovered world to those early Pilgrim settlers. History records the hardships those early settlers faced simply because they chose to leave their homelands to find some place they could practice the religious freedom they desired.

Some of us can trace our families to those who arrived in America with a sense of hope that somehow the streets of America would be paved with gold. After surviving the trip over the ocean, reality descended. The streets of America were not paved with gold, but simply with the hopes of those who trod them.

Some of us can trace our families to times of distress in the world when America beamed a bright beacon for the refugees of the places of distress. Some of us are lone survivors of our families. Some of us never did see parents and children again.

Some of us cannot trace our family's beginning in America. Some of us do not know or perhaps even do not care when their family became part of this melting pot called America.

This past year we watched once again one of our cities burn as neighbor fought against neighbor. This past year we watched as our nation turned back to their homelands those trying to reach our shores. This past year we have watched ethnic fighting erupt in our world.

In the midst of this unstable, unperfect world, we in America have decided to debate the goodness or badness of Columbus. How ridiculous we have become! The fact remains that we are all here. Somehow, we have become inhabitants of this great nation. We do not have the luxury of debating what already is. We do exist. Yet even as we exist as a nation we need to cherish our diversity. We may even need to nourish our diversity.

My brother has recently moved into a new neighborhood in the city in which he lives. Asking how he liked his new apartment and neighborhood, I received the response that his neighborhood is of mixed ethnic origin as all neighborhoods should be. Would that all of us in this world could speak so kindly of those who don't look like us or think like us or believe as we do.

Betsy Thompson and her sisters Polly Stevenson from California and Florence Strom from Florida visited Elsie Lafrooth on Wednesday. These were all here to attend the "Big 50th" for Isaac and Betsy on Sunday. I will get all the rest of the news about it this week, as soon as they are settled down so we can talk. Isaac says he doesn't want to be rude and interupt so hasn't gotten a word in edge-wise.

June, Ben and Brandon Kasprowicz and Wilson Ellertson visited Frank Kleinvachter's on Thursday.

. . . The Debates

Did you watch the debates on Sunday? I did. I enjoyed them immensely, which surprises me.

I tried to keep my mind open. Some people who know me well would say that isn't a difficult thing for me to do, since I am often accused of having nothing but windy air whistling between my ears anyway.

However, I began watching the debates with an open mind. I enjoyed listening to the responses—the first few times I heard them. But soon I realized that the candidates were answering different questions with the same answers. It seemed as though each of them had a specific statement to make, and, no matter what the question, they made sure they got that statement into the answer.

President Bush made sure we were aware that the nation wasn't in as much trouble as we (and the other candidates) thought it was. He reiterated over and over that America was still a great nation and it was on the road to recovery, thanks to his administration, of course.

He also made sure we were reminded, often, how he has been hampered working with a mostly Democratic congress and that is why things were not as perfect as he would have liked them to be, but that things would be really rosy after the fall election (of a mostly Republican congress, I assume).

Governor Clinton kept telling us that the Republicans had a twelve-year chance to do some things and that nothing had been done yet and it was time to let the Democrats in again.

He told us over and over that it was "time for a change," and we should let the Democrats take a turn at running the country for a while and see if they can do some new things to improve the economy and lower the deficit and create some jobs and all of that.

Ross Perot wanted us to know that the country needs fixing, no matter what. He is mostly very concerned about the deficit and what it is going to mean to our children and grandchildren.

He didn't seem to care which party it was that got it all into such a mess, but he wanted us to know that he is the man who can fix it up, no matter which party or who he has to kick to do it.

He let us know that his ears are just ready and waiting for words from the people, and he is ready to jump into action the minute he is elected, even before he is inaugurated.

I found the most tiresome thing of all about the debates was what came afterward. As soon as the three candidates stopped shaking hands with the audience, we were bombarded with reports of all the different polls that were going on before, during and after the debates.

I think there were polls taken of nearly every type of person in the nation. There were polls of the supporters of the candidates, taken to see if they had changed their minds after the debate, I suppose. There were polls of Democrats, Republicans and other types of political parties, taken, I suppose, to see if the debates had caused them to change their party affiliation.

There were also polls taken of people who haven't made up their minds who to vote for yet, taken, I suppose, to see if anything the candidates said during the debates rang a bell and caused the people to suddenly decide to vote for whoever; as well as polls of people who don't vote at all, taken, I suppose, to see if the debates had such a profound effect on them that they were ready, willing and able to get themselves out to vote this year.

I have heard the results of dozens of polls since the debate none of which were the same. I don't believe in polls anyway, having heard, like most everyone, about the Truman/Dewey fiasco, when Dewey was predicted to win the election in all the polls and didn't.

Nonetheless, in spite of everything, I enjoyed the debates and I am looking forward to the ones that remain. Perhaps the participants will get so excited that they will forget to expound on their preplanned statements and actually tell us something. I hope so.

I am especially looking forward to tonight's vice-presidential debate. I have my popcorn and soft drinks ready, because I have the feeling that this debate will be almost as interesting as an adventure movie. Do you think so, too?

Pennington gets grant for mental health services

Pennington county has been awarded a $7,000 grant to improve mental health services for children, part of a $1.6 million grant to 64 counties in Minnesota.

Funding includes $750,000 from the 1992 Minnesota crime bill and $140,000 in federal education money. The remainder comes from federal mental health block grants.

The project was designed to be flexible so counties could tailor it to their area's particular needs. Those needs could range from improving collaborative efforts of local coordinating councils to actually implementing an integrated service delivery system.

MEA Weekend
by Karmen Lee Ortloff

Ahhh! MEA weekend is but a few days away and I firmly believe MEA is God's gift to high school students.

Now before I go any further, let me just say that I believe these two days off are very important and I'm sure teachers spend them well. By being at conventions and among peers, I can only imagine the benefits teachers get out of the extra days.

Just as important, however, is the benefit we, the students, get.

These extra two days off provide an opportunity to catch up on that Shakespearean play you've been meaning to read for English class. This weekend provides an opportunity to write those letters you've been meaning to return. Finally, this weekend provides an opportunity to clean up your room.

OR, you could do what I tend to do. You could catch up on your rest by sleeping in until noon and generally forget about all those other things. (In my own defense, I would like to state I do tend to get up rather early in order to make it to my 7:30 a.m. class. Furthermore, I know I was not meant to get up before the sun! But that's beside the point.)

Don't get me wrong, my intentions and those of every other student, are good.

I mean to do all those things, I really do.

You see, I sit in class all week long thinking about what needs to be done. Heck, sometimes I've even been so ambitious as to write out a list of things to get done as well as how long I can spend on each of these tasks. I'm psyched about the prospect of getting all these things accomplished and I'm ready to start with a vengeance.

The problem is, something happens during the time it takes to get from school to my house.

I come home fully intending to start on my list. Then I smell the aroma of freshly baked chocolate chip cookies. I pause to eat just one cookie. As everyone knows, however, cookies cannot fully be appreciated without milk.

So, I grab a glass and an extra cookie. I realize that Oprah's on! The show after Oprah is exciting, so I watch that one too. Before long, it's eight o'clock at night and much too late to start anything of importance, so I sit back down and finish my daily dose of television.

What about all the work on the list! Not to worry, I still have three more days to finish all those things. Well, not quite. First I wake up late (it had to be all those cookies and milk), then I get important letters from Ed McMahon (I get two at a time—I guess I'm special), and before I know it, it's eight o'clock. Once again, it is much too late to start anything of importance.

You get the picture. On Sunday night I look at the clothes on my bedroom floor, glance at the Shakespearean play I didn't read, and wish I had taken time to write back to Ed. In general, I shrug my shoulders and wish I would have started earlier. But hey, it's eight o'clock, much too late to start anything of great importance!

In closing, I am reminded of the fact that it was ambition that killed Julius Caesar (we read that Shakespearean play in class) and not procrastination. I intend to live a long and prosperous life. So there!

(KARMEN'S NOTE: Any resemblance to past or present students living in your home is a mere coincidence.)

Insurance Update

by Ron Henson

ACCORDING TO SCHEDULE

When a home is burglarized, the items most likely to be stolen are the ones that are subject to limitations by standard homeowner policies. For instance, most standard policies limit the coverage of stolen jewelry to $1,000. Guns, furs, silverware, etc. are also subject to limitations for theft. To more adequately protect these valuables that are highly susceptible to theft, a homeowner can add an endorsement to their basic policy that will specifically schedule an item for its respective value. The additional premium for this coverage is relatively low and gives much broader protection. Certain items may require an appraisal.

It is important to see that you have adequate insurance protection BEFORE a tragedy or mishap occurs. NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is here to provide you with the protection you require. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri.; 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

State patrol investigates area accidents

Minnesota state patrol is investigating an accident that happened two miles east of Warroad on Highway 11 Sunday evening. The state patrol also investigated a bear and car accident that happened late Sunday night east of Erskine.

Yvonne Holthusen, Warroad, 23, was taken to the Roseau hospital where she was treated and released. Holthusen was driving her 1983 Ford four door car west on Highway 11 when the car left the road, went into the ditch and struck a crossing. Damage to the car was estimated at $400. She was wearing a seat belt at the time. The accident is still under investigation by the Minnesota state patrol.

The state patrol received a report of a car and bear collision at 11:06 p.m. Sunday night. According to the report, Jacob Groening, 35, Thedford, Ontario, Canada, was driving his 1986 Ford Aero Star van east on Highway 2 when at about one-half mile east of Erskine his vehicle struck a bear on the road. Damage to the vehicle was slight and the bear kept going.

Rev. Erling Huglen of Roseau will conduct a series of three services on "Jesus as The Way, The Truth and The Life" October 18-20 at 7:30 p.m. at Telemarken Lutheran church, four miles west of the Goodridge corner on highway 1 and two miles south.

Two special musical numbers will be presented each evening and lunch will be served following each service. All are invited to participate in the series.

Rev. Huglen is a brother of the Telemarken pastor, Rev. Raynard Huglen. He was born in Saskatchewan, is a graduate of Augsburg College and Seminary in Minneapolis and has served at Roseau since 1962.

Prowlers, Otters match 5-1 records in Thursday showdown

[illegible] Section 8A [illegible] Lakes [illegible] will be in position to [illegible] for the start of the [illegible] 8A playoffs later this week.

[illegible] The [illegible] struggled in a season-opening 21-[illegible] loss at the hands of Detroit Lakes. But they rebounded with a [illegible] victory over Crookston in Week 2, and then put together a [illegible] string of [illegible] Wadena-Deer Creek 55-0, Staples Area 42-13, Park Rapids Area 42-6 and Belcourt, ND 42-16.

However, the four teams in the Thief River Falls win column have a combined record of just 5-24 this fall. Staples Area and Belcourt are both winless, Crookston and Wadena-Deer Creek are both 1-5, Park Rapids Area is 3-3.

The Prowlers played some good football in beating those teams. Thursday they'll find out if they can duplicate that kind of success against a contender.

"Fergus Falls is good," confirmed Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm. "They're very big, very physical. It's hard to predict how our kids will react. Winning is always nice, and we've had a chance to play a lot of kids lately, which is great for the program. But yes, we are concerned about how we'll handle things in the fourth quarter of a close game. It'll be interesting to see what will happen when our starters have to play four quarters of football."

While the Prowlers have been involved in just one tight finish against Crookston, the Otters have won four games by a touchdown or less. They opened the season with narrow wins over Alexandria 13-7, Orono 13-8 and Hibbing 15-12, went to 4-0 with 21-0 shutout against Crookston, but then dropped a [illegible] decision in a Week 5 showdown with Detroit Lakes. Fergus Falls got back on the winning track with another close win last week, a 14-7 victory over East Grand Forks.

"They don't score a lot of points, but defensively they're very, very tough," warned Mumm.

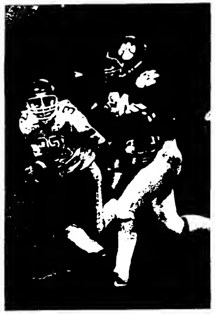
Thief River Falls will try to utilize its quickness and potential for a big play to beat the Fergus Falls defense. "We'd like to get a couple of touchdowns right away and force them to play catch-up football," noted Mumm. "It's tough to mount sustained drives against their defense. Offensively, they might have a tough time scoring points, but they control the football well. If they get a lead, they can control the tempo."

Elsewhere in Section 8A last week, Detroit Lakes went to 6-0 with a 45-14 win over Crosby-Ironton, Park Rapids Area defeated Aitkin 28-7, Wadena-Deer Creek got by Staples Area 28-20 in a battle of winless teams, Crookston fell to Devils Lake, ND 35-14, Perham dropped to 1-5 with a 14-0 loss to Pelican Rapids, and Little Falls, after a 4-0 start, lost its second straight game, 14-13 to Brainerd.

Thief River Falls will close out the 1992 regular season at home Wednesday, Oct. 21, vs. East Grand Forks. Wins over the Otters and Green Wave would assure the Prowlers of a second place finish in the final Section 8A point standings, which would mean one, and – with a quarterfinal win – possibly two home playoff games.

The Otters, however, can all but wrap up the No. 2 spot themselves with a win over Thief River Falls. Fergus Falls will finish the year against Wahpeton, ND.

"This is a big game in the section," said Mumm. "It should be a lot of fun. The kids are confident. They're looking forward to the challenge."



Marc Haugen hauled in a 19-yard touchdown pass from Thief River Falls quarterback Jason Svir, out-running Belcourt defender Jason DeCoteau for the end zone, during the Prowlers' 42-16 homecoming football win over the Braves Friday.

TRF wins homecoming game 42-16

It took a while to get going, but a 35-point second quarter did the job Friday as Thief River Falls beat Belcourt, ND 42-16 in a high school football game played in front of a large homecoming crowd at Prowler Field.

A scoreless first quarter was a collection of errors on both sides. The heavily-favored 4-1 Prowlers were hit by four penalties and gained all of 19 yards worth of offense. But the winless Braves had troubles of their own with three penalties and three fumbles the first 12 minutes.

Thief River Falls ran only eight offensive plays in the second quarter, but the Prowlers scored on four of them, and they added a fifth touchdown on a pass interception return for a 35-0 halftime spread. The Prowlers' offensive starters then sat out the second half.

"We had some problems at the start," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "We didn't execute very well. But we'll still got it done, and everybody played – we had almost 60 kids dressed – so we feel good about that."

A combination of things led to the poor start, according to Mumm, who said homecoming activities took a toll on the Prowlers' concentration, and the fact that a key Section 8A match-up with Fergus Falls awaited the Prowlers after the game against the struggling Braves – the only non-Section 8 foe on the 1992 Thief River Falls schedule. "They might have been looking ahead to Fergus Falls," he admitted. "Belcourt hasn't had a lot of success this year, and our kids might have thought they (Braves) were going to roll over for them."

It started going in the Prowlers' favor when Jason Niemi recovered a fumbled shotgun formation snap by Belcourt quarterback Justin DeCoteau at the Braves' 11-yard line with 1:40 left in the first quarter.

The fact things weren't going real well was obvious moments later when the Prowlers wound up with a fourth-and-17 at the Belcourt 18. However, a picture-perfect Jason Svir-to-Marc Haugen passing play over the middle turned it around as Haugen came out of the backfield to make a diving catch in the end zone on the first play of the second quarter. The conversion kick by Barry Rhineberger made it 7-0.

That opened the floodgates.

Four plays later DeCoteau dropped a low punt snap and was downed at the Belcourt 12. The Prowlers scored immediately when Carter Rogalla took an inside reverse to the left corner for a 13-0 lead.

Another Belcourt punting situation turned on the Braves when a low kick was blocked in the middle of the line and recovered by the Prowlers' Wade Evenson at the Braves' 11. Two plays later it was 21-0 when Brian Howe went in standing up from the 6-yard line and Svir hooked up with Rogalla on a swing pass for the two-point conversion.

With little luck on the two previous punts, Belcourt went for the first down on a fourth-and-one call from their own 36. The Braves didn't make it. Four plays later it was 27-0 as Svir and Haugen got together again, this time on a lob down the left side for a 19-yard touchdown with 2:32 remaining in the first half.

The Prowlers put the ball in the air just twice all night, and wound up with the two Svir/Haugen touchdowns. "If we wanted to throw the ball, we could have put a lot of points on the board," said Mumm. "But we wanted to run; we wanted to watch people block."

Final touchdown in the Prowlers' second quarter outburst was supplied by the defense – a 28-yard interception return for a score by Rogalla. The snap on the conversion attempt was bobbled, but holder Jeff Twomey picked up the ball and scrambled for the left corner of the end zone to add the two points with 43 seconds left.

The last Thief River Falls touchdown came on a three-play drive following an interception by Nathan Knutson at the Belcourt 40 just 1:52 into the second half. Lee Lund, who went 13 yards on first down, covered 18 yards for the touchdown as he picked his way through the left side. Rhineberger's kick made it 42-0.

Belcourt matched its season-long touchdown total with a pair of scores to finish the game. David DeCoteau made a nice catch downfield on a 29-yard touchdown pass from Justin DeCoteau with 2:32 remaining in the third quarter, and Jason DeCoteau was wide open over the middle on a 23-yard touchdowo pass from Justin DeCoteau with just 20 seconds left in the game. The Braves added two-point conversions following both touchdowns.

Belcourt actually wound up with a 205-155 edge in total yards, even though the Braves netted just eight yards on the ground. They were 10-for-24 in the air for 197 yards, but also threw four interceptions.

Thief River Falls' backfield by committee featured no less than 14 different ball carriers. Lund topped the list in both the number of carries (6) and yards gained (53).

Pioneers, Comets play on Thursday

Northland will take a break from Minnesota Community College Conference football wars this week, but the Pioneers won't be idle. A 6:30 p.m. Thursday nonconference game will have them at Mayville State University to face the Comets' junior varsity.

The Pioneers, 4-1 overall and 3-1 in the MCCC, will finish regular season play with Thursday night Northern Division match-ups at home Oct. 22 vs. the University of Minnesota-Crookston and Oct. 29 vs. Brainerd.

"We want to use this (Mayville) game as a tune-up for our final two conference games," said Northland coach Gene Klinke. "Our goals at the beginning of the year included winning as many football games as possible. We've been the doormats for so long. We wanted to gain some respectability."

With only a loss to unbeaten Vermilion marring the first five weeks of the 1992 season, Northland has certainly proved to be greatly improved over a 1-7 showing of a year ago.

Reasons for the Pioneers' turnaround? "We've been lucky a few times, we've played hard, and we've got some good football players," explained Klinke. "We knew we had some good people coming in, but what we didn't know was just how good they really were. And I've never seen a group of kids from such diverse backgrounds work so well together as a team. They might not all be best friends, but they play well as a team."

Vermilion added a 35-14 win over University of Minnesota-Crookston Saturday to go 3-0 in the Northern Division, and Brainerd beat Hibbing 42-6 to match Northland at 3-1. Mesabi, 2-1, had a nonconference match-up with Willmar last week. Thursday it'll be Brainerd at UMC, Itasca at Mesabi and Hibbing at Vermilion.

Regular season wins over UMC and Brainerd would guarantee Northland a berth in the state playoffs. Top two finishers in both the Northern and Southern Divisions will form the MCCC semifinal match-ups.

Bears' rally overcomes RLCC 32-26

Red Lake County Central led unbeaten Clearbrook/Gonvick 20-6 in the third quarter, but watched the No. 7-ranked Bears capitalize on a pair of turnovers in a 20-point fourth quarter that beat the Mustangs 32-26 Friday in a North Tri-County Conference high school football game at Plummer.

It was the third straight loss for the 3-3 Mustangs.

"We played a lot better than we have the last two weeks," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "We played very well for three quarters; we did the things we wanted to do – moved the ball on the ground and kept it out of their hands. We played about as well as we could have played."

But in the fourth quarter, a blocked punt was followed by a 30-yard Perry Torgerson touchdown pass to Chris Schmitz, and a fumble on the ensuing Red Lake County Central possession was returned 20 yards for a touchdown by the Bears' Joe Johnson to put Clearbrook/Gonvick ahead 32-20.

A 51-yard Scott Lorenson pass to Shannon Willett set up a 3-yard Jacob Melby touchdown run as the Mustangs pulled within 32-26, and they came up with a defensive stand to regain possession with 2:38 left, only to run out of downs before getting into position to score the equalizer.

Red Lake County Central produced the early lead on a 64-yard Willett touchdown run in the first quarter, a 7-yard Melby run in the second quarter and a 1-yard Lorenson run in the third quarter that followed a 23-yard Lorenson pass to Darrin Hofstad.

Willett finished with 91 yards on 10 carries to lead a Red Lake

Belcourt junior Lenny DeCoteau presented a challenge for Thief River Falls defenders when the 294-pounder carried the ball during Friday's high school football match-up at Prowler Field.

DeCoteau gained five yards on this first quarter carry before being brought down by Brad Kregness (56) and John Davis (68). The Prowlers won the homecoming game 42-16.

North Sub-Section 8AA tennis...

Tournament matches will start Wednesday

Bemidji is the top seed in the team portion of the 1992 North Sub-Section 8AA girls high school tennis tournament, scheduled to be played Wednesday at the Fargo Tennis Center.

Thief River Falls, Moorhead, Fergus Falls, Alexandria, and Detroit Lakes were seeded 2 through 6, respectively, to round out the field.

The Lumberjacks and Prowlers will receive first round byes, while Moorhead takes on Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls plays Alexandria. The semifinals will match Bemidji against the Spuds or Lakers, and Thief River Falls vs. the Otters or Cardinals.

"I think we have a good chance to meet Bemidji in the finals," said Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney. "It's really close between the two, three and four seeds. The key is who plays well."

Thief River Falls' tournament roster will include senior Jennifer Paggen, juniors Carly Dee, Jami Dehnert, Jennifer Duncan, Missy Lampe, and Jennifer Nicholson, sophomore Jami Fremstad, freshmen Bobbi Dahlstrom, Shari Evenson, Anne Padilla and Kamie Twomey, along with eighth grader Tiffany Brouse.

Individual portion of the tournament will be played Thursday at the same site. Paggen and Dee will play singles for the Prowlers in the individual competition, while Padilla-Evenson and Dehnert-Brouse form Thief River Falls doubles teams.

Championship team, plus the top four finishers in the individual singles and doubles play, will join qualifiers from South Sub-Section 8AA at the Section 8AA tournament back in Fargo the following week.

Paggen is seeded No. 3 and Dee is No. 12 in singles. Padilla-Evenson are seeded No. 2, and Dehnert-Brouse are No. 9 in doubles.

Paggen has a good chance to win a sub-section title, according to Forney, who said Padilla and Evenson have played well, but the freshmen combination will have to learn how to handle the tournament pressure. Dehnert and Brouse also have the potential to surprise a few people, he added.

NCW wins RLCC title

Norman County West defeated Fisher/Climax 15-5, 15-5 Saturday in the finals of the Red Lake County Central Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

East Grand Forks got by East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 15-10, 14-16, 15-12 in the third place match; Red Lake Falls beat Red Lake County Central 15-10, 10-15, 15-10 in the fifth place match; and Clearbrook/Gonvick swept Lake Park/Audubon 15-11, 15-6 in the seventh place match.

Round-robin pool play at both Plummer and Oklee set up the final pairings.

The host Mustangs began the day with a 15-6, 15-6 win over Clearbrook/Gonvick, but then dropped three straight, falling 15-3, 15-5 to Fisher/Climax and losing to Sacred Heart 17-15, 15-7 in pool play before meeting Red Lake Falls in the fifth place match.

"We played really well in the first match, we did a nice job attacking," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene. "It was awfully tough to score against Fisher/Climax – they're so big. We sputtered against Sacred Heart; we started to make more errors. By the time we played Red Lake Falls our spirits were pretty deflated, and we were getting awfully tired."

The 8-10 Mustangs will be idle until Tuesday, Oct. 13, when they visit Crookston.

Middle School

It was a clean sweep for the Franklin Middle School seventh grade volleyball team in a Saturday match-up with East Grand Forks in the Lincoln High School gyms as the Michelle Erickson-coached Prowlers won the A match 15-11, 15-10, 15-11, 15-8 and took the B match 15-9, 15-11, 15-11, 15-6.

Monday the seventh graders split a four-game match with Warren. The Ponies began with 15-9, 15-9 wins, but the Prowlers finished the night with 15-9, 15-11 decisions.

Football

Franklin beat visiting Warroad 22-6 Thursday and added a 24-8 win at Mahnomen Monday in eighth grade football.

Kyle Nelson caught a 33-yard touchdown pass from Jon Blomker and Paul Kopari had touchdown runs of 41 and 33 yards, along with a pair of two-point conversions, in the win over Warroad. Franklin led 16-6 at halftime.

Kopari started the scoring against Mahnomen with a 55-yard run, while Chad Nordhagen hit Nelson with an 18-yard touchdown pass and Bryan Cleven scored on a 45-yard run. Tanner Martell, Cleven and Kopari all had conversion runs.

Franklin seventh and eighth graders will close out their 1992 football season Tuesday with 4:30 p.m. games – the seventh graders at Crookston; the eighth graders in Thief River Falls.

Football JV beats EGF

Thief River Falls reversed an early season 24-22 setback at the hands of East Grand Forks with a 32-6 junior varsity high school football win over the host Green Wave Monday.

A 2-yard first quarter quarterback sneak by Nathan Anderson and a 10-yard second quarter run by Steve Burslie, along with a two-point conversion run by Tony Halsa, gave the winners a 14-0 halftime lead.

Halsa added two short touchdown runs to make it 26-0 in the third quarter, with Burslie then breaking off a 65-yard fourth quarter touchdown run for a 32-0 gap. East Grand Forks scored with one second left in the game.

Thief River Falls junior varsity, 4-2, will finish its season Monday at home with a 5 p.m. game vs. Crookston.

Blue Line Loto begins

Prizes include a pair of $250 drawings at each 1992-93 Lincoln High School home hockey game.

The tickets are available from club members, and at Carquest, Wilson Brothers Co., Carpetbagger, Wennbergs Inc., Norwest Bank, and Northern State Bank.

Organizational meeting for the 1992-93 Thief River Falls Blue Line Club will be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the Eagles Club.

The meeting is open to the public. Anyone interested in Thief River Falls hockey is invited to attend. At least one parent of each Lincoln High School hockey player is asked to be at the meeting.

TRFAHA meeting set

Monthly general membership meeting of the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association will be held Monday, Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

All parents of TRFAHA participants are urged to attend the meeting.

Bergland at Atlanta

Tim Bergland, who had hoped his selection by Tampa Bay in the June National Hockey League expansion draft would result in more ice time at the NHL level, will instead be starting the 1992-93 season with Atlanta in the International Hockey League, the top farm club for the Lightning.

The Lincoln High school graduate survived the Tampa Bay training camp, but was sent to the minors just as the NHL season got underway.

A one-time University of Minnesota hockey captain, the 27-year-old Bergland spent his first four years of his professional hockey career with the Washington Capitals organization.

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES GET HIRED FOR ONE REASON...

THEY'RE QUALIFIED!

The Occupational Development Center Of Thief River Falls Salutes Its Clients And Employers During October.

NATIONAL DISABILITY EMPLOYMENT AWARENESS MONTH!

Gail Larson helps keep things spic and span at Digi-Key, Inc.

During the past 11 months the ODC has helped 13 individuals find a job in the community. In addition, eight more have been placed in community sites, or enclaves, where the ODC has contracted with a business to provide a service. Enclaves provide valuable work experience to individuals who might not other wise be able to maintain an independent job. The ODC is able to contract with businesses to provide services such as janitorial, groundskeeping, packaging and assembly.

As part of the ODC job placement program, a three-week community assessment within private industry can be utilized. This period allows an employer to critique the trainee for employee performance without obligation to hire and provides the individual with useful appraisal information.

BENEFITS OF EMPLOYING THE HANDICAPPED:

- Greater community involvement
- Less reliance on public assistance
- Real work for a real wage

BENEFITS TO THE COMMUNITY:
- Better understanding of people with disabilities
- Addition of taxpayers to the tax rolls
- Fills labor/service needs

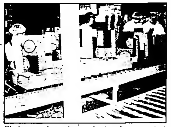
Sheryl Johnson started work at Arctco in 1988 and has had assignments in four departments.



Working in the turkey packaging department at Northern Pride, Inc., are Kenny Anderson, Shally Iverson, Kermit Carlson and Bob Leader.

HERE'S WHAT OUR EMPLOYERS SAY:

Pam Smith, bagging line supervisor at Northern Pride—"All of the ODC employees we have hired are very dedicated to their jobs and have improved their performance during their employment with us."

Melba Laidley, personnel director at Arctco, Inc.—"We have been totally satisfied with our ODC workers. They are proud of their work, have excellent attendance and are well accepted by the rest of the work force."

Dudley Johnson, vice president of Forsberg's, Inc.—"We are very pleased with Bruce's work and have expanded his duties. He does a good job and seems to like what he is doing. It has been a good experience for him and for us."

The President's committee on Employment of People with Disabilities is asking you to use this month to encourage American citizens to work together for a change that will result in full equality for people with disabilities. With your help, this change will produce three results:

- Increased employment of people with disabilities;
- Compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act; and
- A change in attitude toward people with disabilities in which they will be seen as a productive part of the workforce.

A recent Harris Poll (1991) reports that Americans think putting people with disabilities to work is "good for the economy and good for the country."

Search for man ends in Red Lake

Search for a man presumed drowned on the Lower Red Lake is over. Fifteen days into the search the body of a third man was recovered.

A spokesperson for the Red Lake police department said the body of Paul Stately of Red Lake was discovered by the Minnesota State Patrol. The body was found by a patrolman flying an aircraft.

The spokesperson said the boating accident happened on September 27 and not until 8 a.m. Tuesday (today) was the third body discovered. The three men who died in the accident were Kevin Head, Lee Prentice and Paul Stately.

Several organizations, agencies and volunteers participated in the search for the three men. Participation of local chapter of the Civil Air Patrol in a search at the Lower Red was also approved by the state.

Pennington county sheriff Bob Wold said local representatives of the Civil Air Patrol participated in an air search over the Lower Red Lake. Dive teams from the area, including a dive and rescue team from Pennington county, have also been involved in the search.

Dave Odettee, commander of the local CAP, said the chapter played a small role in the search. He said the chapter was allowed to support Red Lake as more or less a training exercise. They did participate with air crews searching the lake. Eight members of the chapter participated in the search, flying three different days for a total of 6.3 hours.

Odette said it was a very good learning experince because it wasn't a very hectic environment. He said the local chapter played only a very small role in the search. There were many other volunteers and organizations participating in the search.

The spokesperson for the Red Lake police department said the Civil Air Patrol from Pennington county, dive teams from Pennington, Polk and Becker counties, the BIA from Nebraska and Wyoming, dive teams from Devils Lake and Minneapolis, aircraft from the State Patrol, Department of Natural Resources, private aircraft from communities on the reservation, several different agencies such as forestry, air boats from Clearwater county area and Kelliher, and a lot of individual volunteers participated in the search.

Red Lake authorities are glad the search is over. There were a lot of long hours in the cold and it was a long process.

MPCA sets hearing date on permit request

Minnesota Pollution Control Agency is accepting comments about a request to reissue a permit to continue operation of Future Fuel and [illegible] waste refuse derived fuel processing plant.

Comments about a permit request and permit modification request that would allow operation of a composting facility at Future Fuel will be accepted until November 2. The Pennington county Solid Waste Facility has applied for a permit to continue operation and construct and operate a solid waste composting facility. If approved, the permit would allow operation of the plant for about five years.

Construction of the facility on the 13 acre site was completed in July of 1985. The processing building is equipped with a grapple crane, sorting tables, magnetic ferrous removal and separator, a shredder mixer, conveyors, an air classifier, a densifier and metal baler. The maximum pellet production of the facility is six tons per hour. The facility produces about 3,000 tons of pellets annually which is sold to commercial, industrial or institutional fuel users on a contract basis. Since construction of the facility, there have been a number of additions and modifications. The newest addition to the facility is a proposed composting facility.

The composting structure will be constructed with the floor sloped toward several floor drains that connect to a 10,000 gallon fiberglass leachate holding tank. Leachate will be pumped through a lift station and recycled back to the composting structure as a moisture source for the composting process.

According to the application, approximately 35 per cent of incoming solid waste is processed into densified refused derived fuel pellets, 20 per cent is recovered as recycled materials, 20 per cent will be composted, and the remaining 25 per cent is rejected solid waste materials which are transported to the Grand Forks Sanitary landfill located in Grand Forks, ND, for disposal. The facility receives about 13,000 tons of solid waste annually from Pennington, Marshall and Kittson counties.

In addition to the production and sale of about 3,000 tons of pellets annually, 1800 tons of finished compost will be produced annually which may be sold to the farming community or used as cover material at the county's demolition landfill, or in reclamation of the county's numerous sand and gravel pits.

Persons interested in commenting about the permit request must include the following information:

1) a statement of the person's interest in the permit application or the draft permit,

2) A statement of the action the person wishes the MPCA to take, including specific references to sections of the draft permit that the

Opportunities for art grants at conference

A conference presents grant opportunities for Minnesota artists on Saturday, October 17, from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Northwest Technical College.

The conference activities include a guide to art grants. The guide offers an overview of grant opportunities for Minnesota artists of all disciplines with a discussion of fundraising research and grant applications.

Marketing is another conference topic. Marketing models and effective use of individual artists' marketing plans are included in the conference. The workshop will provide artists with skills to create their own marketing plans.

The workshop will also highlight skills for portfolio and resume development, including personal presentation skills and development of promotional packages and materials. Participants may bring their own materials for review.

The final session will include an "Open Forum" which will be a discussion of artists' concerns on all facets of professional development, career planning and business topics.

Artists of all disciplines are invited. Chris Osgood, Resources and Counseling for the Arts, St. Paul, is the workshop instructor. Registration fee is $30, which includes lunch and refreshments.

Special arrangement for people with handicaps will be made if requested in advance.

The Thief River Falls Small Business Development Center and the Northwest Regional Arts Council are cosponsoring the workshop. It is supported, in part, with funding from the McKnight Foundation.

To register, contact Linda Nelson, Arts Council Director, NWRDC, at (218) 681-2637 or 1-800-450-2637 or contact Jan Hoff, Small Business Development Center at (218) 681-5424 or 1-800-222-2884.

TRF schools rejoin league

Thief River Falls public schools have rejoined the Minnesota Academic Excellence League for 1992-93, according to the sponsoring Minnesota Academic Excellence Foundation.

The league promotes and provides organized academic challenges requiring cooperation and competition from students in Minnesota's public and nonpublic schools and is a private-public partnership created to promote academic excellence in Minnesota schools.

Participation gives schools and students the opportunity to compete academically with other schools and students. The league also helps schools create a long range plant for involvement in a variety of special academic opportunities for students.

"Thief River Falls is to be commended for continuous commitment to the recognition and promotion of academic excellence for all students," states Karla McKenzie, field services consultant for the foundation based in Virginia: "During this school year we will continue our cooperative efforts as we work to implement a plan assuring that all students have an opportunity to participate in academic challenges, recognitions, conferences and other special activities.

BIBLE STUDY

A faith that works

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Doctors practice their profession daily to become successful doctors. Baseball players practice their profession daily to become successful baseball players. Many times we see people jogging along the side of the road disciplining themselves for sports or for good health (1 Cor. 9:24-25).

How many people discipline themselves for the purpose of godliness (1 Tim. 4:7; 6:3; Titus 1:1)? How many people try to learn what is pleasing to the Lord (Eph. 5:10). How many force their bodies to behave (1 Cor. 9:26-27)? How many are imitating Jesus Christ daily (1 Cor. 11:1)? How many Christians are practicing their profession daily?

Did Jesus Christ have a working faith or a faith with no works (James 2:14, 17-18, 22, 24, 26)? Did His faith work for Him and was He able to overcome the world because of it (John 16:33; Rev. 3:21)? Yes, Jesus had a faith with good works, and not just a few (John 14:12; 21:25; Luke 24:19). He practiced what He preached. He overcame the pulls of the flesh so that He qualified to tell others how it was done (Heb. 2:17-18; 4:15; 5:8-9; 1 Cor. 10:13, James 1:13-14).

If Jesus had been married and had children, you'd better believe His wife would have been in loving subjection and His children would have been well behaved. His message would not be believable if this were not so (1 Tim. 3:4). How could He teach others about God, if He failed to teach His own family?

Yes, Jesus' gospel worked for those who believed it and put it into practice because it had good works!

National Debt Tops Minnesotans' Concerns

According to an unscientific survey taken during the 1992 Minnesota State Fair by United We Stand, America—the Ross Perot organization—the issue of greatest concern to people attending the fair is the national debt. In second place is the economy and close behind in third place is education, followed by health care and jobs.

More than 4,000 people completed the survey out of some 1.5 million who attended the fair. A case might also be made for the idea that since the poll was answered by people visiting the Perot booth, the response is not indicative of the total population. The Perot people make no claim as to the degree of accuracy.

State fair patrons were asked to rank their priorities on up to 16 different issues by order of importance, rating from one (most important) to 16 (least important). The accompanying chart shows how the opinions were divided.

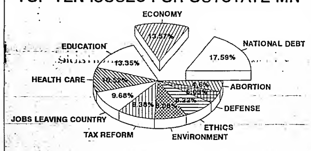
It should be significant, however, that 50 per cent of those from the rural area of the state named either the national debt or the economy as their number one priority requiring immediate government attention. Among urban voters the total was 49 per cent.

By assigning 10 points to every first priority vote marked and sliding down to one point for every tenth priority vote, the top eight priorities—receiving 75 per cent of the total vote—were (1) the national debt, (2) the economy, (3) education, (4) health care, (5) jobs leaving the United States, (6) tax reform, (7) the environment, and (8) ethics in government.

The bottom eight issues of least concern in descending order of importance were (9) defense; (10) abortion, (11) the trade deficit, (12) energy, (13) farming, (14) election reform, (15) discrimination, and (16) entitlements.

In conversations we have had with individuals in the past couple of months it would seem that the survey results are fairly well on track. The concerns would fit well in every Presidential candidate's political campaign agenda. Anyone interested in more details about the survey is invited to contact United We Stand, America; 1600 East 78th Street; Richfield, MN 55423 or call 612-777-7684. Fax number is 612-789-5063.

TOP TEN ISSUES FOR OUTSTATE MN



Product Liability Laws Hanging Fire

The crusade for reform of our nation's tort and product liability laws has become one of the longest running dramas in Washington, as every advance seems to be followed quickly by a setback of some kind, leaving the issue hanging fire for yet another year, reports Dr. Richard Lesber, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Lesher criticizes a handful of senators who conducted a filibuster against a reform bill in the U.S. Senate and the rest of the senators who failed to invoke cloture. He also points out that Ralph Nader is the loudest and most conspicuous opponent of reform.

He says Nader is a "so-called consumer advocate who can never seem to summon much consumer support for his extremist positions and who must rely instead on the legal system to promote his agenda. Nader's anti-reform campaign, as documented by The Wall Street Journal, receives generous financial support from trial lawyers. Not surprisingly, the lawyers also open their ample wallets on behalf of many key members of Congress who share their vision of a society forever held in thrall by endless litigation.

"There is no question why Nader and his attorney allies fight so vigorously to defend this appalling outrageous system," Dr. Lesher continues. "As the famous bank robber Willie Sutton said when asked why he robbed banks, 'That's where the money is.'

"But our society is paying a fearsome price for their self-indulgence. Business after business has been forced to shut down viable operations, sending thousands of jobs overseas, because of irrational liability laws. Under the existing system, fault hardly matters. It is strictly a case of who can pay, which is usually a business, and the primary beneficiaries are invariably lawyers. The victims are you and me—the public. We suffer as prices soar, jobs disappear and our economic base erodes.

"In a democracy, citizens rely upon elected legislators and to recognize and rectify conspicuous abuses such as this one. In the present case, we have been waiting a long time—and are waiting still."

Issuance of Car Licenses Stimulated by Gas Rationing

"Motor vehicle registrations are being handled at the local office at the rate of 100 per day this week, Ales Campbell, deputy registrar, announced today. Altho no penalty accrues until November 15, car and truck owners are expected to register unusually early this year following the issuance of notice to the effect that motor vehicle owners will be required to produce their 1943 registration card in order to qualify for their gas ration cards early in November."

The festivities this year will include, in addition to a party in the arena and a dance for older children in the auditorium, an elaborate parade at 7 o'clock in which the youngsters will appear in costume. It was further announced that the stores will arrange Hallowe'en window displays, featuring guessing contests with prizes for children of school age."

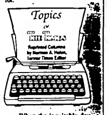
Victory Corps To Be Formed In High School

"The local board of education at its October session Monday evening acted favorably on the recommendation of John W. Studebaker, U.S. commissioner of education, and voted to instruct Supt. Morris Bye to proceed with plans for the organization of a Victory Corps in Lincoln high school as a means of cooperating in the nation's war effort. Among the objective of the wartime program to be promoted by the Victory Corps are guidelines into critical services and occupations, wartime citizenship in a democracy, physical fitness, military drill, basic training in mathematics and science, preflight training in aeronautics, preinduction training for critical occupations and community service."

From The Editorial Page

"A round of cheers to the farmers of this territory who have done a swell job of harvesting a good crop under weather conditions that have not been too favorable and under labor conditions that have been most trying. The good weather of the past week has made possible the completion of the harvest. The crop is in the bins and fall plowing is getting nicely under way. With the most important part of the season's rush work out of the way, farm operators can now ease off into a more normal stride. All in all it has been a good year and as a community we have much to be thankful for."



—When the inevitable day comes for slot machines to be junked, we may look for East Grand Forks to take the lead in the scrap parade.

—Such is life! Just as Highway 59 gets set to provide a direct, all-weather route to the Twin Cities, driving restrictions come along to prevent folks from using it.

—Only sixteen more days to do your Christmas shopping for the men in service overseas.

—The government is obligated to raise by taxation as far as possible the money needed to support the war effort, but it shouldn't collect it in the guise of added social security taxes.

—Less than three weeks remain before the candidates for office can start conserving their tires.

—Speaking of being forward-looking, an army private down south is spending money advertising for a job after the war.

—If, as reported, gas ration cards will be taken away from motorists violating the 35 mile per hour speed limit, there should be few infractions.

—Columnist Westbrook Pegler seems to have bumped into some opposition when he advised car owners to add their bumpers to the scrap collection.

—A motorist who abuses his tires these days might be called a rubber heel.

—The common household pin seems to be another casualty of the war.

—When a man gets the itch for office as bad as Martin A. Nelson of Austin seems to have it, he should be scratched on the ballot.

—Remember way back when a man or woman had a hard time finding a job?

—One commodity it is particularly dangerous to hoard is gasoline.

—The many farmers who are crazy to go west will realize it later on, says Billy Noonan.

Legal Notices

October 13, 1992
NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Assembly of God Church, c/o Sandy Sivertson, 315 Duluth Avenue North, has applied for a Variance to the Zoning Regulations governing Front Yard Setbacks in the R-2 General Residential District. The property is legally described as Lots 8 - 9 in Block Twenty-Six of the Original Town.

Assembly of God Church proposes to erect a 7.5' X 4' (30 sq. ft.) church identification sign in front of the church building. The proposed Front Yard Setback of the sign is 8' from the front property line.

City Code - Land Use Regulations (Zoning) Sec. 11.71, Subd. 5.K.2. (a), requires that all signs be subject to the same Setback and Yard Requirements as all other Permitted Accessory Uses. Sec. 11.32., Subd. 5, required that Accessory Uses in the R-2 General Residential District have a Front Yard Setback of 25 feet. Placement of the church identification sign in the proposed location will require approval of a Seventeen Feet (17') Variance.

Notice is further given, that the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Request at 7:00 P.M. on Monday, October 26, 1992, in the City Council Chambers of the City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the Variance Request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing or who have questions should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

NOTICE OF HEARING
BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS
CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Chapter 11 of the Thief River Falls City Code, that Kevin and Sue Johnson, Rural Route 4 - Box 108, and Northern State Bank, 201 East Third Street, and owner of property located at 518 Eighth Street East, have applied for a Variance to the Land Use Regulations (Zoning), Sec. 11.70., Subd. 1. The property is legally described as Lot 1 in Block Six of Riverside Addition.

Subject to approval of a Zoning Amendment Request and issuance of the appropriate license by the City of Thief River Falls, Kevin and Sue Johnson propose to purchase the former D & J Eighth Street Market Building, remodel the building and operate a 3.2 beer, sports bar at the location. The proposed bar would have a maximum occupancy of 63 persons and Sec. 11.71., Subd. 3. Parking, would require that the owners provide not less than 21 off-street parking spaces. One-third (7) of these parking spaces must be located on the site. The petitioners propose to provide the additional required off-street parking spaces on the north side of Eighth Street on property leased from Home Lumber Company.

Sec. 11.70., Subd. 1. Buffers, requires that a thirty-five feet (35') wide buffer strip be provided between commercial and residential uses. Because the lot is only 50 feet in width and because the petitioners must provide at least 7 off-street parking spaces on the site, they are requesting a twenty-nine feet (29') Variance to the Buffering Requirement. They would propose to erect a sight obscuring fence not less than six feet in height along the south property line to provide screening.

Notice is further given that the Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a Hearing on the Variance Request at approximately 7:30 P.M., following a Hearing conducted by the Planning Commission on the Zoning Amendment Request, on Monday, October 26, 1992, in the City Council Chambers, City Auditorium. All persons wishing to comment on the Variance Request will have the option to be heard at this time. Persons who wish to submit written comments prior to the Hearing should address them to the Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, P.O. Box 528, Thief River Falls, MN 56701 or telephone 218-681-2500.

Rotary club offers student exchange plan

Thief River Falls Rotary club is offering a chance for qualified high school age young people to enrich their lives and help promote world understanding by sending selected youth abroad to study and gain insight into a culture different from their own.

Each year some 7,000 Rotary youth exchange students from more than 62 countries cross international boundaries to stay with one or more host families under the Rotary club program.

"Exchangees are selected by a sponsoring Rotary club, with district level approval, on the basis of a written application and a personal interview," explains Peter Lavalier, local chairman for the exchange program. "The candidate is briefed on responsibilities and arrangements are made with Rotarian hosts.

"The club arranges for orientation for exchangees and parents, including important information about Rotary International and the local rotary club and its activities. A district committee arranges for the exchangee to be accepted by a receiving club or district," he added.

Short-term exchanges vary from several days to several weeks, need not include an academic program and often take place when schools are not in session. Long-term exchanges usually last for an academic year, during which the exchangee attends school in the host country.

The Thief River Falls Rotary club in the past has been host to a number of foreign students coming to Thief River Falls to stay with a family or families and attend the local schools. Efforts are now being made to make the same type of opportunity available to local students who would like to attend school overseas.

A host family—whom the host club arranges—provides room and meals for the visiting exchangee, while the student and his or her family pay round-trip airfare, clothing, health insurance and incidental expenses. The host club usually pays the student's tuition for all academic programs in long-term exchanges and provides a modest monthly stipend.

"Youth exchange can have a dramatic effect on the exchangee's life," Lavalier said. "Having traveled and lived in foreign countries myself, I know what a marvelous experience it can be to become familiar with other cultures. One U.S. student in Japan told the members of the Rotary club of Nagasaki that the exchange ... transforms distant foreign names on a map into vivid real places and people, turns weird customs into familiar celebrations and changes the attitudes of people from fear of the unknown to excitement in sharing new knowledge and adventures."

The Thief River Falls Rotary club is planning an orientation meeting for all area students interested in the program. For more information contact Lavalier at the Occupational Development Center, Highway 32 South, Thief River Falls, or call 681-4949.

Hartz Foods positions itself for more growth

Local food wholesaler enters into purchasing affiliation with Scrivner Foods

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

To benefit its retail store members, increase its competitive edge and position itself for growth as part of its long-range plan, Hartz Foods, Inc., of Thief River Falls has entered into a purchasing affiliation with Scrivner Foods, Inc., of Oklahoma City, OK.

Scrivner is one of the largest national wholesale food suppliers and has 17 other distributors including Gateway Foods of Superior, WI. Hartz Foods will be working closely with the Superior division of Gateway-Scrivner with Hartz Foods trucks bringing products to Thief River Falls daily from the large Gateway warehouse in Superior, WI.

"We have been working on this affiliation since last February," states Everett Kompelien, Hartz Foods president, "as part of our long-range plan which sets out goals and timetables. The plan was developed through our board-appointed long-range planning committee and has been explained to our members at the past two membership meetings. Scrivner fills the bill for us and we are pleased with our agreement."

Kompelien emphasized that the purchasing affiliation involves no change in ownership of Hartz Foods and no outside money. There was also no financial investment required on the part of Hartz Foods to enter into the contractual agreement.

"As a result of this affiliation we are able to provide our member stores with a wide array of products and services which we were unable to do previously," added Dave Johnson, vice president of Hartz Foods. "It allows us to serve all stores from the smallest to the largest with thousands of additional food and non-food items and retail support programs. One of the immediate advantages will be a better supply of high quality produce and more timely delivery of all perishable items."

Kompelien said the affiliation with Scrivner will allow the Hartz company to grow in at least three ways—increased sales through more products in the existing 280-store member network, development of new stores through the Scrivner planning and financial network, and conversion of existing stores now served by other suppliers to become Hartz Foods customers.

Hartz Foods has been in business as a wholesale food supplier for 67 years and for the past 19 years has been a cooperative owned by the member stores.

"This affiliation is of mutual benefit to both Hartz and Gateway-Scrivner," Kompelien said, "in that it allows us to provide programs and services which would have been cost prohibitive on our own while permitting them to expand their sales into this area through our transportation and member network."

Kompelien said that an added benefit of the affiliation has accrued to Hartz Truck Line, a separate division of Hartz Foods, which was formed nine years ago to do hauling coast-to-coast. Hartz Truck Line is now doing some inter-state trucking for Gateway-Scrivner to its warehouse as well as continuing to haul product from Thief River Falls and the Red River Valley area to both coasts.

Hartz Truck Line has 13 truck tractors while Hartz Foods maintains about 30 truck tractor units in its own store supply delivery system.

All orders from the Hartz supplied stores will continue to come into the Hartz offices, Dave Johnson said, and be filled through the local operation regardless of the warehouse origin. The entire interior order-picking operation of the warehouse has been changed and equipment installed in the past year to improve efficiency and take advantage of new technology. No additional local warehouse space will be required despite the number of additional items available.

"There are numerous other advantages from the affiliation," Kompelien added, "such as the availability of insurance options for store owners and their employees

Abundant Life church okays sale to school

That Abundant Life church south of Thief River Falls has agreed to sale of property for construction of a new elementary school was reported by Supt. Robert Duncan in discussing the school facilities project with the board of education at the regular meeting October 12.

The school district opted to acquire the full site of approximately 52 acres at a cost of $1,500 per acre. Abundant Life retains its church site and adjacent developed property.

Supt. Duncan reported that the project team met with city officials the previous week and surveying of the property and soil borings were scheduled to take place the following week. Those borings have now been completed and the soil samples are being analyzed. It is hoped that site preparation can be accomplished this fall.

The architects have been working with school district personnel and citizen committees to develop the conceptual plans into schematic drawings which should be completed by the end of November. Plans are to initiate construction on the elementary building in the spring of 1993.

Approved for employment at the meeting were Esther Gallagher, administrative support person at Franklin; Deb Moran, educational assistant at Knox; and Kathryn Davis, educational assistant at Mark Twain.

Co-curricular assignments approved for the 1992-93 school year were Kathy Langness, school patrol, and Scott Brekke, seventh and eighth grade football coach. Authorization was given to post for part-time tutors for the Title V American Indian education program and for a one-hour educational assistant position at Northrop.

Recognition was given to the Eagles club for donations of $500 to help finance a performance of CLIMB Theatre and $500 for the Fine Line dance group. The Elks lodge was recognized for contribution of $525 for the drug awareness session presented to students and parents at the beginning of the school year.

Paivi Young, German language instructor, introduced the four Amity scholars who are in the district to work with the language program and attend classes at Lincoln this school year. She also introduced the teachers who they will be working with in language classes at Franklin middle school and Lincoln high school.

Following a presentation by Lincoln senior Jared Goldesberry on the Governor's Scholar Program he is working on this year, the board gave its endorsement of the project. It is entitled "Project Strive."

DST to end on Sunday morning

Daylight Saving Time will end for this year Sunday, October 25, at 2 a.m. Area residents are reminded to set their clocks back one hour when retiring for the night Saturday in order to be on time with the rest of the nation Sunday (and recoup that hour of sleep lost on April 5).

Daylight Saving Time is in effect from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. Those confused about whether to add or subtract an hour on their clocks should remember the phrase "Spring ahead and Fall back."

Northland Foods sold on Monday

Sale of the Northland Foods supermarket business by Ev Ault to B&L Ventures and Greg Larson of Crookston was announced Monday, the official day of transfer of ownership.

The store will continue to operate as Northland Foods for the present time and will be supplied by Hartz Foods in Thief River Falls, which continues ownership of the Northland Plaza complex.

Ault has been in the grocery business in Thief River Falls for more than 20 years. He started Northland Foods in an agreement with L. B. Hartz whereby Hartz would construct the building and Ault would operate the business. He grew up in the grocery business at Cavalier, ND, where his father operated a Hartz store since 1947.

During the 20-year period there have been a number of remodelings and expansions and the store presently consists of about 27,000 square feet.

The Aults three children, Andrea, Lisa and Mike, all graduated from Lincoln high school. Andrea is a graduate of San Diego State University, Lisa is a graduate of the University of North Dakota and Mike will graduate in the summer of 1993 from St. Cloud State University.

Ault said he has no immediate future plans except to continue his farming operation.

Greg Larson has been involved in the grocery business for 16 years, including a corporate store manager with Red Owl. He has owned Larson's Super Value in Crookston for the past year and one-half. His brother Chad, who has 10 years of grocery store experience, will manage the Thief River Falls store and live in this community.

The Northland Foods sale does not affect Ken's Hartz in the downtown area which continues to be operated as a corporate store by Hartz Foods, Inc.

Former TRF attorney sentenced for thefts

Thief River Falls attorney Robert Stroble has been sentenced on charges of felony theft.

Stroble was disbarred by the state's supreme court last March because of accusations that he had mishandled funds and accounting in the estate and guardianship of Ann C. Breznay, Julienne Breznay and Geneva Overum.

According to findings of fact by a court-appointed referee in the investigation into his misconduct and disbarment proceedings, in 1989 Stroble began writing checks to himself or to First Federal Savings and Loan, at which he had a personal bank account, on those accounts. By April 5, 1991, he had been temporarily suspended from the practice of law.

In the criminal case, Stroble pled guilty on April 17, 1992, to three counts of felony theft, temporarily taking of over $2,500. The total amount of money believed to have been involved in the thefts amounted to $79,000.

On October 9, Judge Frederick Weddel, sentenced Stroble in a Pennington county district court. On the first of three counts of felony theft, Judge Weddell, sentenced Stroble to 12 months and one day in prison. Execution of the sentence was stayed for 10 years and he was placed on 10 years probation on condition he serves four months in jail, makes restitution and pays a surcharge and law library fee of $57.50.

On the second of three felony theft counts, he was sentenced to 13 months in prison or until discharge. Execution of the sentence was stayed 10 years and he was placed on probation for 10 years on condition he serves four months in jail. The sentence is to be served concurrently with other sentences. He was ordered to pay restitution and a surcharge and law library fee of $57.50.

On the third of three felony theft counts he was sentenced to 15 months in prison or until discharged. The execution of sentence was stayed for 10 years and he was placed on probation for 10 years on condition he serves four months concurrently with other charges, and pays a surcharge and law library fee of $57.50, and makes restitution. Huber privileges were granted.

Katherine E. Avina from the Minnesota Attorney General's office represented the state in the lawsuit. Stroble appeared on his own behalf.

Stroble is serving out his sentence at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls, under Huber provisions that allow him to continue work.

Dear Readers,
When death occurs, no one suffers the grief and pain as profoundly as the immediate family. However, persons other then family members will also be affected by the loss. These friends and associates need a place to express their feelings. The visitation and funeral provide such an environment. They bring together family and friends with one goal in mind—to offer each other support and consolation when it is most needed. The best therapy for all involved is to share the loss.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home
Larry Belmont

Need nomination for ASC committee

Farmers in River Gervais North and South, Emardville and Terrebonne townships in Red Lake county are asked to nominate candidates of their choice by October 30 to appear on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) community committee ballot, according to Mike Philipp, executive director of the Red Lake County ASCS office.

"Any landowner or farm operator from this area of the county who did not receive a yellow nominating petition and feels he or she is eligible to vote should contact the Red Lake county ASCS office," Philipp said.

The ASCS community committee election will be conducted from November 27 to December 7 by mail ballot. The newly-elected community committee for Local Administrative Area 2 (the townships mentioned) will then elect a county committee member at the county convention in December. John "Jack" LaCrosse, Terrebonne area farmer, has served three three-year terms on the committee and is not eligible for reelection.

"ASCS committees are responsible for managing federal farm programs on the local level," Mike Philipp said. "To meet the needs of individual producers, ASCS committee members must be concerned and responsible individuals. Red Lake county farmers have the opportunity to nominate people they feel would best serve the farm community. They have received petition forms by mail and are now submitting them to the county ASCS office."

"In order to be valid," Philipp added, "petitions must be limited to one nominee each, must include written certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected, must be signed by at least three eligible farm votes in the ASCS community and must be received in the county ASCS office by the November 2 deadline."

Farmers may circulate or sign nominating petitions for as many candidates as they choose. Anyone wishing to nominate a farmer for the ASCS committee election may contact the county ASCS office for full details, including eligibility requirements for office holders.

I'm sure that my mom is not alone in this paranoia about teenagers, driving, and fresh snow.

According to data supplied by an unbiased source (my friends and I), all parents react in one of the following ways: they either become nervous wrecks (perhaps wreck is [illegible] the [illegible] they [illegible] pack up and move the [illegible] to Guatemala for the winter [illegible]

Here's how to tell which category [illegible] If you [illegible] window and stare [illegible] whiteness without so much as a blink for three hours and [illegible] minutes, you're a nervous wreck.

Do you find yourself asking the following questions: "If you hit ice, do you pump your brakes or do you push the brakes gradually," or "if you start to slide, do you turn the wheel with the front tires or the back tires?" If you ask these questions, STOP IT! You're becoming a driver's ed teacher, and seeing as you're not getting paid, it's merely a waste of your time.

Lastly, if you find yourself amid banana trees and sun, you're probably in Guatemala.

Now, usually all the worrying done by parents is for no reason. Ninety-nine per cent of kids don't get into accidents during these conditions. I, however, happened to be in that other one per cent...twice. But I'm here to tell you that the circumstances surrounding my little mishaps were rare and quite extreme. I will also wager a quarter (it's the recession thing) this is also the case with every other one per cent person out there.

So parents, just relax and have a little faith in the road crews clearing the snow and laying the sand. Relax and have a little faith in your teenager's driving ability – after all they did pass on the third road test.

Finally, relax and be sure that you paid your car insurance!

Two appointed to Minn. 4-H advisory council

Van Swanson and Heather Olson of Thief River Falls have been appointed to serve a two year term on the Minnesota 4-H advisory council. The 42 member council advises and makes recommendations on broad policy issues affecting the 4-H Youth Development program and its participants in the state and nation.

Richard Byrne, assistant director of the University of Minnesota's Extension Service for 4-H Youth Development, says the council's input is vital. "The council makes sure our 4-H organization stays on track with community needs and issues. It's an important 'reality check' for our staff to hear the concerns of the council," said Byrne.

The council meets three times a year and is made up of youth and adults from throughout the state. Council membership includes community education leaders, 4-H Youth Development volunteers, county extension educators, state legislators, county commissioners, and high school and college students.

At its fall meeting October 9-10, the council discussed the restructuring of the University of Minnesota's Extension Service and the integration of 4-H Youth Development into the University's College of Education. The council also discussed 4-H program development, the coordination of educational programs in June, Youth leadership conference, Animal Swine Extravaganza, and state record judging.

Speaking Of . . .

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Nix to Negative Campaigning

Two and a half weeks remain until we will once again be able to return to the old, albeit sickening and repetitive, commercials on our television sets and radios. I think I'll take the tiresome commercials over the campaign ads we have been hearing lately any time.

I really wish that the candidates would relative that we do not want to hear them saying bad things about one another. I think it is embarrassing to listen and/or watch when one candidate lambasts another. Cheap shots cheapen the one who is taking the shots, if you ask me.

I can't help but feel that the guy doing the attacking has had a really poor upbringing and never been taught that saying bad things about someone else, even if they might just happen to be true, is dreadfully impolite. My mother taught me that it is better to say nothing at all than to say something bad. Didn't his mother teach him this, too? Has he forgotten?

I thought these "gentlemen" were working to become president of our country. I don't want the man I choose to be president saying bad things about people. It makes him look like a schoolyard bully and I don't want to vote for a schoolyard bully as my president.

Heck, if he says bad things about the other candidates, he more than likely will say bad things about other people, too. He might even say bad things about important people from other countries; they might find out; we might be in big trouble because of it. He might say bad things about us, too.

Maybe there is a reason these candidates are running negative ads. Maybe the reason they are doing it is that they have nothing else to talk to us about.

We voters want to hear about the candidate's plans to deal with some of the country's problems when he becomes president. We want to know if "our guy" will do what we think he should do when he takes up residence in the White House. Do you get the feeling that maybe the guy doing the griping might not have any solutions to the problems and so have nothing more to tell us than the bad things he can find out about the other guy?

We voters do not want to hear the man who hopes to become the head of our country making nasty, downright dirty, allegations about someone else. It isn't adult; it isn't trustworthy; it isn't upstanding; it isn't appropriate behavior for a president.

We want our president to be a fine fellow, above reproach. Of course, the mudslinger always claims that he is just that, a fine fellow, a perfect fellow, a much better fellow that the other guy.

However, he claims these qualities out of one side of his mouth, while the other side is saying utterly horrible things about his opponent or opponents. This immediately makes us wonder just what kind of a fine fellow it is who talks like that about someone else.

Gee, I'm not running for president or anything, but even I know that it is very impolite to say bad things about someone else. Weren't you taught that if you can't say something good about someone, you shouldn't say anything at all, too?

UMC holds Northwest Sheep Day

Northwest Sheep Day at the University of Minnesota, Crookston, Northwest Experiment Station is set for Wednesday, November 4.

Registration and refreshments begin at 9:30 a.m. in the auditorium of the Agricultural Research Center.

Dr. Harvey Windels will present a discussion of "Out-of-Season and Accelerated Lambing," the potential, pros and cons, breed effects, synchronization and ram management.

The discussion includes the 1992 lambing results of CIDR synchronized versus control mature ewes (87) in January; 2-year olds (40) in February; ewe lambs (74) in March; and mature ewes (35) in May that lambed in October 1991.

The September 1992 lambing results of 78 mature ewes of four breed types that lambed in January 1992 will also be presented.

A progress report will be given on two new trials on which the breeding has been completed. The objective of one trial will be to determine the effects of co-mingling CIDR treated and control ewes versus control alone on the success of spring breeding and the objective of the second trial will be to determine the economics of accelerated lambing versus lambing once per year.

Windels will also report on the highlights of the "Out-of-Season breeding" Symposium held in Ames, IA in June 1992.

Sheep producers, their bankers, vo-ag instructors and county extension agents are encouraged to attend. Program details are being mailed to all sheep producers and others who have previously attended Sheep Day at the Northwest Experiment Station.

Book fair at St. Bernard's this week

Scholastic book fair will be held at St. Bernard's Catholic school in Thief River Falls Thursday, Friday and Sunday, October 22, 23 and 25. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 12 noon Sunday.

Proceeds from the book fair will benefit St. Bernard's school, "but the real profit lies in introducing children to the magic of the books and in encouraging them to be life-long readers," state local sponsors.

When parents and teachers work together to introduce children to the world of books the results can be dramatic, according to the Barbara Bush Foundation for Family Literacy. Children who read more become more successful readers, and in turn, successful readers read more books. This cycle is encouraged when parents, teachers and friends come together to share and explore new publications at events such as book fairs.

On display at St. Bernard's will be hundreds of titles including award-winning favorites, classic, how-to books, biographies, mysteries, adventures and the latest works of popular authors. Students can choose books that appeal to their personal interests and parents can add to home libraries or purchase gifts for their young readers.

AMC sponsors mammogram screening

Northwest Medical Center, the Falls Clinic Division of Dakota Clinic, Ltd. and the American Cancer Society are sponsoring a Mammogram Screening Project.

People interested in obtaining a screening mammogram should call the American Cancer Society at 1-800-227-2345. The number is staffed Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The American Cancer Society will send educational material to callers. Those who qualify for the screening will also receive a slip authorizing a $55 mammogram.

When the patient receives the slip they should call the facility of their choice to make an appointment for the actual mammogram screening.

The American Cancer Society will encourage callers to contact their physician for an examination and possible mammogram if they have symptoms such as masses or discharge, or a history of cancer. These individuals will not qualify for the $55 screening mammogram.

In most cases, the insurance company will cover the cost of a mammogram if it is ordered by a physician.

If patients have questions about insurance coverage of the mammogram they should contact their insurance agent to check their status before making a hospital appointment.

Medicare will pay for a screening mammogram every other year for Medicare patients.

Questions may be directed to the American Cancer Society or the Northwest Medical Center x-ray department.

Sparby opposes DNR closing of Norris Camp

State Representative Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls said today that the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) made a big mistake when it decided to close Norris Camp.

The state DNR announced recently it will close Norris Camp and consolidate the facilities with a new DNR building being built in Warroad. Construction of the new DNR building was planned after the state legislature passed a bonding bill providing the necessary funds last spring.

"I understand the DNR is trying to cut costs by consolidating these facilities but I think the decision was made very hastily. You don't take something that has been a part of our state's history for 60 years and wipe it out without serious consideration of all other options first," Sparby said.

This secluded area located in the center of Beltrami Island has been an important refuge for both people and wildlife. Sparby said. "People from all over the state of Minnesota have enjoyed the Red Lake Wildlife Management Center headquartered in Norris Camp. It seems ironic to me that the DNR would choose to close a facility whose fundamental philosophy is preservation," Rep. Sparby said.

Since it's establishment in 1935, Norris Camp has been an important part of our history, Sparby added. "That camp is only one year older than I am. Two generations of my family have grown up enjoying the land at Norris Camp and I want to preserve that for future generations," he said.

Rep. Sparby said he would support legislation next session designed to keep Norris Camp open. "I think the DNR needs to rethink some of it's priorities. We need to work together to keep the doors from closing on this unique resource," he concluded.

To The People Of Thief River Falls And Trade Area...

I have sold the Northland Foods Business to B & L Ventures, Greg Larson, President.

More than 20 years ago, L. B. Hartz and the management of L. B. Hartz Wholesale offered to build the store building if I put in the equipment and inventory.

Our association was good and the store succeeded. During its operation the store was updated and improved a number of times.

My family and I want to express our sincere appreciation to our customers, past and present, for your patronage and support over the years. Without it the operation would not have been possible.

Especially to our long-time customers and to our loyal and trusted employees we will always be grateful.

I hope you will continue to be supportive of the new owners and Hartz Foods Inc., the main wholesale food supplier, so the store can continue to be a locally supplied business.

Respectfully Yours,

Everett L. Ault

Billboard Saves Baby

PROLIFE MINNESOTA recently announced the launching of its statewide 1992 Fall media campaign with billboards, newspapers and TV ads.

Said Mary Ann Kuharski, president of PROLIFE MINNESOTA, "This Fall's educational program is the biggest yet. Knowing that 4,400 little ones die each day by legal abortion, we can't wait until the next election, next legislative session, or the next court case. PROLIFE MINNESOTA is using its resources now to broadcast the truth about human life and save lives."

"PROLIFE MINNESOTA is totally educational and non-political," the group's director, Dorothy Fleming, reported. "In addition, our ads offer positive alternatives to women experiencing untimely pregnancies; and we do this on a constant and continuous basis."

Kuharski and Fleming have received calls from pro-life pregnancy counselors all over the state telling them of women who saw a billboard or an ad and canceled their abortions.

"Our first call came from the director of a prolife crisis pregnancy center," said Dorothy. "She said it was our simple billboard message: 'heartbeat begins at 24 days' which caused a pregnant woman to seek help. The mother realized her unborn baby's heart was already beating. She canceled her abortion."

PROLIFE MINNESOTA's Spring TV ads carried the adoption message. Mary Ann Kuharski explained, "We want people to know the facts, and the goodness of adoption. There are over 40 couples who wait for every baby available for adoption. In fact, United States couples eager to adopt wait as long as five, seven and even ten years in some areas. And this includes those who wait for minority children and those with special needs."

PROLIFE MINNESOTA is non-profit, non-political, totally educational and thrives on donor support. To receive your pocket-size FACTS card write: PROLIFE MINNESOTA, P.O. Box 18874, Minneapolis, MN 55418.

Family and youth program grants available

University of Minnesota Extension Service (MES) programs that serve youth and families in local communities may now be eligible for grant totaling $35,000 statewide.

Counties are asked to submit proposals outlining their programs and needs for these "action grants."

The grants are part of the MES effort to support community-based education programs for youth and families.

The grant monies will be awarded to innovative programs that are based on community needs and have the potential for making a positive impact on Minnesota's families and youth.

Mary Ann Smith, MES assistant director said the educational programs "should be designed to strengthen families. Areas of focus may include developing parenting skills; providing life skills training for youth, accessing adequate health care and child care; and helping citizens take community action."

The $35,000 grant money is available through reallocation of funds from the university's central administration.

Individual grants will range from $1,000 to $5,000 and will be awarded to county programs that address critical community needs. Community members with ideas for collaborative programs should talk to their local extension agents about the possibility of applying.

The deadline for county extension agents to submit proposals is November 9.

PRAIRIE RAMBLING

by Gretchen Beito

Before television political campaigns were person to person. When candidate Coya Knutson of Oklee ran for Congress in 1954, she waged the contest in Legion halls, church basements and the sidewalks of small towns.

To attack the record of Congressman Harold C. Hagen of Crookston who had been in six terms, she composed a ballad to the tune of "Casey Jones."

THE SAGA OF SILENT HAROLD...

Gather round if you would hear
The story of an electioneer
Who mounted to his platform way down at Kasson
To the farmers he promised parity and their votes that day he won.
Electioneering Ike, mounted to the platform
Electioneering Ike, speeches in his hand
Electioneering Ike, mounted to the platform
To the farmers he promised parity and their votes that day he won.

Gather round and let us hear
Of how the old electioneer
Appointed Flexing Ezra to his cabinet that awful day
For he and Ezra thought the folks could live on curds and whey.
Flexing Ezra, mounted to the cabinet
Flexing Ezra, on that awful day
Flexing Ezra, mounted to the cabinet
For he thought the folks could live on curds and whey.

Gather round and let us tarry
To hear of how the farmer's secretary,
Old Flexing Ezra, cut the dairyman's income by half
For he wants each dairyman to live on curds and sell his calf.
Flexing Ezra, he's not the farmer's secretary
Flexing Ezra, he's cut our income by half
Flexing Ezra, he's not the farmer's secretary
For he wants each dairyman to live on curds and sell his calf.

Gather round and let us scan
The record of old Silent Harold, our Congressman
When Ezra flexed the farmers, Harold never rose to sight
For Harold's been too busy with the Pensions to worry with our plight.
Silent Harold, he's never even said four words
Silent Harold, for he's forgotten us back home
Silent Harold, he's never even said four words
For he's been too busy with those pensions to worry with our plight.

Gather round and let us scan
The record of old Silent Harold, our Congressman
Who's been so busy with those pensions...it must took him forty days
Cause he's never said three words to help us through these days.
Silent Harold, he's been so busy with those pensions
Silent Harold, it musta took him forty days
Silent Harold, he's been so busy with those pensions
Cause he's never said three words to help us through these days.

Gather round and let us scan
The record of old Silent Harold, our Congressman
Who never forgets the wealthy when the tax bills come to vote
But never says two words for the rest of us who also cast a vote
Silent Harold, never forgets the wealthy
Silent Harold, couldn't say two words
Silent Harold, never forgets the wealthy
But never says two words for the rest of us who also cast a vote

Gather round and let us scan
The record of old Silent Harold, our Congressman
Who gave away the Tidelands oil to those wealthy millionaires
But never said one word for our children and their heirs.
Silent Harold, gave away the Tidelands oil
Silent Harold, gave it to those millionaires
Silent Harold, gave away the Tidelands oil
But never said one word for our children and their heirs.

Gather round and let us scan
The record of old Silent Harold, our Congressman
Who wouldn't even vote to help our veterans back to health
But labored forty days for those in Congress old age wealth.
Silent Harold, wouldn't help our veterans
Silent Harold, forty days for pensions though
Silent Harold, wouldn't help our veterans
But he labored forty days for those in Congress old age wealth
As we vote let's don't forget
The record of old Silent Harold, in Congress yet
Who as each farmer, veterans, child, and wife was flexed so tight
Said not a word, for he's been too busy with the Congress plight
Silent Harold, wouldn't talk for man or wife back home
Silent Harold, not even for the child in school today
Silent Harold, wouldn't talk for man or wife back home
Cause he's been too busy with the pensions to worry with our plight.

Since Silent Harold got his pension bill passed, let's put him on his pension and get someone who will work for us in Washington.

MRS COYA KNUTSON

Coya sang this to audiences all over northwestern Minnesota, accompanying herself on the guitar or piano. Between April and November she drove 25,000 miles in her sound truck.

"Ezra" refers to Ezra Taft Benson, the Secretary of Agriculture in President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Cabinet. Benson was for flexible parity for farm prices.

"Tidelands" refers to Congress' vote that taxes on offshore oil in the Gulf of Mexico would go to adjacent states, not the federal government.

While campaigning she stayed in the homes of friends, and she especially enjoyed being with children. While in Roseau, she stayed with the Tweet family. Their children called her Coy-oy-a.

Coya Knutson won her bid for Congress, 48,999 to 46,664, carrying all eleven counties in the northwest and losing Wilkin, Clay, Otter Tail and Beltrami counties to Hagen. Hagen failed to carry his home county, Polk, while Coya carried her home county, Red Lake, two to one. She served four years.

Note: Several people have asked for the words to this song, which I found at the Minnesota Historical Society in St. Paul in the Harold C. Hagen papers.

Impressions . . .

Beth Johnson

This past weekend I was reminded of the importance of the little things in life.

We traveled this past weekend to visit our son who is attending college. Our trip was basically uneventful – if you discount the first couple of hours as we traveled on ice. Our trip did point out to me, in a humorous yet frustrating way, the importance of little things.

This weekend was the college's homecoming weekend as well as parent's day. Motel rooms were at a premium. We felt fortunate to have been able to make reservations at one of the two larger motels in the town. The motel was basically clean, even though it had seen a few years of use. It contained the basics expected of a motel room. It lacked one little essential. It lacked a simple little bathroom hook on which to hang clothes or towels. By the end of our stay in this motel, that little hook, or lack thereof, had created for all of us a great deal of frustration...some of it humorous, some not.

That little missing hook started me thinking of the other little things in life that we take for granted.

The kindnesses we do for each other daily are most likely not even noticed by the does or the receiver. But, a kindness forgotten, or a kindness no longer able to be given or received is surely missed. Each morning my husband makes the coffee at our house. To me, that little kindness shows me his care and love. The few mornings I have had to make the coffee, I appreciate his love because of the missing kindness.

I was reading a city paper this past weekend. In it was an article about the schools in the city of Chicago. What were the children wishing for? They were not hoping to be the best at any subject or sport. They were not looking to find the best ways to get scholarship aid. They were not complaining about the lack of facilities or courses. They simply wanted peace.

The school in the article had regular gunfire drills. When the gang shooting in the neighborhood became too close to the school, the teachers were instructed to usher the children into the hallways so they would not be hit by a stray bullet. Peace was the simple little thing lacking from the lives of these children.

I found myself wondering about my frustration with a missing bathroom hook, when I read about these children who daily ducked bullets on their way to school in this great country of America. I felt humbled by their simple request for the ability to walk to school peacefully. We should applaud their brave lives.

Another little thing in life is truth. I have heard commentators state that if a candidate tells the truth, he or she will not be elected. Our nation is surely lacking if simple truth is missing. When I teach my children to be truthful, I expect the leaders of our government to do no less. A simple thing is truth, but without it we do not exist.

A missing bathroom hook, kindnesses, peace, truth, all in their own way cause us to reflect on our daily lives. How can we go about improving our lives and the lives of those we touch? Maybe just a simple seemingly insignificant bathroom hook will improve the quality of life for your household. Maybe you need to remember to do those kind things you used to do for each other but somehow have neglected. Maybe you need to see that as much as it depends upon you, that you live peaceably. Maybe you need to be truthful in your business dealings. Start small. The simple, little things of life demand only that we use them. They need to simply be used to create a better world.

INSURANCE Update

AT HOME WITH YOUR COVERAGE

Insurance companies offer different grades of homeowners policies. HO-1 and HO-2 are quite restrictive in that they insure against only 11 to 17 named perils. On the other hand, HO-3 owes its widespread popularity to the fact that it offers a broad variety of coverages that are sometimes considered "gray areas". Even an HO-3 however, does not include coverage for damage as a result of flood, earthquake, or nuclear war. An HO-3 will not list the perils that are covered. Instead, it lists the exclusions. If an exclusion is not found, coverage applies. Some insurance companies also offer a preferred policy called an HO-5. This form provides "comprehensive" coverage on both the dwelling and the contents. It also includes replacement cost on both dwelling and contents.

If your home qualifies, NORTHERN STATE AGENCY can provide you with the broadest protection under an HO-5. Protecting your investment is our number one priority and concern. Visit with us soon. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is conveniently located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon. - Fri., 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

Physical barriers inhibit individuals with handicaps

Physical barriers come in all shapes and sizes. For individuals with handicaps, physical barriers can be the most imposing.

A recent experience of one handicapped individual has resulted in a discussion with the Pennington county board of commissioners and a renewed effort to inform individuals with handicaps how to get assistance at the Pennington county courthouse.

Denise Robson of Options, an inter state resource center for independent living, said the subject of making the courthouse accessible to the handicapped arose most recently because of one individual's attempt to get to the motor vehicle department. Robson said a local resident, confined to a wheelchair, wanted to obtain identification at the motor vehicle department. Because he is confined to a wheelchair he was unable to physically reach the motor vehicle department. He contacted the local department, but was supposedly told he would have to go to Crookston to get assistance — highly impractical for someone with a disability.

Ken Olson, county auditor, said the county has had a policy of providing services to handicapped individuals at places that are accessible to the handicapped. If the county auditor's services were needed, he would provide that service at the front door to the courthouse or at the law enforcement center or public library.

The formal notice that was adopted on October 17, 1983 states that, "Anyone who finds the facilities or service non-accessible to them because of a handicap may request the service to be brought to an acceptable location or their home. Furthermore, anyone needing a special device for communication purposes may request it to be available by giving a 10-day advance notice."

The county has looked at solutions to making the courthouse handicapped accessible, but all of the options involve significant financial barriers. The most effective response at this time is to provide the service at an accessible location, but not everyone knows of the policy.

Olson said in the case of the motor vehicle department they were dealing with the physical barrier and equipment barriers. Eventually, the department obtained a portable camera that they could use and were able to respond to the needs of the handicapped individual.

All government agencies inside the courthouse are required to take these steps because of the Americans with Disabilities Act. Title II of the regulation covers public entities that include any state or local government and any of its departments, agencies or other instrumentalities.

The law includes provisions that require them to make reasonable modifications in policies, practices and procedures that deny equal access to individuals with disabilities. In addition, they may not place special charges on individuals with disabilities to cover the costs of measures necessary to ensure non-discriminatory treatment. The purpose of the regulations, of course, is to ensure that individuals with disabilities are not excluded from services, program and activities because buildings are in accessible.

The ADA provides that options include relocating a service, providing an aide or personal assistant to enable the individual with a disability to obtain the service, and providing benefits or services at an individual's home or an alternative accessible site.

To some, a quick way of solving the problem may be to carry someone with a disability up stairs or bump them up stairs in their wheel chair. The ADA prohibits that type of activity as a reasonable means of providing the service. The ADA states that they may not carry an individual with a disability as a method of providing program access, except in "manifestly exceptional circumstances".

Dealing with inaccessible buildings is an unfortunate fact of life for individuals with handicaps. Of the public buildings in Thief River Falls, only the library, social services, and law enforcement center are handicapped accessible. The courthouse, city auditorium and post office are all in accessible.

Buildings that pose a barrier to individuals with handicaps are obstacles the federal government is interested in abolishing. Local government agencies have even been required to propose how to eliminate those physical barriers.

Neither the city of Thief River Falls or Pennington county board of commissioners have adopted plans to address that issue. But right now, the most important issue of concern to Options and local government is making sure that individuals with handicaps know of the alternative services policy.

Playoff berth on the line in Northland-UMC match-up

Northland's extra incentive is needed, but a [illegible] rivalry will be renewed [illegible] Thursday when Northland Community College takes on the University of Minnesota-Crookston in a 7 p.m. football game at Prowler Field.

A Minnesota Community College Conference playoff berth along with [illegible] bragging rights will be at stake.

Top two regular season finishers in the two Minnesota Community College Conference divisions will advance to post-season play. In the North, the contenders include 4-0 Vermilion, 3-1 Northland and Mesabi along with 3-2 UMC. Brainerd (2-3), Hibbing (0-4) and Itasca (0-4) are out of the picture.

Northland will close out the regular season at home against Brainerd. The [illegible] will be guaranteed a playoff [illegible] if they beat the Trojans and Raiders. If two or more teams wind up in a tie for a post-season berth, a [illegible] of the other Northern Division coaches will break the deadlock.

"This [illegible] to [illegible] but it's a big wait from behind [illegible]," [illegible] Northland rookie head coach Gene Klinke. "We've had a great year [illegible] but we haven't [illegible]."

Northland was a 2[illegible] winner over the Mayville State University junior varsity last Thursday to go 5-1 overall. That matches the most wins ever for the Pioneers, whose only previous winning season was in 1986 when they finished [illegible] regular season 5-3 and [illegible] Vermilion 28-13 in the MCCC [illegible] semifinals. That [illegible] Northland's only post-season appearance in 1[illegible] years of intercollegiate football.

The Pioneers have made a remarkable turnaround under Klinke after struggling to a 1-7 finish last year. Even then the Pioneers gained a measure of satisfaction when the lone win came at the expense of the rival Trojans, 33-31.

UMC is 4-2 overall this year with a 27-0 season-opening win over the Mayville State University junior varsity and MCCC wins over Hibbing 41-6, Itasca 3-0 and Brainerd 26-14 last week – a loss that knocked the Raiders out of playoff contention. The Trojans lost [illegible] Division games to Mesabi [illegible] and Vermilion 34-14. They [illegible] regular season play with a [illegible] game against MCCC [illegible] Division member Fergus [illegible].

Northland beat Fergus Falls 20-9 to start the year, lost its MCCC opener the following week to Vermilion 26-8, but has won four in a row since, stopping Hibbing 31-22, Mesabi 15-7, Itasca 34-7, and the Mayville JV last week.

"Overall, we played well in the first half against Mayville," said Klinke. "In the second half we didn't play up to our capability, but we had the big lead and we played a lot of kids."

Northland sophomore running-back Shawn Campbell carried 13 times for 104 yards before leaving the game after the first series of the second half. He ranked No. 1 in the national NJCAA rushing charts entering game and now has [illegible] yards for the year.

He is running behind an all sophomore offense line that is the strength of the Pioneers. But that line and Campbell's numbers will be in for a tough test Thursday. The Trojans limited a similar ground-orientated Brainerd offense to just 37 yards rushing last week. Both Raiders touchdowns that night were scored by the defense – on a fumble return and an interception return.

"Crookston will be tough," warned Klinke. "They have the best defensive line we're going to face this year. It'll be their defensive line against our offensive line. We'll have to see which one will bend."

"It's going to be an intense game," said Kline. "I know we'll be entering the game emotionally high, but we can't let that overwhelm us. We have to concentrate on our assignments."

Elsewhere in the Northern Division last week, Vermilion shut out Hibbing 56-0 and Mesabi doubled Itasca 20-10. Another key Northern Division match-up Thursday will find Mesabi at Vermilion. Itasca will be at Hibbing that night and Brainerd has a non-conference assignment against Normandale.

Normandale beat Fergus Falls 32-2 last week in a battle of the top two Southern Division teams.

TRF, EGF may meet twice

A possible first round preview of the upcoming Section 8A high school football playoffs will take place Wednesday when Thief River Falls hosts East Grand Forks in a 7:30 p.m. regular season finale for both teams.

The two teams might very well find themselves back at Prowler Field when post-season play starts Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Current Section 8A point standings, which awards 120 points for a win over a Class AA team, 100 points for a victory over a Class A opponent and 80 points for a decision over a Class B or C team, shows Detroit Lakes (7-0) with 680 points, Fergus Falls (6-1) 640, Thief River Falls (5-2) 500, Little Falls (4-3) 440, Park Rapids Area (4-3) 380, East Grand Forks (3-3) 300, Crookston (1-6) 100, Wadena-Deer Creek (1-6) 100, Perham (1-6) 80, and Staples Area (0-7) 0.

A five-game Thief River Falls win streak ended Thursday in a 28-19 loss to Fergus Falls, but the Prowlers are still guaranteed a top four finish in the final regular season Section 8A standings and a home field edge for the playoff quarterfinals. A win over East Grand Forks would produce a No. 3 berth for the Prowlers. A loss to the Green Wave, coupled with a Little Falls win over St. Cloud Tech, would drop the Prowlers behind the Flyers for the seeding positions.

Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls have the top two spots locked up. Both are heavily favored to finish with wins as the Lakers play Staples Area and the Otters take on Wahpeton, ND. Detroit Lakes could lose its grip on the top seed if the Lakers were to be upset by the Cardinals and the Otters beat Wahpeton.

Little Falls, meanwhile, could find itself finishing anywhere from third to fifth. Park Rapids Area could jump ahead of Little Falls if the Panthers beat Crosby-Ironton and the Flyers lose to Tech this week.

In other final-week games for Section 8A teams, Crookston will be at Belcourt, ND, Wadena-Deer Creek hosts Aitkin and Perham entertains Mahnomen.

Possible Section 8A quarterfinal draw would include Detroit Lakes vs. Wadena-Deer Creek and Park Rapids Area vs. Little Falls in the Upper Bracket; Fergus Falls vs. Crookston and Thief River Falls vs. East Grand Forks in the Bottom Bracket.

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm isn't thrilled with the possibly of facing East Grand Forks in back-to-back situations, even if the Prowlers would rate as a favorite in the match-up. "It's not a good situation for us," said Mumm. "If we win handily (Wednesday), then it might be hard to convince the kids that they'll be a tough playoff opponent. And if we win a close game, it gives East Side confidence that they can beat us if we turn around and play again. Either way, it's a tough call for us."

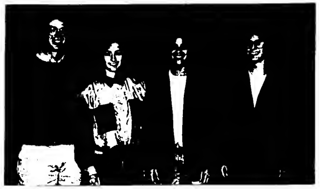
Semifinals will be played Saturday, Oct. 31. Championship game is planned Friday, Nov. 6.

East Grand Forks' 3-3 record includes wins over Staples Area 27-0, Wahpeton 13-12 and Crookston 20-0. The Green Wave lost to Grand Forks Central 21-6, Fergus Falls 17-7 and Park Rapids Area 35-16 in a mistake-filled game last week.

"They're good," said Mumm of the Green Wave. "You can throw out the Park Rapids game. They had been playing some pretty good football, but they made every mistake possible last week."

A multitude of offensive formations used by the Green Wave presents the biggest concern for Mumm. "They're going to cause a lot of problems for us defensively," he said. "They use about 14 different formations. They spread things out all over the field, and they like to throw the ball. We're going to have our hands full."

Senior Brad Kragness, a starter at linebacker, is not expected to be play this week because of a pinched nerve in his shoulder. It is hoped the time off will help get him ready for the playoffs, according to Mumm.



Thief River Falls' delegation at the 1992 Section 8AA girls high school tennis tournament includes, left to right, Prowlers head coach Jay Forney, senior singles players Jennifer Paggen and freshman doubles teammates Anna Padilla and Shari Evanson. The tournament is being played today (Tuesday) and Wednesday at the Fargo Tennis Center. North Sub Section 8AA champion Bemidji and South Sub Section 8AA winner St. Cloud Tech meet in today's team finals, while singles and doubles individual titles will be determined Wednesday.

Goodridge/Grygla..........0

Goodridge/Grygla dropped a 3-0 match to Roseau Monday, stretching the Wolverines' season-long losing streak to 16.

The Rams won 15-7, 15-6, 15-1 at Goodridge.

"We kind of fell apart in the last game," acknowledged Goodridge/Grygla coach Tim Mostrom. "Roseau is a good team, and we had trouble spiking the ball."

Shaunna Thomas, a 5-4 freshman, had a solid match, said Mostrom. Despite her size, she is one of the Wolverines' top hitters.

Goodridge/Grygla will play Marshall County Central Thursday in Grygla an will take on Kittson County North Friday at Goodridge.

Red Lake Co. Central 0

Red Lake County Central lost a 15-6, 16-13, 15-6 Monday match to Fisher/Climax at Plummer.

The loss dropped the Mustangs to 10-10 for the year.

"We had a few moments, but we had trouble serving," explained Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene. "We should have been able to score a few more points. We didn't take advantage of the opportunities we had."

Karlene Jolly came though with an 11-for-11 night at the service line, and combined with Farrah Brantl for a strong back row performance, said Borene. . Dawn Bachand led the Mustangs with six kills, while Jill Radniecki and Abby Chervestad both had five.

The Mustangs will be in Thief River Falls Thursday.

Pioneers introduce coach

■ Rick Nikunen will coach Northland women

Rick Nikunen was introduced as the new coach of the Northland Community College women's basketball and softball teams during a Monday press conference at the school.

Nikunen, a 36-year-old native of Biwabik with a coaching background in men's basketball, golf, softball, tennis, and volleyball at the college and high school level, succeeds Sue Barnd, who gave up the dual basketball/softball role to accept the position as softball coach at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

Interim athletic director Deb Jacobson introduced Nikunen to the media Monday. "We're very happy to have Rick join the staff," she said. "We realize it's a difficult job starting this late."

Northland women begin preseason practice Nov. 2. Without an opportunity to recruit, Nikunen will rely on returning players Jill Brantl, Susie Bengston and Maria Ditsch to lead the Pioneers this winter.

"It's not going to be easy," acknowledged Nikunen, "but I've never backed down from a challenge. And I never relate success with just wins or losses. I want to make it an enjoyable season for the players, the school and the community."

Nikunen received a Bachelor of Science degree from Mayville State, with a major in social science and a minor in physical education. He earned a Master of Science degree from North Dakota State University majoring in education/physical education, and did graduate work in the area of psychology at Kearney State University in Nebraska.

Currently the educational counselor for the TRIO program at the University of North Dakota, Nikunen will become a full-time Northland instructor in the health and physical education department beginning with the start of winter quarter Nov. 3. He has also served as a psychology instructor, physical education instructor and academic counselor at McCook Community College in McCook, NE; an assistant professor of physical education and academic advisor for the University of Mary in Bismarck, ND; graduate teaching assistant in physical education at North Dakota State University; and social science, history, health education and physi-

Bemidji swimmers too strong for Thief River Falls girls

There was nothing wrong with the Thief River Falls efforts Thursday, but the Prowlers still came up short in the scoring column in a [illegible] 108-78 dual meet girls high school swimming loss at the hands of Bemidji.

"We had some spectacular times," reported Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "We pushed them, but they just had too much power for us to handle."

The loss dropped Prowlers' dual meet record to 2-3. They visit Detroit Lakes tonight (Tuesday) for a 6 p.m. dual and will compete in the Crookston Invitational Friday [illegible] cal education instructor at Alvarado High School.

Nikunen's coaching experience includes a stint as head men's basketball and coach golf at McCook Community College, 1987-1991; associate men's basketball coach and head fast pitch softball coach at the University of Mary, 1984-87; assistant men's basketball coach and head women's tennis coach at NDSU, 1981-84; head volleyball coach at Dilworth High School, 1981-82; assistant girls basketball coach and head golf coach at Alvarado High School, 1979-1981.

After coaching a variety of sports over an 11-year span, Nikunen stayed on the sidelines in 1991-92. "I took a year off, and I really missed it," he said. "I love coaching. I missed it so much. Basketball is my first choice in coaching – men's or women's, it doesn't make a difference."

If he is able to put together the kind of team he would like to have, Nikunen said the Pioneers would feature a balanced attack. "We'll run when it's there; play good, solid defense; and try to keep everyone involved offensively."

Nikunen is the second new Northland basketball coach on campus this year. Mark Dannhoff was named earlier as coach of the Northland men's team, succeeding long-time Pioneers head coach Chet Engelman. Northland men, the defending Minnesota Community College Conference state champions, opened practice Monday.

High school football...

Area teams playing Tuesday, Thursday

Area high school football teams, adjusting their schedules in preparation for the upcoming playoffs, will abandon the traditional Friday games this week.

In Nine Man play tonight (Tuesday), Red Lake County Central (4-[illegible]) will close out its regular season schedule with a 7 p.m. North Tri-County Conference game at Red Lake, and Goodridge/Grygla (3-3) will meet Marshall County Central ([illegible]) in a 7 p.m. Top of the State Conference match-up at Goodridge. It will be the final outing of the year for the Nordics, who receive the final week conference bye. The Blue Devils will play Kittson Central in a regular season finale at Hallock the following Tuesday (Oct. 27).

Thursday, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (5-2) will be at Lake Park/Audubon in a 7:30 p.m. Valley Plains Conference game.

Red Lake Co. Central ...40
Norman Co. West 20

Red Lake County Central put together a 247 yard ground game, and quarterback Scott Lorenson threw two touchdown passes Wednesday as the Mustangs netted a late-reported 40-20 win over Norman County West at Halstad.

The winners started the MEA-week game with a 22-0 lead. Lorenson hooked up with Jon Sundrud for a 32-yard touchdown pass on the Mustangs' first offensive snap of the game. Lorenson went to Shannon Willett for a 41-yard touchdown play, and a 65-yard return with a pass interception by Jacob Melby set up a 5-yard Adam Lundeen touchdown run for the 22-0 cushion.

The win snapped a three-game Red Lake County Central losing streak.

"Overall, we did a pretty nice job," reported Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "To get a win after three losses, and to win on the road – I was pretty pleased."

The Red Lake County Central ground game was spread out among several backs as Willett carried 10 times for 75 yards, Eric Reinbold had four carries for 63 yards, Melby eight carries for 41 yards, and Lundeen had five carries for 37 yards.

Lorenson put the ball in the air just five times, but he completed three of the passes for 76 yards and two touchdowns.

Defensively, Lundeen was in on 20 tackles, Melby 17, to go along with two interceptions, and Shawn McMullen had a hand in 13 tackles. Chad Pahlen and Gus Vettleson also played well at the defensive tackles, said Brantl.

Agassiz Summer Program

Six local high school youths from the Grygla and Goodridge communities worked at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge this summer through the the Inter-County Community Council Summer Youth Employee Program and Minnesota Youth Program.

The refuge serves as a work site providing youths an opportunity to develop and utilize their skills. The work program began June 15 and ended August 31. The number of hours worked per youth varied from 190 to 349.

Work duties varied from clerical to outdoor labor. Typing, filing, answering inquiries, and cleaning the office were tasks completed in the office. Lawn mowing, washing and waxing vehicles, tree and shrub pruning, painting, constructing water control structure stop log holding racks, repairing a quonset building and banding nets, cleaning storage buildings, and tearing down the observation deck and bridge and assisting with rebuilding the new observation deck and bridge, were the main accomplishments outdoors.

Refuge officials say they hope the work experiences the youth were involved with at Agassiz will strengthen their work ethic as they prepare to enter into the American work force.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle

The Strandquist senior citizens met on Thursday afternoon at the center with 13 members and eight guests present. A business meeting was held and another trip was planned this time to Grygla. After that they worked on another new quilt and pulled on materials for pillows. Mary and Donna Renstrom served a delicious lunch which I was there to enjoy. Wally Rud won the door prize. Everyone seemed to enjoy the day working, eating and visiting.

The Strandquist Junior Citizens is one of the best behaved groups of students I have been privileged to see for some time. The Tri-county third grade students of Mr. Jeff Westberg's class will present a program depicting the lifestyle of the American cowboys and their music. Mrs. Kathy Englund will accompany the students on the guitar as they sing cowboy favorites, such as "The Old Chisholm Trail," "Good bye Old Paint," "My Home's in Montana" and "Home On The Range." In dialogue format, the students will describe a cowboy's day. The public is invited to join the third graders on Friday, Oct. 23 at 11 a.m. in the Strandquist gym for this short 15 minute presentation. I'm sure everyone there will enjoy it, as I did last week.

Frank and Judy Kleinvachter visited Kaye Turnwall and Stan Johnson at St. Hilaire after having dinner at St. Bernard's church on Sunday.

Visitors at Earl and Ebba Sihlberg's this past week have been Pastor and Mrs. Roley of Argyle, Viola Fredricks, Leonard Jacobson of Stephen, Donavan and Kelly Donarski and Donna Donarski. Ebba Sihlberg had her 80th birthday and though some couldn't come on the 13th, Ebba had a real blast all week. On Thursday David and Mickey Engsted of Grand Forks brought a cake to celebrate her awful 80s. On Friday evening a real surprise was sprung on her by guests from St. Paul. One by one they came, each saying "surprise" and Ebba said she felt like a "superpower" as they all came as Queen of Sheba bearing gifts. There was Boyd and Virginia Sihlberg, Karen Donaldson, Brenda Shenley, Kim Tunheim and Shelley Rud. They also brought a cake in the form of 80. The ladies all went home on Sunday as they were working and Boyd and Virginia left for home Monday. Well, happy birthday, Ebba, and many more, from well wishers around this area.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson went to Thief River Falls on Wednesday to be the dinner guests of Nelson LaDoux after Isaac had finished his role in a skit given at the Karlstad senior center.

A week ago Thursday Therese Olstad and Fern Yon of Bathgate, ND visited Peter E. and Pearl Thompson. Fern and Pearl were high school classmates.

Elphie Adils went to Minot on Tuesday to visit Tracy and Kim Kraft and 3-year-old grandson Kevin Kraft and attend the Hostfest at the arena in Minot. Elphie won a trip to Norway there a couple of years ago but this year a person from Minot won it. This is a real fest and entertainers were from Norway, Sweden and several other places. On Sunday morning breakfast was served and after that mass was said at the arena. Elphie came home Sunday evening.

JoAnne Holmstrom and Elaine Grovum of Thief River Falls spent Saturday helping their mother Elsie Lefrooth. Margaret Donaldson and daughters Alaura and Sarah joined them at lunch for potato dumplings.

Sherrie, Scott and Staffanie Stewart from Bloomington came to spend the weekend at Peter E. and Pearl Thompson's home. They also visited other relatives while here. On Thursday evening Sherrie, Scott and Staffanie Stewart, LaVonne Johnson, Becky Mitchells and Jeremy Johnson and David and Phaela Thompson were supper guests at Peter and Pearl's home.

June Kasprowcz stopped in to visit Frank and Judy Kleinvachter on Monday. That evening Merlen Pedarson visited them.

String of thefts from cars being investigated by police

Police in Thief River Falls are investigating more than 30 thefts from vehicles.

Four to six calls to police came in last week from the area of North LaBree and North Main. By Monday morning the total number of cars rummaged through totaled over 30 and the thieves had hit the Oakland park road area, Northwest trailer park, and North State, Cameo drive and other areas. The target of the thieves appear to be cash, cassettes, knives and other miscellaneous items.

Residents have been reporting that someone has entered their vehicle and gone through the glove box, tossing things about and in some cases taking loose change or cash, checkbooks and identification. On October 17, a visitor to the city reported that while his vehicle was parked at a relative's residence someone went through his car took a [illegible] camera and blue denim bag. Again on October 17, Loretta Johnson of Deerwood, reported that someone had gone through her vehicle while it was parked at Northwestern trailer court and had taken about $15 change. Another resident reported that over $500 in CDs had been taken.

In many cases the thieves have just rummaged through the vehicle and left papers and others things lying inside and outside of the vehicle. On October 17 for example, [illegible] Olson, Thief River Falls reported that during the previous night someone went through her car. The door was discovered ajar and things were scattered about, but nothing was missing.

Police are investigating the thefts and are warning residents to lock their vehicles. Anyone with information about the thefts is also asked to contact the law enforcement center.

Faith Lutheran hosts vocal group

Instrumentalists will assist the group and Rayome Koehler of Fosston will direct. The musicians come from Fosston, Lengby, Bagley, Clearbrook, Winger, Bejou, Leonard and Erskine.

The concert is open to the public and admission is a free-will offering.

Sentences for felonies handed out in Co. court

Pleading guilty to a felony charge of terroristic threats landed a Thief River Falls man in jail for 60 days.

Terry Lee Anenson, Thief River Falls, 19, was convicted of terroristic threats, a felony, and sentenced on October 12 by Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy. Judge Murphy sentenced Anenson to 60 days in jail and placed him on supervised probation for five years. In addition, a fine of $2,000 was reduced by $1,900 and he was ordered to pay a $45 surcharge and $7.50 court cost. Anenson was given credit for time served on an incident which happened on August 17. According to the court record, Anenson had threatened to kill a local resident who was at a residence in Kratka township.

Anenson was represented in court by Don Aandal, assistant public defender. Assistant to the county attorney, Al Rogalla, represented the prosecution in the case.

Twenty-five year old Darryl Arthur Dalrymple of Bagley, was sentenced on a charge of theft by check over $500 and under $2,500, a felony.

On September 15 charges were filed against Dalrymple after the sheriff's department received a number of complaints about checks written on an overdrawn bank checking account. In court, Dalrymple said he had bought several items with checks and the account was overdrawn. He then sold the merchandise and split the profits with a friends. He said he is also wanted on similar charges in Polk, Red Lake, Beltrami and Clearwater counties.

Judge Dennis Murphy sentenced Dalrymple to 100 days in jail and placed him on supervised probation for five years. In addition he was ordered to make restitution of $1,187.82 to various merchants in Pennington county. He was given credit for time served.

On the day of sentencing, Dalrymple was represented by Don Aandal, assistant public defender.

Twenty-five year old Todd Alan Cameron was sentenced for his part in an argument that resulted in a car being forced off the highway. Cameron, Thief River Falls, pled guilty to assault in the second degree and was fined $300 plus a surcharge of $85 and court costs of $7.50. He was also sentenced to 90 days in jail, which was stayed for one year and he was placed on unsupervised probation for two years. In addition he was ordered to pay restitution of $200. The charge of second degree assault stems from an incident on August 30 or the early morning of August 31. The sheriff's department in Pennington county received a report of an argument at Miz Ellie's in Goodridge. In court, Cameron said an argument that began at Miz Ellie's was continued on Highway one where he forced the driver of another car off the highway with his car.

Cameron was represented by Don Aandal, assistant public defender. Al Rogalla, assistant to the county attorney, prosecuted the case.

Black Magic plans to expand operation

Black Magic Motorsports Inc., is adding a 25x50 two story addition to the front of its building on highway 59 north (former Ace Rental building) and expects to be adding eight to nine employees over the next two to three years, according to Tim Berg, owner. This would bring total employment to the 17-20 range, he said.

Berg said the addition will provide for offices on the second floor and warehouse space on the ground floor. Black Magic moved from the Arctco complex into the present building about a year ago. The addition is expected to be completed about November 10.

The company manufactures and distributes high performance parts and accessories such as pipes, clutch kits, special engines and novelty items for the snowmobile industry. Products are sold primarily to dealers for retail to the Arctic Cat snowmobile owner.

Berg said his company has purchased and is in the process of installing a Super Flo dynamometer system which will enable more work to be done by the company instead of purchasing services elsewhere.

According to the Northwest Regional Development commission, Black Magic was approved for a $30,000 loan through its regional enterprise loan fund to assist with purchase of the building, construction of the addition and acquisition of equipment.

Loans from the enterprise fund are used to encourage start up or expansion of businesses within the seven-county region. They are made to fill the gap between the total cost of the project and the amount that is available through owner investment and private financing. A major goal of the program is job creation.

First aid class taught in Newfolden

A basic first aid class will be taught at the Newfolden MCC high school from 6 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, October 28 and November 4. Doug Johnston will instruct the 8 hour class.

The class will cover standard first aid procedures, including CPR. Upon successful completion of the course, participants will receive a card certifying they have passed the requirements of the course.

Interested individuals should register by calling 874-7225 or by sending registration to the Newfolden high school, Box 277, Newfolden, MN 56738. Cost of registration will be $10. Class enrollment will be limited so interested individuals need to preregister.

Furniture for the library at Marshall County Central high school at Newfolden arrived in time for the open house held Sunday afternoon. The library at the former school—located near the teacher's lounge where the November 7 fire which destroyed the building started from a coffee-maker— was among the most totally destroyed rooms in the building. The present library has large sky-lights which provide a bright atmosphere for students to study or find reference materials.

Seventh district candidates respond to questions

The following questions were prepared by the Minnesota Newspaper Association for candidates running for the Seventh District congressional seat.

Collin Peterson

Q. Should there be a limit on campaign finances? Explain.

I have consistently supported campaign reform. In fact, I joined with Rep. Dave Obey to introduce a package of reforms during my first year in office. I voted for the compromise reform package passed by the Congress and vetoed by the president. I support spending limits, limits on PAC contributions, and closing loopholes dealing with independent expenditures, bundling and soft money. I support public funding of campaigns to get the special interests out, though I have doubts about the ability to pass such legislation.

Q. Do you support term limits? If so, how should they be structured?

I have introduced legislation establishing 12 year term limits for Senators and Congressmen. However, my proposed constitutional amendment goes even farther. It also establishes 12 year limits for congressional staff, prohibits individuals from lobbying Congress or the Executive Branch for more than 12 years, and limits bureaucrats to 12 years in Washington. Term limits for Congress alone would make things worse by concentrating power in staff and the special interests. We need everyone involved in developing federal policy to have a real job every 12 years.

Q. What are your chief environmental concerns and how should they be addressed?

We have made great strides in regulating the major sources of pollution like untreated smokestack emissions, raw sewage dumped into lakes and streams, and uncontrolled vehicle emissions. However, much remains to be done to protect groundwater, our major source of drinking water, to ensure the continued availability of timber by responsibly managing our forests, and to control the release of toxics into our air and water. The irony is that Congress has passed legislation in most of these areas. However, the Reagan and Bush Administrations have refused to implement groundwater protection standards or the air toxics control program authorized in the recent Clean Air Act amendments. We need to force implementation of existing statutes, toughen controls on hazardous waste, increase fuel efficiency stan-

Bernie Omann

Q. Should there be a limit on campaign finances? Explain.

Early in this campaign, I stated that I would be willing to abide by the Congressional campaign spending limit of $425,000 suggested in a recent state law which was struck down by the courts. I said I would voluntarily abide by this limit and asked Congressman Peterson to do the same. I have also advocated federal legislation to limit PAC contributions to no more than 25 per cent of all campaign receipts. He declines. I support Common Causes approach to reforming the election process and will work for laws that bring more people into the political process.

Q. Do you support term limits? If so, how should they be structured?

I have been a strong supporter of term limits to reduce the current pre-occupation of members of Congress with fundraising and re-election. I have proposed limits of 12 years, six terms in the U.S. House and two in the U.S. Senate. I would also be open to the proposed reform of extending terms in the House to four years in order to lessen the pressure to plan for re-election and limiting members to three terms.

Q. What are your chief environmental concerns and how should they be addressed?

My chief environmental concerns are the expansion of recycling programs, preservation of wilderness areas, and the development of international treaties to reduce pollution which is no longer addressable within the boundaries of a single nation. I would also support proposals to increase to 50 per cent the use of recycled materials in newspapers and consumer products. Some companies have already done this voluntarily. Wilderness areas are well protected under federal legislation and this should be continued. Such protection must be consistent with badly needed economic expansion. Renewable resources such as forests are also an economic resource and should be recognized as such. Pollution, particularly air pollution, can no longer be contained by unilateral action of a single country. We need international treaties to deal with the problem which must be coupled with the export of American pollution control technology to nations that do

How to receive answered prayer

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

One of the many blessings that comes from living the new life in Christ is answered prayer (Rom. 6:4). Because we live only to please God every day by performing God's Will in our lives, we assure our hearts before God and we can ask in prayer without doubting (John 9:31; 1 John 3:18-19; James 1:6). We know He considers us righteous because we practice righteousness for God (1 John 3:7). And we know He hears the prayers of the righteous (1 Peter 3:12; Prov. 15:29).

We practice living as Jesus Christ lived and as the Father lives by keeping the sayings of Christ (1 Cor. 11:1; Eph. 5:1; John 12:47; Luke 8:21). We also control our thoughts and the words we speak so that they are pleasing to God (1 Peter 4:11).

But most of all, we use the members of our bodies as instruments of righteousness (Rom. 6:13; 1 Peter 3:11-12). We practice righteousness constantly to please God and to produce good fruits for Him (1 John 2:29; 3:10; John 15:8). The good fruits we produce on our spiritual trees are good works (Col. 1:10; Matt. 3:10; 7:17-20; Phil. 1:11).

By conforming to godliness and by practicing righteousness, we allow God the Father to reveal His Son Jesus Christ in us (John 14:23; Gal. 1:16; 4:19). Keeping the commandments of Jesus Christ is not grievous, but very enjoyable (1 John 5:3; Matt. 11:30). It is the peaceful way that God created us to live (Jer. 10:23; Prov. 16:3; 20:24; Heb. 10:20, 24). We are at peace with ourselves because we are at peace with our Maker (John 17:13; 2 Thess. 3:16; Phil. 4:7).

All we must do now is endure to the end (Matt. 10:22; 24:13; Rev. 2:26). We must remain loyal to God by remaining diligent and continuing to persevere in righteousness (Luke 21:19; Rev. 2:2-3, 19; Gal. 6:9; 2 Thess. 3:13; Heb. 12:3). We have a purpose in life. We have found that purpose. We now know how to please God and complete our purpose by conforming our lives to His Way of life (1 Tim. 4:7; 6:3). Because we are seeking to please God in all our ways, we are abundantly blessed and our prayers are answered (Matt. 6:33; John 10:10; Mal. 3:10).

not have the [illegible].

Q. Explain your views on the extent to which the United States should become involved in the affairs of other countries. What would be your goals for directing foreign policy? Be specific for both foreign and military aid.

As the only remaining superpower in the world, the United States has a responsibility to assure stability around the world. The rest of the world expects this of us and we cannot ignore this responsibility. International stability and preventing armed aggression should be the cornerstone of our foreign policy for the foreseeable future. This requires both a foreign aid and military aid component. Such aid must continue, but to an ever increasing degree, it must be coordinated with United Nations' resolutions to assure that there is world consensus regarding the nature of international stability. Intervention in foreign countries should be kept to a minimum, but always keeping in mind that no other nation or group of nations is currently capable of maintaining world peace. International instability, we must remember, has a direct affect on the economic instability that now grips the entire world.

Q. How should the federal deficit be resolved? Be specific when addressing any tax increases or program cuts. What are your budget priorities?

I have proposed a flexible freeze on federal spending for a period of five years. Under such a proposal, individual programs within the budget would be allowed an increase or be cut, but total federal spending would be capped at current levels. We do not have a revenue problem, we have a spending problem. Congress, in its preoccupation with re-election, continuously uses new revenues for new programs rather than deficit reduction. A freeze of the sort I am proposing would force the Congress to set priorities and also force members to justify new programs and identify sources of existing revenue to pay for them. I would also support the President's proposal for a federal income tax checkoff to earmark part of our taxes to deficit reduction. Like the freeze, this would force Congress to establish priorities in funding new and existing programs. My budget priorities are deficit reduction and reinvigorating the economy. Social Security should be removed from the existing budget. It is a self-funding program which should not be cut and its surpluses should not be used, as is currently the case, to mask the true size of the deficit problem.

Q. What direction should the country be taking in terms of universal healthcare?

There are many proposals floating around to have the federal government take over the health care delivery system. As the saying goes, if you like the efficiency of the post office combined with the compassion of the IRS, you'll love federal health care. Most proposals are based on the Canadian model, but as former Surgeon General C. Everett Koop has said, the Canadian system is to a large degree dependent on the American system. I believe we [illegible] tort reform, [illegible] procedures and regulations [illegible] which [illegible] liability, which accounts for [illegible] percent of health care costs, [illegible] billing procedures and allow the working poor access to medical assistance programs.

Q. Do you support current federal farm programs? Should subsidies and other market protection gradually be phased out?

My top priority for agriculture is to reduce trade barriers around the world. We must continue to insist on open markets around the globe for American produce. We must press other nations, particularly Europe, to eliminate trade barriers and allow American agriculture produce to compete in their marketplace. Even more pressure must be applied. I am a strong proponent of the Export Enhancement Program. American farmers are the most productive in the world. If trade barriers are eliminated, then we will have more than ample markets for our goods. Eastern Europe is starving, but we can't get our food onto their shelves. In the coming decade, farm policy and foreign policy are inevitably linked. I also support substantial changes in the Milk Marketing orders which currently discriminate in favor of dairy farmers in the Southeastern United States at the expense of the midwest.

dards so air pollution is decreased, and promote sustainable forestry management. I am convinced that protecting the environment is good economics. A case in point — if we had had stronger landfill standards years ago, we wouldn't have Superfund sites dotting the Seventh district. We need to prevent pollution so we don't have to pay the bills to clean it up.

Q. Explain your views on the extent to which the United States should become involved in the affairs of other countries. What would be your goals for directing foreign policy? Be specific for both foreign and military aid.

With the end of the Cold War, the United States finds itself the sole remaining military superpower in a world that is changing rapidly. It is in our nation's best interest to maintain peace and promote stability. Given the current budget deficit, we must target our limited funds to achieve peace, strengthen emerging democracies, and encourage the development of market-oriented economies. In order to achieve this, Congress and the Administration must better understand the complexities of the many international crises we now face.

Foreign aid has too often been used during the Cold War to posture against communism. This resulted in increased military conflict, poverty and human rights violations. It is time to stop wasting tax dollars on foreign 'aid' that has negative or destabilizing effects, and focus on economic development. A good example of this is El Salvador, where congressional action to eliminate military aid and transfer the monies into a rebuilding fund has helped maintain a fragile peace. Overall, our policy objectives should be to promote peace and the development of sound trading partners with expanding economies.

Q. How should the federal deficit be resolved? Be specific when addressing any tax increases or program cuts. What are your budget priorities?

I am a supporter of the Balanced Budget Amendment. After one term in Washington, I am convinced this is necessary to ensure that every government program is on the table. Every part of the Federal Government can handle some cuts and that includes entitlements. I also believe we should repeal the 1986 tax reform act and replace it with a tax system that is progressive and targets tax incentive to small businesses and agriculture, where nine out of 10 jobs are created. This means the wealthy will pay more, but I think the 1980's proved that trickle down economics doesn't work; it's time to give trickle-up a chance. If we invest in America's future by spending on education, job training, research and infrastructure, and cut out unproductive investments and frills, we can start to work our way out of debt.

What direction should the country be taking in terms of universal healthcare?

I have introduced legislation which would implement a national health insurance program and restructure the health care system so it is more efficient. The current system is a mess and federal programs are a big contributor to the problem. Rising insurance rates are a reflection of a poorly structured market, and that is where I concentrate my reforms. My bill would reorganize hospitals and other health care facilities into something like school districts. This would eliminate duplication and waste, while ensuring that local people make the decisions. Health care practitioners would be paid under state negotiated fee schedules. Finally, the plan eliminates underwriting by insurance companies and sets a single national rate. Add to this a reform of medical malpractice and standardized forms, and we will be able to squeeze $120 billion at least in savings out of the current system. More control at the state and local level is the key to controlling costs.

Q. Do you support current federal farm programs? Should subsidies and other market protection gradually be phased out?

I would have voted against the 1985 and 1990 farm bills because they didn't offer enough producer protections. In addition, the current farm bill gives the administration discretionary authority over most key issues in the farm program. This administration uses that authority to implement programs that benefit processors and commodity traders by keeping prices low. The victims of this policy are the producers. If the administration was concerned about farm incomes and used the discretionary authority in a positive way, the current farm program would be better for producers.

As long as our competitors in the international marketplace subsidize producer income and exports, we need comparable protections for U.S. producers. It's important to note that the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade (GATT) and the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), negotiated by the administration, do nothing to level the playing field in agriculture. They allow our competitors to retain large subsidy and export programs forcing the U.S. to cut our smaller price support and export programs. The Canadian Free Trade Agreement has actually hurt our market by allowing Canada to maintain transportation subsidies and end use certificates.

I believe that we can institute effective marketing loan programs for wheat, feed grains and oilseeds which will enhance producer income; maintain the existing sugar program, which actually generates revenue for the Treasury; and, use the Export Enhancement Program to increase our international market share. We must also invest in agriprocessing and aggressively promote international sales of value-added products.

"Politics in Minnesota" Predicts DFL Blowout

"Politics in Minnesota," a newsletter written and edited by Wy Spano and D. J. Leary, says that Republican politicians are in big trouble in the state this election year. Spano and Leary are considered to be two of the state's most experienced public affairs consultants and have many contacts in the state's political field. Here is what they have to say in an article in the current issue.

There are signs everywhere that this November's election may further solidify the DFL's hold on Minnesota's political life. Independent Republicans have a lot of problems in this election year. The major problem is George Bush. Various candidate polls around the state suggest that Bill Clinton is leading in every one of Minnesota's 87 counties.

But the IR's problem started before Clinton solidified his presidential lead. Consider these numbers from the September primary: In only nine of the 67 State Senate districts did an IR candidate receive more votes that a DFL candidate. In the 134 House primaries, IR candidates out-polled DFL opponents in just 26 districts. That doesn't mean the IR's will only win nine Senate seats and 26 House seats, but it is a rough indicator of general party affiliation.

The most recent Minnesota Poll on professed political affiliation showed only 36 per cent of Minnesotans now are willing to call themselves Republicans. Fifty-six per cent say they are DFLers. Just a few years ago the two parties were virtually tied at 46 per cent to 47 per cent.

All the campaign data we've seen suggests that, at best, the IR's will keep their current 56-vote minority in the House. If the Clinton sweep in the state reaches down into the legislative races, they could slip under the 45 votes needed to sustain a Gov. Arne Carlson veto. That becomes especially important in light of the governor's vow to veto any DFL tax increase to solve the state's $837 million budget shortfall.

The increasing visibility of the state's pending fiscal deficit seems to have changed some thinking about our incumbent state lawmakers. We've been hearing that some recent polling in Minnesota is beginning to show some anti-legislature sentiment. While similar to the anti-Congress feelings among the national electorate, this Minnesota version isn't nearly as well-defined or as extensive.

If that anti-incumbent feeling grows between now and November 3, it's good news for Republicans. But it's the only possible good news we can see for them this election.

School District Size And Student Success

Following comments are by Vernae Hasbargen, executive director of the Minnesota Rural Education Association, as published in the October 5 issue of the MREA "Voice."

"Minnesota Education Commissioner Gene Mammenga announced recently, "Change must take place." He predicted the new urban majority in the Legislature would reorganize school districts "in a rational manner."

But change has taken place. Districts have responded to legislative incentives. In this issue we recap the many ways rural districts work together to provide their students greater opportunities.

We also look beyond the numbers. We believe it is inconsistent for the commissioner to advocate outcome-based education and charter schools, while calling for consolidation of our smallest districts.

Let's not assume districts of 100 students or more per grade do a better job of meeting learner outcomes than smaller districts. Let's set the standards, then find out if size has anything to do with providing for a sound education.

(Editor's note. Some of the material from the MREA publication will be covered in future editorials.)

Lottery Director Gives Overview On Gambling

Minnesota Lottery director George Anderson provided an overview of gambling in Minnesota at a recent meeting in Alexandria. He said there are now some 20,000 jobs in Minnesota's gambling industry, that lottery sales in the state are up $12 million from a year ago and the average lottery purchase is $4.

He estimates that wagering in Minnesota will hit the $4 billion mark this year, with $2 billion of that amount being gambled in the state's Indian-operated casinos. Without knowing the impact of the thousands of slot machines presently in operation in those casinos, he estimates that the video lottery in Minnesota could produce $600 million in net profits.

Anderson said it is not true that there is a strong anti-gambling tradition in Minnesota. He noted that the lottery has completed extensive research indicating that 70 per cent of Minnesotans participate in some wagering; 25 per cent don't like gambling and only 3.5 per cent are opposed to gaming on moral grounds.

The lottery director said that the state lottery presently has the ability to put KENO into every bar and store in the state. But he startled some in the audience by expressing the view that pull tabs are unconstitutional based on his reading of the Minnesota State Constitution.

We keep expecting that the saturation point will be reached in gambling in Minnesota and that there will be no increasing amount of money available for such pursuits. But apparently that point has not been reached and it may indeed not even exist. Minnesotans and visitors to our state seem insatiable in their gambling desires.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

I'm addressing my concerns to all the voters of Pennington county to take a close look at the county commissioner races in November. It appears to me there is a special interest group in the works to get more representation on the board from the city of Thief River Falls, eliminating the rural community's voice.

The city of Thief River Falls already has the city council working for them. We in the rural areas have our county commissioners. We need to protect that representation by keeping our rural commissioners in office.

When I call my present commissioner he has listened and is trying to take care of my concerns. I don't feel I would have that some attention from a resident of the city. Thief River Falls already has two county commissioners on the board and that is enough. Re-districting may be needed in the future.

The county commissioner has a highly important position. We need intelligent and experienced people on this board to distribute the funds (our taxes) fairly for the health and welfare of all the people in Pennington county. The integrity of that person elected is of utmost importance—someone who will not be influenced by special interest groups.

Sincerely,
Carol Belland

Elsie and Ivan Kimbrough visited Elphie Adlis Saturday evening.

Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom visited Elsie Lefrooth on Sunday.

June Kasprowicz stopped in to see Frank and Judy Kleinvachter Thursday morning.

I had a letter from Longview, WA, this week and it makes me glad to hear that they enjoy the Strandquist news in the paper. I remember how I hurried to read it when I lived out West. Perhaps visiting around in the neighborhood doesn't interest some but it really means that friends and family are doing OK to folks far away.

Nelson LeDoux treated Isaac and Betsy to supper in Thief River Falls Friday evening for Betsy's birthday.

Senior Citizens Meet

The Strandquist Senior Citizens met on Thursday with almost all members attending and several guests. They tied a quilt, stuffed toy animals and pillows. Pastor Doug and Shirley Norquist and daughters, Grete and Karin, were there and were introduced to the group. Anna Setten served a delicious lunch, and Vance Lefrooth won the door prize. Among the other guests there were Yvonne Boen, Mabel Stromberg, Alyce Anderson, Toni Kasprowicz now of Argyle, Vance Lefrooth and Gula Stromgren. We find this gathering a good source of keeping in touch with neighbors and friends. Remember you only have to be 55 years old to belong and after that you can't believe how fast the years fly by, so come and get acquainted with a nice group of folks from around here.

The Strandquist Junior Citizens at the Tri-County School are again favoring us with some of their news for which I am grateful.

A Columbus Day program will be presented by the 2nd graders celebrating the 500th anniversary of Columbus' landing in North America. The brief 15-minute program will begin at 10:45 on Monday, October 12. Columbus Day in the Strandquist Gym and all parents and interested people may attend. The program will feature a dialogue with narration and a variety of lively songs relating to the famous story of Columbus' voyage to America with his three ships from Spain. Many of the students will be featured in speaking roles, and all will join in the music directed by Mrs. Kathy England, Tri-County Elementary Music specialist.

Mrs. Marciyn Helling and Jayne Schindele are the 2nd grade classroom teachers at the Strandquist site, and are assisting with the program. "Columbus Discovers America" will be an entertaining way to celebrate this 500th anniversary.

June Kasprowicz took Frank and Judy Kleinvachter, and Russell Larson up to Northwest Angle on Sunday, and drove through the Northwest Angle Forest coming home by Lancaster.

Albert and Eileen Stromlund of Harrisburg, AR, and Dorothy Rood of Thief River Falls visited Elsie Lefrooth on Saturday afternoon as well as having lunch with her on Sunday after the morning church service.

Mark and Mary Larson and sons, Jordan and Jacob of Otsego, were weekend guests at the Phillip Boen farm. Sunday visitors were Krista, Brent, Mark and Matt Proloux of Crookston, and Paul, Jackie, Chelsea and Chase Boen of Karlstad.

We were happy to see George Rasmussen back here in Karlstad even for a few days. He arrived here on Saturday with LaVerne and Beverly Rasmussen of Buffalo Grove, IL, where he had been staying the past months. Glen and Audrey Rasmussen of Walker also came to attend Isaac and Betsy Thompson's 50th wedding anniversary, and they returned to their home on Monday. Rev. Virgil Rasmussen and his wife, Ruth of Minneapolis conducted the service at the Gospel Tabernacle on Sunday, and plan to take George back with them to the Cities. The weather has been so nice these past two weeks that we can truly say it has been a real "Indian Summer" something we didn't see much of this past year.

Those who came to Peter E. and Pearl Thompson's to help them celebrate their wedding anniversary on Thursday at a potato dumpling supper were LaVonne Johnson, Donny, Becky, Michelle and Jeremy Johnson, David, Rhoda and Brant Thompson, and Elsie Lefrooth.

Phillip and Yvonne Boen attended the installation service of Pastor Norquist at the Salem church on Sunday evening. Pastor Norquist also has the Bethesda church to service.

Frank and Judy walked over to the Kittleson residence and had birthday cake and coffee with Alyce Anderson on Friday afternoon. In the evening Alvin Holmstrom and Judy Kleinvachter visited Ellen Stromberg and Frank Grochowski.

Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom, Elaine Grovum of Thief River Falls, Mary and Donna Renstrom and Pearl Thompson visited with Elsie Lefrooth after attending the 50th anniversary celebration for Isaac and Betsy Thompson at the Center in Karlstad.

The Strandquist Senior Citizens went in the bus to the Argyle Seniors meal site for dinner on the 8th. They served on the average between 60 and 70 people, and has had as many as 100 people every Thursday for the noon meal. The Strandquist Seniors enjoyed the meal and visited for a while and returned to Strandquist, and met at the Center. There were 12 members and three guests. The ladies worked on a quilt that had been ordered, and later had a potluck lunch.

I had the pleasure on Monday morning of attending the play "Columbus Discovers America" at the Strandquist site of the Tri County School given by the Second grade class under the direction of Mrs. Kathy England, Tri-County elementary music specialist and assisted by Mrs. Marciyn Helling and Jayne Schindele, the second grade classroom teachers. The performance was excellent, and all knew their roles and all the songs were memorized.

First we were welcomed by Zachary Pettis. Tyler Lindstrom was Columbus and had several times to recite. The King of Portugal was Nathon Shoblom and King Ferdinand of Spain was John Folland and Queen Isabella of Spain was Autumn McHam. The two sailors were Erich Schalfauser and Zachary Green. The narrators were Christina Kalinowski, Janelle Pietruszewski, Jessica Berg, Amanda Honson, Danielle Langehaug, Kayla Berberich, and Sara Kleinwachter. Grete Norquist gave a thank you speech as a finale. We all learned that this was not only the 500th anniversary of the discovery of America, but also the first "Pledge of Allegiance" was said 100 years ago on this day.

Sunday October 4th, Taylor Lynn Lefrooth was baptised at Bethesda Lutheran church. She is the daughter of Loyal and Shelley Lefrooth. Pastor Doug Norquist officiated and sponsors were Margaret and Jeff Donaldson, Tim and Connie Storeby, Marlin and Doreen Nelson, Henry and Venette Pettis, Jerry Donaldson and Brent Donaldson.

Earl Sihlberg returned home on Thursday after having surgery on Monday morning. He made a remarkable recovery and all goes well but Ebba wishes he would not be sleep walking, and tumbling about in the kitchen after hours, he could get hurt. She is looking forward to the time when he can get in the wood again, but she says it isn't too bad, as she is so bent over it isn't too far to pick up the wood. While Earl was in the hospital, Kelly Donarski, Viola Fredricks, and Margaret Donaldson chauffered Ebba to Karlstad to visit him. It pays to have nice neighbors.

Weekend visitors at Morris and Marcelyn Lindstrom's were Jeff, Peggy and Jarad Lindstrom of Akeley, Bob and Pat Lindstrom and Walter Lindstrom of Drayton, ND, Lori and Ted Johnson and family of Hallock visited there on Friday evening.

A week ago Wednesday Gen Johnson brought a delicious supper to the Isaac Thompsons which they and their houseguests enjoyed emmensely. Thanks, Gen!

Sunday afternoon Frank and Judy Kleinvachter took Ellen Stromberg along to visit Bud and Marie Staffen at Argyle. On Wednesday Frank and Judy brought Bud a birthday cake.

725 Tons Of Scrap Metal Collected Here to Date

"The fall scrap metal collection campaign, which is still in progress in Pennington county, has netted a total of 725 tons of salvage from all parts of the county up to the first of the week, it was announced by F. R. Hageman of the implement dealers' committee which is cooperating with the county salvage committee in an effort to have all possible scrap assembled in the city before winter sets in. It is hoped that when the campaign ends, the county's goal of 1,000 tons will be been achieved."

From The Editorial Page

"When you attend the football game tomorrow night (which you will want to do of course because it is a benefit game, the proceeds going to a worthy oganization) make a mental note on how dark it is in front of the school. There is a lot of night traffic on the sidewalks in that neighborhood. If you think the street lighting is inadequate, write a letter to your alderman and then forget about it until the war is over."

And Another One...

"While it lasted, we had a beautiful fall. No reason to complain about the arrival of winter however. When winter comes it will be the first one we have had in two years."

Building Permits Down in T.R. Falls

"The value of building permits issued in Thief River Falls during the six month period, April through September 1942, was 87 per cent below that for the similar six months of 1941, according to figures just released by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. Residential and other non-industrial building throughout reporting centers in Minnesota show an average decline of 73 per cent, reflecting government wartime restrictions and scarcity of materials."

$1 For Biggest Onion Brought In By Saturday

"With several sizeable onions entered in the Times 'Can You Beat It?' department, a prize of $1 will be awarded to the gardener bringing into the Times office not later than Saturday, October 25, 1942 the largest locally raised onion specimen."

—It isn't a healthful condition when so many voters yawn on being reminded that Election Day is less than two weeks distant.

—One thing about the 35-mile-an-hour speed limit is that it gives motorists a chance to get acquainted with the landscape.

—Scrap drives throughout the state are going over in a big weigh.

—We trust Governor Stassen's ego wasn't unduly inflated by the laudatory sketch of his career in the latest issue of Life magazine.

—Reading the Minnesota Leader, official organ of the state Farmer-Labor association, one would never suspect that Hjalmar Petersen is a candidate for governor.

—OPA Prepares Onion Ceiling: Headline. That's one job that should make even the bureaucrats weep.

—One doesn't hear much these days about iron crosses being awarded by Hitler. The metal shorage presumably is to blame.

—A tire manufacturer truly advertises that tire life ends at forty.

—It has been properly suggested that we change the phrase "For the Duration" in favor of "Until Victory."

—Those folks whose ambition it was to sell something to the government may now sell all their tires in excess of five per car.

—Just to show how the war is making its impression on the country, we might mention that last week's issue of the Times carried 23 stories with a war angle.

—We don't know what the weather will be like when the paper comes out, but this verse fit the situation when it was written:

You'll have to admit it if you are sober,
What is so rare as a day in October?

"The completion of the extension of the Great Northern railway to Thief River Falls found the denizens of that neighboring burg in a wonderfully happy frame of mind. Conductor H. T. Murray was the recipient of an elegant silver conductor's lantern of the latest pattern and Engineer M. B. Milligan was presented with an elegant silver locomotive clock by the appreciative citizens, as tokens of their gratitude to the conductor and engineer who took the first train into their village. The occasion was a felicitous one and was highly enjoyed by all who participated."

IN MEMORY OF CATHY McKERCHER WHO LEFT US OCTOBER 9

God saw that you were ready
He did what he thought best
He put His arms around you and whispered
"Come and Rest"
He opened up His Golden Gate
On that heart breaking day
And with His arms around you
You gently slipped away
It broke our hearts to loose you
A part of us went with you,

Minnesota Landscape Art: More Than Just a Pretty Place is a traveling exhibition from the Minnesota Historical Society which explores natural settings, industrial enviornments, and places as touchstones for the study of changes on the landscape over time. Images such as this picture will be on display at Northland Community College between November 7 and December 13.

MN landscape art on display at Northland CC

Minnesota landscape art will be the subject of an art exhibition at Northland community college between November 7 and December 13.

Minnesota Landscape Art: More than just a pretty place, a touring exhibition on loan from the Minnesota Historical Society, explores how artists have pictured Minnesota for 150 years. The 37 images in the exhibition are repraduced in color from the collections of the Minnesota Historical Society. The exhibition opens on Wednesday, November 7, at Northland Community College and continues until December 13.

The exhibition looks at landscape art in three broad categories. In "Natures Inspiration" the variety of the land — lakes, prairies, forests, inland sea — is matched by the many ways of transforming it into artwork. Geographers term the land that has been transformed by people as the built environment. In "Human Aspirations" artists depict the interplay between the natural environment and human activities — farming, logging, mining — as both constructive and threatening. "The Many Faces of a Place" focuses on notable features which have attracted artists for decades — Lake Superior, St. Anthony Falls, the Mississippi River at Red Wing. These artists present evidence of change to the land, to how people live and work, and to the styles artists use to portray the land. Through the three categories of Minnesota Landscape Art the viewer is introduced to more than recognizable images of places, but to the artists' ideas as they made their art.

The NCC art gallery is open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Life in the Navy during W.W. II was sink or swim

by Donna Myhrer
Times Community Editor

October 1942: ...Battle of El Alamein (Egypt); Good Enough Island taken by Australian troops.

At the end of October, 1942, Edwin Quam of Thief River Falls shipped out to Africa on a former luxury liner, the USS Edward Rutledge. A few hours after landing at a port near Casablanca, the ship was hit by a torpedo from a German submarine and sunk. For Edwin this was especially frightening because he hadn't yet learned to swim.

Edwin Quam

Edwin had grown up on a farm near McIntosh and joined the Navy in early 1942 because "I didn't want to sleep with snakes and lizards." He trained for six weeks at the Great Lakes naval base in Illinois and then was assigned to the "Edward Rutledge," which carried 1400 men and all their food and equipment to North Africa. They entered the bay where they landed early in the morning of November 11 and Edwin remembers joking about whether they might be hit in two days on Friday, the 13th. The Germans were quicker than that however and the ship was hit on the 12th. There were actually a total of five ships sunk at about the same time, with one the night before and three on the same day.

Edwin, who was a cook, was in the mess hall at the back of the ship, as supper was being served, when the first torpedo hit the front of the ship. He was already wearing a life jacket and raced halfway up the stairway to the deck. The second torpedo hit the electrical room, which was closer to the mess hall, while he was on the stairs. It knocked him back to the bottom.

The ship took about a half hour to sink. During this time, Edwin reached the deck and crawled down a net on the side of the ship, because he said it was too far to jump. He paddled toward each of the rescue boats, which immediately came out from shore in swells of 10 to 12 feet high, but at first they each said they were full and to wait for the next one. "I was last one they picked up." Meanwhile other ships were dropping depth charges to get the submarine and Edwin says he could feel each one go off and then feel a pain (a sort of concussion) in his stomach. He recalls that when the ship was sunk, "we lost 17 soldiers and all the electricians because it was in the middle of a shift change."

After being rescued, Edwin stayed in a community by that bay for two nights and slept in the church there. They then took a cattle train to Casablanca and headed home on Victory ships for 30 days of "survivor's leave."

Edwin was then assigned to the USS Mobile or "Mighty Mo," a light cruiser which took him through the Panama Canal (the prettiest place I had ever seen.") and then to San Francisco and Hawaii in July 1943. From there they bombarded a long list of small islands, looking for the Japanese fleet. Some islands were attacked because there were Japanese soldiers on them and some, like Truk Island, Edwin says, only to keep the Japanese from using the airport facilities there. He served aboard ship for one year and one day before coming home again.

He recalls a raid on Guam on the Fourth of July and says they celebrated with "fireworks!" from the big guns.

Was the food good? "I was a cook. You're blame right it was good." He remembers serving spaghetti, salisbury steak, veal cutlets, chili and, for Christmas in 1944, the menu included roast turkey, cranberry sauce, potatoes, gravy, dressing, pickles, olives, cole slaw, peas, fruitcake, hard candy, nuts, apple pie, rolls, ice cream, milk and cigars. He adds that his brother, who was serving in the Army Air corps, would sneak over to visit as often as he could because the food was better on the ship.

During a 20-day leave to Long Beach, CA, Edwin arranged to marry Lyla Steen there and managed a few days for a honeymoon before heading out for Okinawa again in search of the Japanese fleet. By the time his ship reached there, however, most of the fighting was already over.

He was discharged on Oct. 4, 1945 and stayed in Minneapolis for a while, then moved to Thief River Falls in 1947 and worked in Warren for a while before beginning a 30-year career at Bridgeman as a warehouse man.

In the spring of 1942, Orion Beich, then a bank teller in Benson, joined the Home Guard and, as his friends began to be drafted, decided to enlist in the Navy. Like Edwin Quam, Orion didn't know how to swim and says the Navy promised to teach him, but the training was being rushed by quickly, they just kept saying to wait until he arrived at the next base. He also trained at the Great Lakes Naval base, then was sent to Ohio to study radio codes and procedures. He recalls that they had classes night and day.

Orion Beich

Later as a Radio Man Third Class he was assigned to an armed guard unit for a merchant ship. The unit included two signal men, two radio men, eight gunners. They went in a convoy of 60 ships to North Africa and land troops and supplies at Oran for the invasion there.

On his second ship Orion returned to North Africa. He recalls some of the protective measures taken to keep the ships from being hit by torpedos and bombs. The ships were equipped with big tubs which could be opened to throw a smoke screen big enough to hide the whole convoy. Each ship had a barrage balloon 500 feet in the air and also a network of cables to repel torpedos.

Orion was then assigned to another merchant ship to take specialized troops to Persia (or Iran as it is now known). They also carried forty P40 airplanes crated on deck and 400 trucks below deck. The ship took a zigzag course because of German submarines in the Caribbean, but unfortunately its sister ship was hit by a torpedo and sunk there. Orion recalls that his ship was also hit, but the torpedos were duds.

In order to avoid the German submarines they went through the Panama Canal, to New Zealand, then past India and into the Persian Gulf. While unloading there, Orion says it was 165 degrees in direct sunlight and 130 degrees in the shade.

The specialized troops and equipment was destined for Russia as a part of the lend-lease program. They remained in port for 31 days and reloaded with oil and sailed around Africa, across the Atlantic and around Cape Horn. They then travelled north to the Panama Canal and back to the United States. This secret mission lasted five months and took 38,030 miles to complete.

Orion was then sent to San Francisco and assigned to a mine sweeper which left for Hawaii and then hit rough seas on its way to New Guinea. He says that was the closest he ever got to being seasick. They were behind schedule in reaching New Guinea, so there was only time to refuel the ship and no time to load food and water. The crew ran out of everything except rice and had it "three times a day and for dessert." Since they were out of water, they were each allotted one bottle of beer and one bottle of Coca Cola per day.

They swept mines on the coastline of Leyte in the Philippines and assisted the Army with the invasion there. He says that they were among the first ships to observed komakaze suicide planes in action when six of them tried to sink a supply ship. Five of them missed their target and the sixth was shot down.

Orion remembers that he got permission to come ashore at the Philippines to see his cousin, who was an aide to a general. While there, he observed General MacArthur coming ashore and heard his famous line, "I have returned." There was a floating dock available, but Orion says MacArthur came to shore on an LCI, amphibious vehicle, and then waded ashore as the newsreel cameras recorded the event.

Orion also tells about how, while on board ship, he wrote a "newspaper" with baseball scores and other

Dear Friends,
Many times, parents try to shield children from grief. When a death occurs, they are whisked off to stay with a friend or neighbor. However, children are very sensitive to the feelings of adults, and they know something is terribly wrong at home. I'm not saying that children should not stay with a sitter, but some time during the crisis, take time to gently talk to them about the death. Take your child's questions at face value and answer them honestly.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

Polaris expects earnings increase for current year

Polaris Industries Partners L.P. announced third quarter sales and earnings results and predicted record sales and earnings for the year.

Polaris General Partner Victor Atkins said "Sales for the year are expected to increase by approximately 25 per cent to a record $370 million due to increased sales of snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles and personal watercraft.

"Earnings are expected to increase at a lesser rate due to start-up costs related to the new personal watercraft as well as Canadian Dollar and Japanese Yen currency fluctuations."

For the three months ended September 30, the Partnership reported sales of $121,548,000 and net income of $15,850,000 compared with sales of $124,001,000 and net income of $22,304,000 for the same period for 1991. Net income per unit was $1.57 versus $2.33 for the same period last year.

For the first nine months of 1992 Polaris reported sales of $277,242,000 — an increase of 16 per cent over last year's sales of $239,312,000 for the same period. Net income of $24,164,000 compares with net income of $29,822,000 for the prior year-to-date period.

Results for the third quarter reflect the fact that, as in prior years, certain quarter-to-quarter comparisons may not be comparable because of differences in product mix and timing of shipments. Because of increased demand for ATVs, Polaris shifted more higher-margin snowmobile sales historically recorded in the third quarter to the fourth quarter, which resulted in the decrease in sales and earnings for the third quarter.

Polaris also plans to declare its next quarterly distribution of $1.25 per unit in December. The distribution will be payable on or about February 15 to unit holders of record on December 15.

Polaris Industries Partners L.P. is a master limited partnership which owns and operates Polaris Industries L.P. Polaris designs, engineers, manufactures and markets snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) and personal watercraft for recreational and utility use. Polaris Industries Partners L.P. trades on the American Stock Exchange and Pacific Stock Exchange under the symbol "SNO."

Just a Little Habit

I've always been embarrassed about a little habit of mine. My children know about it, and so do my good friends, but it made me uncomfortable to talk about it and I felt it wasn't something I wanted to tell anyone else because they might think I was strange.

However, I recently found out that I am not the only person with this little habit, and I feel much better now.

My little habit is a type of hoarding. You see, I like to do several types of needlework, a little knitting, a little crocheting, a little quilting, a little of whatever craft comes along that looks interesting.

It usually happens that I see a beautiful crafty or needlework something or other somewhere and decide that I must do it. I immediately run out to buy whatever material is needed for the project, come home, sit down and start right in.

However, the problem is that while I am working on my present something or other, I will see some other beautiful something or other, and immediately run right out and buy the material needed for that project and then come home, sit down, and start right in on the new project.

Meanwhile, the previous project is sitting there unfinished.

Now this might not be so bad if it only happened a few times, but the problem is that it has happened many times. It has happened so many times, in fact, that I have many, many unfinished projects.

I also have lots of supplies for my projects, because, you see, when I buy the materials for one project, I often buy materials for two or three more projects. I just know I will enjoy whatever it is so much that I will want to make several of them. That's understandable, right?

But all of these projects and all of these supplies do add up a bit. In fact, I have so many unfinished projects and so much yarn, crochet thread, fabrics, sewing thread, felt, assorted buttons and bows, ribbons and ric-rac, as well as all of the leftovers from the projects I began and actually completed, and books that tell me how to do all of these things, that I am rather overrun with project stuff.

I have a place to keep my supplies in a large cupboard in my upstairs hall, but I have long since outgrown my cupboard. My materials are stuffed in boxes, bags and baskets in various places all over my house.

I mentioned before that I have been housecleaning, a little, so, naturally, I have been finding all sorts of wonderful projects and materials that I forgot I had. Actually, I even got to feeling a little guilty and embarrassed about having all of these supplies and uncompleted projects. I didn't dare tell anyone for fear they would think I was a bit strange.

But I watched a television program last weekend. I just happened upon it, but I am sure I was meant to see it.

During the program, several people who do handicrafts and needlework were interviewed about their work habits and projects.

Guess what! Every single one of them had hoards of materials and supplies all around their house, and many of them had several unfinished projects lying around, too. They were just like me!

One lady had a closet filled with unfinished sweaters and knitted objects. Another had bags and bags of yarn that she kept pulling out from underneath her living room couches and chairs. Several of the people admitted to buying supplies every time they came across a sale, and many said their closets and cupboards and the space under their beds were filled with bags of materials and supplies and unfinished projects.

I was so happy to see that other people do what I do. I don't feel odd at all now.

In fact, I feel so good that I think I will run out and buy some yarn to make a baby sweater for my granddaughter this week. Maybe I will get enough for two or three so I can make different sizes as she grows. Good idea?

Seventh District congressional race heats up

Bernie Omann (IR)
Congressman

Collin Peterson (DFL)
Congressman

My name is Bernie Omann, and I am the endorsed Independent-Republican candidate for Congress the Seventh Congressional District. I am seeking your support for my candidacy because I believe I can make a difference in Washington.

Born and raised on a dairy farm in rural Stearns county, I continue to operate the family farm with my brother. My wife, Dana, and I have a 11-month old son, Ben. I am involved in my local church and many community organizations.

Growing up, I attended Sartell and St. Stephen public schools. After high school, I attended Brainerd Community College and graduated with a B.A. degree from St. Cloud State University.

For the past six years, I have served the people of Stearns County in the Minnesota House of Representatives, serving on the Agriculture, Appropriations, Health and Human Services, Economic Development, Education, Government Operations and Local and Urban Affairs committees.

I decided to enter this Congressional race at the urging of a great many people in the 7th district. I am concerned about the future my new son and future generations will face if things do not change in Congress.

In my view, the number one problem facing this nation is the $3.8 trillion national debt. If something is not done soon, within a decade each man, woman and child in the country will owe $120,000 just to pay the interest on the debt. That is not the kind of future I want my son to face. It is because of this problem that I took the lead or leave pledge. In this pledge I state, if the federal debt is not cut in half in four years I will leave Congress.

In order to reduce the federal deficit, I propose a flexible freeze on all federal spending until the deficit is erased.

In the area of education, I propose allowing parents greater choice in where they are able to send their children to school and I support reforms to empower parents and teachers to improve our school system.

In the area of health care, we need tort reform and other cost containment initiatives, as well as incentives for health care delivery in rural areas.

All of these things are important, but none of them will be accomplished unless fundamental changes are made in the way Congress does business. To that end, I have proposed a 17-point plan for the reform of Congress including, among other things: strict limits on campaign contributions from special interest PACs, 12-year term limitations for all members of Congress, the elimination of all of Congress's special privileges and significant restrictions on the use of Congress's free mailing privileges. I have also pledged to voluntarily abide by these reforms, even if they are not adopted by Congress.

It is time to return to the concept of the citizen-congressman. We must move away from individuals making careers out of Congress and focusing all of their efforts on getting re-elected rather than solving the problems of the nation.

I believe I can make a difference. I am asking for your support.

To My Seventh District Constituents:

It has been my honor to represent the residents of the Seventh District, and Thief River Falls in particular, in the U.S. House of Representatives for the past two years. I have worked hard to learn the ropes and have done my best to represent your interests.

I was born and raised in the Seventh District and understand the challenges we face. I was born in 1944 and grew up on a farm just outside of Glyndon. I graduated from Moorhead State University with a degree in accounting and later was licensed as a certified Public Accountant. During and after college I served in the U.S. Army National Guard. I am the father of three sons.

I started my own accounting firm in Detroit Lakes in 1968, working for small businesses, farmers, and a host of other clients. This gave me insight into the problems you face and a clear understanding of what government can do to improve things. It also taught me how government can make things worse and gave me a good idea of areas the government should stay out of.

This experience paid off during my 10 years as a State Senator. I chaired the commission which reformed the state's pension laws and helped pass the Farm Property Tax Reduction Act, which reduced tax rates 16 per cent. I also led the effort to simplify Minnesota's tax system. Finally, I played a key role in establishing the state's ethanol industry. I was also a leader on environmental and conservation issues, and am once again endorsed by the League of Conservation Voters.

I have continued to work on these issues in Washington. Serving on the Agriculture and Government Operations committees has allowed me to work on agriculture issues, develop a comprehensive national health care reform proposal, push for greater use of ethanol fuel, and develop tax reform legislation to aid small businesses and farmers.

If there is one thing I am proudest of, it is my health care reform proposal. Rising health care costs are a terrific burden on families and businesses, and are also a major contributor to the rising federal deficit. Controlling costs and ensuring access are absolutely necessary. My proposal, developed with the assistance of a 55 member Task Force of Seventh District residents, reforms the health care market to cut health insurance costs by one-third. The plan should squeeze $180 billion in paperwork and waste out of the current system.

Economic development is also a priority. I am the only congressman with a full-time economic development director working in his district office. We serve as a catalyst between communities and companies, and the various sources of private and public sector funds to make sure new jobs are created in our communities.

I've also done my homework, holding over 80 town meetings, hosting hearings on health care, wheat and feed grain prices, and dairy issues, and spending almost every weekend in the district.

In the next two years, Congress must work to reduce the deficit, enact health care reform, and get our economy back on track. I believe I have the knowledge and the experience to do what must be done. I think I'm off to a good start and would appreciate your vote in the upcoming election so I can finish the work we have started.

Clark. . .

I would like to thank The Times for this forum to communicate to the voters some facts about myself and my views about our school district.

My wife Jamie and I live in Smiley township in rural Thief River Falls. We have four children. Joshua and Amanda attend Franklin Middle school and Melissa and Benjamin attend Northrop elementary. I attended Abilene Christian University in Abilene, TX, and am currently-employed by Brodin Sheet Metal Inc., as a system designer and salesman. We are members of First Baptist church, where I have served on the trustee board and Jamie and I have served for four years as high school youth leaders. I am also a member of the Kiwanis club and currently serve on the board of directors.

Serving on the School Board the last three years has been an exciting opportunity. There have been many positive changes in our district. Advanced placement classes at Lincoln, and Tech Prep will provide greater educational opportunities for our students. Curriculum review by the PER committee will continue to increase the quality of education being provided in our district.

A move by our district toward site-based management with the establishment of leadership teams in our buildings will allow decisions to be made closer to the students they affect.

The implementation of a middle school philosophy at Franklin will better serve the needs of this age group of students both academically and socially. This change has provided teachers with flexibility in planning and scheduling the core curriculums and inter-disciplinary teaching will help reinforce concepts taught in math, science, English and social studies. Advisors are available to monitor, counsel, and provide a helping hand and friendly smile to students as they go through the year.

A volunteer program was started two years ago in the elementary schools. This has grown to the middle school and was expanded to the high school this year. Our volunteer program has been a wonderful asset to our school system, as many people in our community donate their time and talents to help in the classrooms and offices. The volunteers sharing their special talents with our young people are positive role models and we thank them for their commitment to our schools.

Our school district was chosen to be a magnet arts site for the Seventh Congressional District. This will provide more opportunities in the arts area for our students as well as to students who will come here from other communities to attend our school.

We experienced great pride at the dedication of a new addition at Lincoln which included a new library media center, new science classrooms and a new gym. The remodeling of some other spaces at Lincoln have provided a better learning facility for students in an atmosphere that is comfortable and safe.

There is one area of concern in our district and that is the budget. It has become increasingly more difficult to continue to provide the high quality programs that we do and to implement new programs to benefit our students because of shifting funds from the state level and the possibility of no new additional funding coming in the near future. We are forced to work as efficiently as we can with the dollars that we have available and we need to continue to search for ways to improve our efficiency.

I have been very impressed with the dedication of the people who are employed in our district. The motto "Kids Come First" seems to permeate all areas of the district.

I believe that an elected official at any level is a servant of the people they represent. I wish to thank those people who have communicated their concerns to me over the past three years regarding the various aspects of our school district. I appreciate this communication and I encourage those who are not involved in our schools to take sometime to participate on a committee or to be a volunteer at any one of the schools. Your involvement can only make our schools better for our students.

Thank you for the privilege of serving you for the last three years. I am looking forward to another three year term on the school board and would appreciate your vote on Tuesday, November 3rd.

Davis . . .

I have been married to George Davis for 23 years. We have five sons: Paul, Mark, Joel, John and Luke. We moved to Thief River Falls in 1987, when my husband became Pastor of Faith Lutheran Brethren church and Silverton Lutheran church. We have been personally involved with the schools in Thief River Falls as our children have attended elementary, middle and high school here.

I am a graduate of Sioux Falls, SD, practical nursing, Lutheran Brethren Bible College and Northland Community College.

I was active in nursing as an LPN for over 20 years. I worked as a school nurse at Hillcrest academy in Fergus Falls. At present I am working as a registered nurse in the Good Samaritan Nursing Center in East Grand Forks. I am also attending the University of North Dakota in Grand Forks, ND, to further my education in nursing.

Before moving to Thief River Falls my husband and I farmed near Larimore, ND. We also owned and operated the Snack Shop in Larimore.

I enjoy working with youth and have been actively involved in the youth work of our church. My husband and I have been licensed foster parents for several years. At present we have a 14-year-old foster son.

The school affects every home in Thief River Falls. A major portion of our tax dollar goes to provide education for our children. I want to see that the children of our community receive a quality education from the large investment that the community puts into the school system.

We have been promised a large amount of money from our state government to provide facilities to improve the quality of education. Every effort should be made to use this money in a way that the plans and promises concerning the new school become a reality.

Our goal should be to continue to have teachers that have the ability and desire to understand and motivate students as well as have knowledge to teach them.

The school affects our children and should reflect the true faith and true moral stands. This can be accomplished with the cooperation of the school board, administration, staff, church and community at large.

Kiesow. . .

As a candidate for re-election to the school board of Independent School District 564, I am interested in continuing to work for quality education for our children. I feel I am making a valuable contribution to the district and want to continue to do so.

I am completing my sixth year on the board and serve as vice chair. I represent the board on the Center School Governing board, Community Education Advisory board and Indian Education committee. I am the board representative on the newly formed Northwest Technical College District board and serve as clerk. I also serve on numerous subcommittees for the Northwest Technical College Thief River Falls campus.

The past six years have been positive and exciting for education in Thief River Falls. The student drop out rate was studied which resulted in the Alternative Learning Center that gives our students a second chance to complete their education. The Magnet Arts School and Tech Prep were started to provide additional opportunities for our students by enhancing their basic education. The district is also moving toward "site based management" and individualized learning plans for our students.

Because of State mandate, the Thief River Falls Technical College was merged with five other colleges to form Northwest Technical College because of state mandate. This separated the Technical Colleges from the control of the K-12 board of education giving it to a newly formed governing board consisting of one board member from each local board of education. The interests of Thief River Falls and the area have been a concern, but as a member of the Northwest Technical College Governing board, I continue to work for results beneficial for our area and the students served by our College.

Our district, like others in rural Minnesota, face challenges in the future. Forecasts of state deficits and cuts to local budgets will require creative thinking to maintain the quality of education without raising taxes. I feel District 564 has already started solving this problem with reorganization and elimination of old inefficient buildings. Open communications with teachers and staff have also provided the opportunities for budget restraints without affecting the educational program available for students.

I feel strongly that with good leadership, cooperation with local government and involvement of the public we in Thief River Falls can become known for providing outstanding education. If re-elected, I will continue to work for you to provide quality education for our students.

Personally, I am married to Sue Thompson Kiesow, and am father of Denise who works in Minneapolis, David who attends the University of Minnesota at Duluth and Daryl who is at Lincoln high school. I have worked for the Thief River Falls police department for 21 years and have served as patrolman, juvenile officer an investigator. I serve on the Credit Committee for the Pennington county and Municipal Credit Union, am a member of the American Legion and attend St. John Lutheran church.

I ask for your support and encourage you to re-elect me to the school board of Independent School District 564. Thank you.

Twomey . . .

Serving on the District 564 School Board for the past three years has been a rewarding and challenging experience for me. The educational opportunities in Thief River Falls have expanded and are continuing to expand even more as we move into the 21st Century.

Some of the valuable insight I've gained comes from serving on several district and city/school related committees. One of the committees I've served on since I've been on the board is the PER committee. this consists of teachers, board representatives, parents, and community members who review and evaluate curriculum on a yearly basis to ensure continuity in subject matter from kindergarten through grade 12. Courses of study are also reviewed periodically to make sure they cover the material they're intended to cover. All subject areas are scheduled to go through the PER committee on a six-year review cycle.

Another interest of mine has been serving on the Technology committee. This group of enthusiastic educators plans and controls the growth and direction of computer technology in our district. They serve as the catalyst for improving the use of computers in the classrooms and for monitoring the purchase of software programs to avoid unnecessary duplication and expense. Technology growth is limited only by funds available, and we are striving to make all educators in the district computer literate. Thus, all students will have access to knowledgeable teachers and will be comfortable and competent with new technology. We are presently networking all our school buildings so we can share information quickly and efficiently. Attendance, hot lunch tickets, grading, etc., are all examples of how technology can help make our schools operate more efficiently.

Besides these two major committees, I also serve and have served on the Athletic Advisory, OBE (Outcome Based Education), TC Faculty Senate and several other short term assignments as needed. Presently I serve as clerk of the school board.

These past three years have seen additional growth in many aspects of our educational system. Some of the opportunities provided for our students are the addition of the Magnet Arts Program, the Tech Prep curriculum, and the alternative Learning Center. Our Middle School has also adopted a true "middle school" philosophy to help students adjust from a one teacher one classroom form of instruction to a multi teacher multi classroom approach by developing an advisor/advisee relationship and grouping age levels together.

My experience on the board and my background as a teacher at the high school, technical college and junior college level show my commitment to education. Also, I served as the director of Northland Community Hospice for four years and have lived in Thief River Falls for almost 20 years. I'm married with two teen age children (Jeff and Karrie), both attending Lincoln high school. I have both the time and the interest to continue serving on the school board.

All in all, the direction School District 564 is moving and the vision we have for the future is both challenging and rewarding to me. I am enthusiastic about the future of education in Thief River Falls and would like to continue to serve on the Board of Education. I would sincerely appreciate your support in the November 3 election.

WIC program reaches out to homeless

New money allocated by the Minnesota Legislature this year will allow the Minnesota WIC program (special supplemental food program for women, infants, and children) to more effectively meet the needs of homeless mothers and children. Special vouchers have been developed to allow for purchasing WIC foods in sizes more conducive to homeless living conditions.

"Meeting the needs of Minnesota's homeless population tends to be a special challenge," said Marlene E. Marschall, Minnesota Commissioner of Health. "Minnesota's WIC program is working to find innovative ways to put its resources to effective use in every special community. For the homeless population, that means foods that are packaged in smaller quantities, and don't require cooking or refrigeration. For example, our special vouchers would allow the purchase of peanut butter instead of eggs, canned beans instead of dried beans and legumes, and smaller containers of milk and juice."

Despite the fact that the Minnesota WIC program served about 85,000 participants each month during the past year, it is estimated that the program is still only reaching about 61 per cent of the people who are potentially eligible.

"It is encouraging to see the continued support that WIC has received at both the federal and state level," Marschall said. "WIC is a program that is obviously working to improve the health of mothers and children, which inevitably has a positive impact on the well-being of our entire state. These are tax dollars very well spent, and we will continue to reach out to the rest of the eligible population."

WIC has been serving eligible participants in Minnesota since 1974, providing selected supplemental foods and other health-related services to mothers and children with special nutritional needs.

Eligible WIC participants include pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to age five. Each participant must be professionally evaluated and found to have special nutrition-related health needs, be a Minnesota resident, and have an income that falls below established guidelines.

Participants in the program are given vouchers that can be used to buy food from grocery stores. The vouchers can only be used for certain kinds of foods that are selected by WIC staff to meet the specific nutritional needs of each participant. Participants also receive nutritional education and are referred for additional health related services.

Minnesota WIC officials have been making a concerted effort over the past few years to get eligible pregnant women into the program. Many potentially eligible women in that group have not been participating in the program, officials say, even though good nutrition is especially important during pregnancy.

The Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) administers WIC in Minnesota, and a statewide network of local WIC agencies is responsible for providing services under the program. To find out who provides WIC services in your area, you can call MDH toll-free at 1-800-942-4030.

WIC is funded primarily by the U.S. Department of Agriculture – although the Minnesota Legislature has also allocated state funds for the program, making it one of the first states to provide local funding for SIC.

WIC is an equal opportunity program, in accordance with policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. Persons who believe they have been discriminated against should write to the Administrator, Food and Nutrition Service, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

The senior citizens met at the center with 13 members and four guests present. Bingo was played until everyone won a prize. Evelyn Kline won the blackout game. Lorraine Sattan was hostess.

Elsie Lefrooth had a most interesting visit from Lois Lindstrom last Thursday. Lois had in her possession a letter dated November 24, 1918 to her father, Walter Johnson, from her grandfather who was a farmer in the Kennedy area. The letter was written in Swedish and Lois was curious to know its contents. I did my best: first he inquired of his son's well being and let Walter know they were all fine; than he said they had just had their first heavy frost but they had managed to get all the crops harvested. Tha harvest had been good in spite of the adverse summer weather of which for four weeks they hadn't seen any sunshine and had lots of rain. He mentioned that they had gotten most of the fall plowing done by one of the men who had used three teams of horses on the gang plow. He concluded by stating they had had a Thanksgiving service at church after the Armistice was signed thanking God for the many boys who would be able to come home alive. Than added that daily he had prayed for Walter's safety. He said at their service there were eleven Gold Stars which represented the soldiers from tha area who had given their lives in combat. Judging by the number of forwarding addresses on both sides of the envelope, it is very probable that Walter could have arrived in Kennedy before their letter.

Gladys Johnson and Elphie Adlis visited Elsie Lefrooth on Wednesday after they had attended the senior citizen center in Karlstad.

LaVoi Thun, Shirley Lefrooth and Myrtle Holmstrom of St. Paul attended the Norse Hostfest at Minot from Thursday through Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe were evening visitors Sunday at LaVoi Thun's home.

Alice Anderson and Melvin Kittelson visited Frank Kleinvechter Tuesday afternoon. Larina and Jessie Berggren visited in the evening.

Wilson Eilertson visited a the Frank Kleinvachter home Wednesday afternoon.

Jennifer Anderson arrived home Thursday from Hamline University in St. Paul. Friday Eva Bernard was a supper guest at Paul and Shirley Anderson's home to visit with Jenny. Saturday Jenny visited Morris and Hazel Anderson.

Sunday the Paul Anderson family were dinner guests of Eva Bernard at TJ's in Karlstad.

Sunday evening Paul and Shirley Anderson and family visited Chana Challee in Grand Forks, ND. Chane took Jenny to the train depot later that night for her return to St. Paul.

Friday afternoon Jenny Anderson visited Alyce Anderson and Melvin Kittleson.

and a new direction in the county board. I provide you with the qualities we are entitled to.

I would like to thank The Times for this opportunity. Please vote for me, Kay Joppru, November 3, 1992. The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Jensen . .

and raised on a farm in Highlanding township. I attended Goodridge school from which I graduated. I served in the army during the Viet Nam conflict from 1970 to 1972. In 1973 I went to work for a construction company out of Chicago, Il. where I was general foreman for five years. From 1979 to present I have operated a diversified beef cattle and grain farm in Highlanding township.

My wife Terry and I have three children, Erik, Neil and Mary Ann.

I am a member of Ekelund Lutheran church where I presently serve on the church council. I am also a member of Farmers Union, National Farmers Organization, the American Legion and the Eagles.

I was elected to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners in 1988 which I chaired in 1991.

I currently am chairman of the Welfare board and Oakland Park Nursing Home board. I also serve on the Juvenile Training Center board, Transportation Advisory committee at the Northwest Regional Development Commission, Inter-County Nursing Service board in addition to other various committees.

I believe one of the main issues facing the county currently is the new wetlands regulations. We must continue to work to retain our right to keep our drainage systems functioning so that agriculture can prosper and therefore cities and towns and the whole community can prosper.

I have enjoyed working for you the people of the first district, and for all of the people of the county for the past four years. I look forward to talking with you in the future.

paign I met so many nice people. While visiting with you, I learned of your concerns and issues. This made me realize we really need to work together to resolve these issues in order to make this a better place to live and to be a more productive community.

I have the experience to serve as your next commissioner. Presently, I am serving as the North township clerk, secretary for the Rural Fire Association and I am a member of the Zoning Ordinance Committee for North township. I have also served on the planning committee for legislature and research, as an election judge and Cub Scout leader. I am a member of Zion Lutheran church and am married To Don Joppru. I am the mother of three children and grandmother of two.

If I get to be your next District 1 County Commissioner, I'll need to know your needs and concerns in order to help serve you better. I feel I can bring balance, equality, Murphy . . .

We have two sons. Kim is with the Cass County sheriff's office in Fargo, ND and Kevin is a special education teacher in Grand Forks, ND. We also have three grandchildren. I am a member of St. Bernard's church, the American Legion and Kiwanis.

I was employed by U.S. West for 36 and one half years until retiring two years ago.

I served as the second ward alderman on the Thief River Falls city council for nine years until elected to the Pennington county board in November of 1990.

While a member of the city council I was also an active member of many state board and commissions, representing Thief River Falls and northwestern Minnesota at the state and regional levels.

Previous to the city council, I served as a member of S.D. 564 for 12 years, plus serving on two regional education boards.

As a member of your Pennington county board I represent you on many local and regional committees, plus serve on a committee of the Minnesota Office of Waste Management and was appointed by the Lt. Governor to work with her on a commission of governmental mandate reform. I also served on the Minnesota department of transportation rules committee.

I consider myself very fortunate to have been able to serve our community for 23 years. Wanda and I have seen quite a few changes over those years. We enjoy living here and working with the people of Thief River Falls. This is a great community and one to take pride in.

We have many organizations and groups at work to improve our community's educational, employment and quality of life opportunities. Even though we have all this effort on the local level, plus the additional requirement placed on us by the state, state agencies and the federal government, we are finding it more difficult to depend on additional financial support from the state level.

This leaves the schools, townships, cities and counties all competing more and more for the same local tax dollar.

As I travel between Thief River Falls and the capital in St. Paul, it has become more obvious that our future in northwestern Minnesota depends on more mutual cooperation and unity.

We have dedicated people working with the advisory groups and committees of the school district, city and county to enhance the opportunities available to all of us. But that is not enough unless we can all benefit from it on a broad base, and bring this information and talent together to be used for the total benefit of the community.

As an example, the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county are exploring the possibility of bi-monthly meetings to discuss common interests.

As another example, the counties of northwestern Minnesota have formed a cooperative to handle Household Hazardous Waste.

We have many other examples of things that are happening in our area. This is not a simple solution to all the problems that we have. But it is very important that we open as many lines of communication between all local units of governments and agencies as possible. We are finding so many points of common interest that it will be in our future benefit to work together wherever possible.

In my 23 years of serve to our community I have tried to base my decisions on fairness not on politics, and with your support we will continue to work together in the future.

in the St. Hilaire area and graduated from high school in Thief River Falls in 1959. After attending college at Gustavus Adolphus for two years, I served in the U.S. Army from 1963 to 1965. In 1967 I graduated from the University of North Dakota with a bachelors degree in Geology. From 1967 to 1975, I was employed as a geologist with the North Dakota State Water Commission. During this time, I was responsible for test-drilling, well-logging, water quality inventory, and data publication for several municipal and county-wide groundwater studies in North Dakota. I have been a Pennington county resident since 1975, when I returned to the St. Hilaire area to farm. Currently, I am a director-agent for Bray-Gentilly Mutual Insurance Co., farm part-time and have a rental business. My wife Mae, and two sons Brian and Scott reside in Polk Centre township.

I have been Polk Centre township clerk for 16 years and have served on the Pennington County Township Officers Association board for 10 years. Currently I am serving on the St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator board, and am chairman of the St. Hilaire Rural Fire Association. My family and I are members of the Black River Lutheran church where I am on the church council.

As a commissioner, I would emphasize more efficient waste disposal at Future Fuels regarding compost and community recycling. Maintaining and improving our county roads should be a priority with regular maintenance, mowing ditches, and periodic inspections by the board to verify road conditions should be emphasized. County health care and human services concern us all and the county board's supervision of these services should make sure that people in need are taken care of and that local tax dollars are being used cost-effectively.

County government is important to all of us for the services it provides and allows residents to see how their tax dollars are spent locally. We need to be responsible [illegible] and rural areas and work together for future community development in Pennington county. County Commissioners are elected by their constituents to supervise local government and community services and to represent the people who asked of them. Representing the Third District is indeed a challenge and priority for me and your support November 3rd will be appreciated.

nington county citizens for decades. Local voters on this November 3 will be making choices that will prepare this county for entrance into the next century. The representatives chosen by the people of Pennington county will need to have a great deal of practical experience to do a good job.

The county board makes frequent important decisions about the infrastructure of the county, including planning the building and repair of roads, bridges and ditches. This takes experience in budgeting and knowing how to evaluate advice from department heads, such as the county attorney and county engineer. These decisions are very similar to hundreds I have participated in as a member of the local school board.

Some of these decisions are unpopular to some people in the constituency. In any controversial choice, I regret that not everyone agrees and I try to explain my reasoning to anyone who asks me about it, as well as seek input from a variety of people before the decision is made.

Another major area of responsibility is the administration of the Social Service programs in the county. In many ways these services, which are often to children and the elderly, parallel the areas I have been interested in, in work I have done both with the schools and as a board member of the Valley Home. In both cases I have become very conscious of the needs of those with handicapping conditions, who depend on the rest of the community for support and development of opportunities.

I would like to add that I am very impressed with examples such as the "Sentence to Serve" program run by the sheriff's department, which allows some inmates of the county jail to do community service in exchange for a reduced sentence. It is commendable that the present board, including Commissioner Albert Koop, has funded a program designed to build self-esteem and give a type of job experience to jail inmates. I strongly support this type of rehabilitation effort.

The county is also responsible for disposal of solid waste. Voluntary recycling is emphasized in this area. I would like to see this encouraged by providing convenient recycling collection points in every township and as low a cost to county residents as possible.

Obviously these are only a few of the areas that the public entrusts to its elected officials. There are many other things to be done.

Over the years, I have spent a lot of time participating in public service. I have never lost sight of who I am responsible to, the voters, for showing me their trust and confidence. I will always try my best to be worthy of that trust.

I would like to thank The Times for that public service in informing the voting public about its candidates so that everyone can make a knowledgeable and responsible choice at the polls.

Thank you voters for allowing me to represent you in our local government. As you may know I have represented our neighborhood for three terms on the Thief River Falls city council and this will be my second term as Fourth District County Commissioner. I study each issue and strive to select the best solution as it affects our county government. My experience, training and desire to serve gives me the courage to ask you to vote for me. I hope you are pleased with my service and will again vote for me when you go to the polls this November. Let me remind you that your phone calls, letters and willingness to be involved is very important to successful local government. Thank you for taking the time to vote for the candidates of your choice.

My past terms in local government have been helped by the love and understanding of my wife Melba and my family who was patient and willing when local government duties called. I am also grateful to my employer, the Minnesota Extension Service, for allowing me flexible working conditions so I could continue my educational work in farm management as well as my duties in local government. The only change will be that I am now retired. Again because of my desire to do what is right for our neighborhood and because of my past service I ask you to support my candidacy for Fourth District County Commissioner for Pennington County.

Swanson . . .

introduce myself to the voters of the fifth commissioner district of Pennington county.

I presently serve as board chairman of the Board of Commissioners and am in my eighth year as commissioner of the fifth commissioner district. As a member of the county board, I also represent and serve the county on several important committees. My eight years of experience on the county board and my varied background has been an asset for me when confronted with issues important to the people of the fifth district and the county.

I strongly support and will continue to support economic development and job creation in Pennington county. I believe it is one of our top priorities. Job creation is a county wide concern and needs creative input from residents throughout the county. New, fresh ideas need to be sought out, possibly using incentives, in order to receive creative yet practical, productive, workable ideas from county citizens.

As a commissioner, I believe in keeping an open mind, asking questions and in debating issues before arriving at decisions. Both sides of important issues, especially if controversial, need to be thoroughly researched. Ideas and concerns of all people affected need to be listened to before an intelligent decision can be made on important issues. After a decision is made, it's necessary to follow through to make sure that board action is promptly, efficiently and economically implemented.

I have effectively worked with townships, villages, city and state on many projects that have benefited not only my constituents but all county citizens.

During the past few years, Pennington county has entered into cooperative agreements with surrounding counties in order to solve mutual problems of hazardous waste and recycling and to save tax payers dollars.

To personally introduce myself to you, I was born and raised on a farm in Sanders township and for the past 32 years have lived in Rocksbury township. I graduated from Lincoln high school in 1953 and served as the class president each year for four years. For the past 28 years I've been self-employed as a building contractor. My previous work experience included employment with the Minnesota Highway department, local office of the Minnesota National Guard, Ranum Construction Company and Home Lumber Company.

I previously served as president and also secretary of the Pennington County Fair Association and currently serve as a director on the board. I have served as an adult leader in the 4-H club program and presently am a member of the St. Hilaire Lions club and Kiwanis. We are members of Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire where I have served as council president, treasurer, Luther League advisor, Sunday School teacher and superintendent.

I and my wife Pat have two sons. Kevin lives in Eagan, has an MBA from Moorhead State and is employed with Yamaha Corporation. Brad lives in Baltimore, has a MS CCC from Texas Tech University and is assistant director and pathologist in the communication brain disorders program of the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services. Plea reached in Bradshaw assault case

Charges of attempted first degree murder against a Thief River Falls man have been dropped in a plea agreement.

Larry Dwayne Bradshaw, 30, Thief River Falls, pled guilty to three counts of second degree assault Monday in a Ninth District court in Pennington county. Bradshaw was facing charges of kidnapping, two counts of assault in the second degree and two counts of attempted first degree murder.

The charges against Bradshaw stem from an incident that took place in the early morning hours of August 23. At 2:56 a.m. on that day police received a report of a female being held at knife point and that her life had been threatened. Police learned from a babysitter that Bradshaw had threatened a woman at knife point and had gone to a mobile home. When police arrived, Bradshaw and the woman were outside. During the confrontation with police, Bradshaw turned a rifle on police officers Craig Mattson and Scott Maslowski. Officers alleged that Bradshaw pulled the trigger but the rifle did not discharge. At the time officers were looking for cover. Bradshaw then allegedly attempted to load another shell in the chamber and it jammed. He then went into the mobile home where set out several other weapons and ammunition. Bradshaw eventually came out of the trailer and was placed under arrest.

During pre-trial testimony, the alleged victim recanted earlier statements to police which indicated that she had been held against her will.

On Monday, Bradshaw's plea of guilty to three counts of second degree assult was accepted. A presentence investigation was ordered, but the plea agreement calls for Bradshaw to serve 48 months in Stillwater State penitentiary. Sentencing is expected to take place in about one month.

Vernon Lee Walseth, 18, Thief River Falls, had pled guilty to felony theft. Walseth was accused of using a bank card that did not belong to him. According to the plea agreement reached in court Monday, Walseth will have to pay about $600 in restitution. A presentence investigation was ordered and sentencing will take place in about one month.

Trial for Chad Donald Grove, 19, Thief River Falls, will be set for December or January. Grove is accused of theft and burglary.

A public defender has been appointed for Stephen Ray Senum, who is accused of failure to report a personal injury accident. Another hearing on the charge is being scheduled.

Grove pleads guilty to theft, terroristic threats

Chad Grove has pled guilty to theft and terroristic threats.

Grove, 19, Plummer, appeared in District court at Hallock on charges of felony theft, kidnapping, terroristic threats and false imprisonment. Charges against Grove stem from several incidents that occurred on or around September 16. On that date, an auto theft occurred und a 17-year-old juvenile female was reported missing from Lake Bronson. Grove also faces charges in Pennington county, and Roseau county.

Following a plea bargain in district court in Hallock, Grove entered a plea of guilty to theft and terroristic threats. A pre-sentence investigation and psychological evaluation was ordered by Ninth District Judge Dennis Murphy.

Grove is being held at the Law Enforcement Center in Pennington county.

information every day and handed it out to the crew. He says that when they were in action and there was no time to make up the paper, he heard about it from the crew.

During his service career, Orion crossed the equator four times and his ship swept for mines on 17 beachheads. After the war ended they swept mines on the Chinese coast and in the shipping lanes near Japan. Their ship, the USS Sentry, had the record of destroying the most (800) mines. When they swept for mines at Corregidor, he recalls that they found every type of mine that existed, including magnetic, cable, radio-controlled and acoustic mines.

At Okinawa, they was hit with a severe typhoon during which six mine sweepers were captured. On one occasion, Orion's ship was ordered to rescue two sailors who had floated ashore. The Sentry received a presidential unit citation and Navy citation commendation.

He was finally discharged in January 1946 and started his classes at the Chicago College of Optometry on the GI Bill almost immediately. After his marriage to Elizebeth KuKuyo, he moved to Thief River Falls in May 10, 1949 to set up a practice here, which kept him busy until his retirement in 1985.

local bank, courthouse and the school district as receptionist/teller, bookkeeper, secretary.

Considerable time is required to effectively serve as county commissioner. Being self-employed, I have made this time available. I have enjoyed serving as your county commissioner during the past eight years. If re-elected, I will continue to give your concerns and ideas the high priority they deserve.

I have served as president of the Occupation Development Center, Thief River Golf club, Lion's club, and Northland College Foundation. I have also served on several other boards such as the Chamber of Commerce, Minnesota Food Retailers, Hartz Foods, and the L.B. Hartz Foundation. I am an active member of the Evangelical Covenant church serving in various offices, currently as chairman of the trustee board.

I will be available to hear the concerns and needs of all the people and air such requests openly. Let's get the issues on the table and not undermine them. I also consider myself and optimist and a realist, but not a specialist. I will try to make good judgements on all issues. I will be a strong voice for the taxpayers. We have and will have many needs that need to be addressed.

Finally, Pennington county is also a name and we, both rural and urban residents, are Pennington county. I would like to serve as your County Commissioner for District 5.

Thank you to The Times for the opportunity to share these thoughts.

FmHA delivers big programs to rural areas

Rural residents of Minnesota have benefited from more than $200 million in Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) programs such as housing, farm and community and business programs in fiscal 1992, according to Russ Bjorhus, state director of FmHA.

The direct single family housing loan program assisted more than 630 individuals and families to meet their housing needs and has nearly 800 multi-family rental housing projects. "This fiscal year alone $13.7 million was provided for 17 new apartment buildings with a total of 371 units," Bjorhus said.

"FmHA is committed to facilitating rural economic stability by offering housing and farm programs," Bjorhus continued. "With increased emphasis on guaranteed loan programs we can begin to shift away from direct loans to loan guarantees with commercial lenders. Guaranteed loans assist borrowers to become more self-sufficient and less reliant on the government—at substantially less cost to the taxpayers than the direct program." There were 767 guaranteed farm operating and farm ownership loans for more than $76 million.

The direct loan program made more than 680 loans for a total of $32 million.

More than 260 rural families have received home loans made by commercial lenders and guaranteed by FmHA since the guaranteed rural housing programs began early in 1992 in Minnesota. The loans reflect more than $14 million in housing activity.

Bjorhus also said that out of nearly 800 multi-family housing projects in Minnesota, only two are delinquent in repayment of loan money.

He added that FmHA is working with federal, state and local conservation organizations to reduce properties held in inventory and preserve wildlife and environmental resources. More than 5,400 acres of inventory property has been transferred to conservation agencies.

"Not only has FmHA aided the environment in a small way," Bjorhus said, "but by reducing the number of inventory properties we recover the value of the property and reduce administrative and maintenance costs involved in holding such property."

He said that fiscal 1992 is representative of the past year where nationally almost 175,000 rural residents have received direct housing loans and more than 74,000 rural residents were provided with affordable rental housing. Additionally, 87,000 direct farm loans have been provided since 1988.

Information regarding FmHA programs is available at any FmHA county, district or state office, according to David W. Altenbernd, supervisor of the Pennington county FmHA office.

Say What?!

By Karmen Lee Ortloff

For those who live in the boondocks without a calendar, television or radio, you may not be aware of the fact that this weekend is Halloween.

For the rest of us we've known it for quite a while. This is due to the extreme lengths that stores go to when promoting Halloween. Next to Christmas, Halloween is one of the biggest money making holidays. When you add together candy and costume costs and then figure in the [illegible] to go from place to place, Halloween is expensive. There are ways, however, to save money and I will tell you how.

First of all, I'll discuss costumes. Many corners can be cut, or in this case, can be avoided completely by going trick or treating in your birthday suit. Of course, if there happens to be a blizzard on Halloween night, which had been known to occur only occasionally here, scrap this idea.

Instead, go as a bunch of grapes. Why not? Blow up a bunch of purple balloons and tape them to your body (tacks are suitable, but rarely recommended unless you're into that sort of thing).

Another suggestion for you cost-cutting consumers is to grab a roll of aluminum foil and go crazy! You'll need a friend to help with this costume. Have your friend stand stationary, holding the aluminum foil as you turn around in circles; allow the foil to cover you from head to toe. Viola! C3PO never looked better!

Now that you've got a costume, you can go door to door trick or treating. Be sure to hustle to get a lot of candy. This way, when you get back home and other people come to your door trick or treating, you'll have something to give out. If you are a little stingy, you may even come out of the deal with a little candy for yourself!

Lastly, how to save money on transportation. That ones easy. You can either ride your bicycle, have your younger brother carry you on his back, or walk. Any of these three modes of transportation are acceptable because they lessen the emission of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere, therefore eliminating further damage to ozone layer, which by the way, protects all of us from those naughty ultraviolet rays. Who would have thought that saving money on Halloween would lead to saving the environment? Certainly not this muchacha!

Now that you have all this extra money in your pocket, this natural question arises: What do I do with it? Christmas is a mere two months away and I wear size eight shoes. Purple is preferable, seeing as I have several purple outfits. Besides, I'll be able to wear them next Halloween when I dress up as a bunch of grapes.

Goodridge Fire Chief Dale Hanson paid a visit to the Head Start program at Goodridge school during Fire Prevention Week and showed the pre-school youngsters what a fireman wears in full protection gear.

These three students at Goodridge elementary school earned checks from the Goodridge area fire department for their posters on fire safety during Fire Prevention Week recently. Left to right are Andrea Marquis, third grade, daughter of Gene and Renee Marquis, first place, $20; Katy Brandt, fourth grade, daughter of Douglas and Linda Brandt, second place, $15; and Rozlynn Haugen, third grade, daughter of Ryan and Rhonda Haugen, third place, $10.

Halloween safety suggestions given

"Halloween is just around the corner," reminds Pennington county extension director Deb Zak, "and a few simple precautions can make the holiday safe and enjoyable for the entire family."

Before youngsters leave the house for trick or treat forays, plan and discuss the route they intend to follow. They should be accompanied by an adult or responsible older child. Set a time limit if children are old enough to go with their friends. Know the names of the older children's companions.

Insist that youngsters use good manners, are courteous and say "thank you" for treats received. Review thoroughly with children all appropriate trick or treat safety precautions, including pedestrian/traffic safety rules.

Buy or design the costume so youngsters can walk easily without tripping or falling. Baggy pants, long skirts or wide capes can become entangled in bushes, hedges or fences. Costumes should be lightweight and fit properly, Zak said, but they should be large enough so that warm clothing can be worn underneath if it's cold outside.

Children should wear comfortable, well-fitted shoes. Clumsy, floppy clown feet, heavy boots, dad's old garden shoes and mom's high heels could contribute to falls, spilled treats and injuries. Whiskers, beards, wigs and hats should be fastened securely and designed so they don't get into youngsters' faces, obscuring vision.

Light-colored costumes should be worn at night. It's also a good idea to use reflective tape or decals so that youngsters are visible to motorists. (Reflective tape can be purchased at most hardware stores.) Buy flame-resistant costumes or make them from flame resistant material. Look for the markings on the material or the box.

Masks can obstruct a child's vision. Facial make-up is safer, more colorful and more comfortable. When buying special Halloween make-up, check for packages that are labeled "Made with U.S. Approved Color Additives," "Laboratory Tested," "Meets Federal Standards for Cosmetics" or "Non-Toxic." Most manufacturers list ingredients and/or chemical analysis on packages. Follow manufacturer's instructions for application and removal.

Children can draw pictures of the face they want parents to design on them. Types of faces can include witches, goblins, ghosts, pirates, gypsies, clowns, devils, hobos, cartoon characters or popular television and movie characters. If masks are worn, they should have openings for the nose and mouth and large eye holes for good visibility, Zak reminds parents.

Knives, swords and other accessories should be made from cardboard or other flexible materials. Do not allow children to carry sharp objects. Bags or sacks carried by youngsters should be light colored or designed or trimmed with reflective tape if trick or treaters are allowed out after dark.

Carrying flashlights will help children see better and be seen more clearly. Never allow anyone to walk using a flame for a light.

An adult should supervise or actually do the cutting of a pumpkin, since a sharp, pointed knife is needed. If carving a pumpkin is not appropriate, or if children are very young, homemade or store-bought faces can be applied. Use a flashlight in jack-o-lanterns for a light. This is safer than a candle in case the pumpkin is accidentally knocked over. Flame could ignite costumes or decorations.

To ensure a safe and enjoyable trick or treat outing for their children, parents are urged to:

- Give children an early meal or a filling nutritious snack before they go out, so they won't be tempted to eat candy or other treats before they get home;
- Insist that treats be brought home for inspection before anything is eaten;
- Wash fruit and slice it into small pieces;
- Report anything that appears suspicious about treats to the police;
- When in doubt, throw it out.

Teleconference on racism and bigotry at NCC

"Combatting Racism and Bigotry on Our College Campus: A Plan for Action" is the theme for a cooperative state wide satellite teleconference to be held Thursday, October 29, on more than 80 public and private post secondary campuses throughout Minnesota, including Northland Community College in Thief River Falls.

The teleconference will be broadcast to the Northland Community College theater from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and is open to the public free of charge.

According to local college officials, the teleconference "is a response to the escalating incidents of hate crimes, racial tensions, sexual harassment and other forms of bigotry occurring on a number of campuses around the state, and is part of an ongoing process to strengthen efforts to counter campus bigotry."

Dr. Alfredo de los Santos Jr., vice chancellor for educational development at Maricopa Community Colleges, Phoenix, AZ, will lead off the opening morning session by giving an overview of campus bigotry in higher education and explore means to counter it.

Professor Anita F. Hill of the University of Oklahoma law school will be the luncheon speaker and address "Racism, Sexism and Power: It's Time for a Change." She will speak from the University of Minnesota through the cooperation of the Hubert H. Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs.

Following Dr. de los Santos' morning presentation, a panel comprised of the chancellors and presidents of the teleconference's cooperating higher education systems will respond and give their own views on countering campus bigotry.

Participating will be Dr. Nils Hasselmo, president of the University of Minnesota; Dr. Geraldine Evans, chancellor of the Minnesota community college system; Dr. Carole M. Johnson, chancellor of the Minnesota technical college system; Dr. David B. Laird Jr., president and CEO of the Minnesota private college council; and Dr. Terrance MacTaggart, chancellor of the Minnesota state university system.

Questions for Dr. de los Santos and the systems' chancellors and presidents will be faxed and phoned in from campuses around the state.

Each participating campus is also given an opportunity to hold its own local programs during a one-hour break in the teleconference. At Northland a local panel comprised of students, community agencies, law enforcement and educators will be featured.

The teleconference expects to involve thousands of students, faculty and administrators on most of the college and university campuses throughout Minnesota and community leaders from the cities and surrounding towns in which they are located. Further information on the program is available from the project coordinator, Morton W. Ryweck, by calling 612-374-5580. For local information contact Dr. James Haviland, provost at NCC, at 681-2181, extension 147.

Beth Johnson

It's that time of year again - the time of year when things do not appear to be what they really are. It's Halloween!!

On Saturday night, once again our streets will echo with the sounds of children as they go from door to door "trick or treating." The children may look to be the size of children, but if you take a closer look, you will be surprised at the array of faces you see.

The costumes children choose are limited only by their imagination – and maybe mom and dad's wallet. On Halloween, we will have an assortment of ghosts and goblins and witches. They will accompany princes and princesses and pumpkins on their Halloween rounds. The more imaginative child will have created his or her own costume. Maybe it will be a cowboy costume, or a fairy godmother costume or maybe Robin Hood or Batman.

To create these costumes, either the local stores have been consulted, or the closets or the child's home have been raided. Sheets become ghosts, pieces of material become veils, charcoal decorates many faces. The children truly become the character they are trying to portray. Even if they do a mediocre job of portraying their desired character, in the imaginations of the children those characters become very real. I wonder where in life we adults lose the ability to imagine so vividly? We ought not hinder our children's imaginations. Too soon they too will be adults.

Halloween is not just a time for children to have fun. It is also a time in which we adults need to be truly responsible for the children with whose care we have been entrusted. Halloween time for children can be fun if we adults take our nurturing responsibility seriously. Take care of your children this Halloween.

Think of the simple safety needs of your children. Can they see, or is their vision hindered by their masks? Be the responsible adult and make sure your child will be able to see as he or she "trick or treats."

Is your child visible to others - particularly drivers? Be the responsible adult and make sure your child has some sort of visible, reflective material as part of the costume. A witch dressed only in black will not be visible to drivers. Put some decorative reflective tape on your child's costume.

Does your child know the rules of your household as they pertain to "trick or treating?" Do you insist that your children stay with a group? Do you insist that they have flashlights? Do you insist that they go "trick or treating" in a certain area? Are you going to be the responsible adult and accompany your young children as they "trick or treat?"

What guidelines do you have for your children's consumption of the goodies they will receive? Be the responsible adult and check your children's candy before they eat it.

Halloween is a time for our children to use their imaginations. It's a time for them to dream some dreams of who or what they might want to be. Halloween is also a time for parents to watch over their children carefully. A few rules and a few safety precautions will help to ensure a carefree imaginative time for your children.

I am curious about one thing: did those who determined the times for the elections in our nation consider how appropriate it is having elections follow so closely the time of Halloween? The time before elections is certainly a time when candidates do not appear to be who they really are. Elections are a time when all the candidates wear masks. There truly is no way we can fathom the imaginations that create the myths of the persons for whom we vote.

I will be happy to have this time of candidating over. I am tired of the masks. Wouldn't it be nice if the real candidates could appear? Maybe after the election????

Radon awareness campaign begins

"With the emphasis in recent years on energy efficiency and tighter buildings we are beginning to see more ventilation problems, including an increase in concentrations of radon gas," states Deb Zak, Pennington county extension director.

October marks the beginning of a radon awareness campaign, Zak said. Each fall the American Lung Association of Minnesota launches a campaign to inform Minnesotans about the dangers of radon because of high levels of radon that have been found in the state. The association shares this information:

- Radon is a radioactive gas that occurs naturally in soil. It is formed by the breakdown of radium, which is a product of uranium.
- Radon gas has no odor, color or taste.
- After cigarette smoking, radon is the number one cause of lung cancer deaths in the nation.
- Radon gas percolates up through the soil under homes or other buildings and enters through cracks and gaps in the foundation.
- Over 30 per cent of all Minnesota homes tested in the most recent survey had radon levels equal to smoking one-fourth of a pack of cigarettes per day.
- Smokers are 10 times more likely to develop lung cancer from radon exposure than are non-smokers.

In Minnesota the percentage of homes with elevated radon levels is high (as much as 60 to 70 per cent along the North Dakota border). Lake of the Woods county is one of two counties in the state where less than 10 per cent of the homes tested had radon levels above the recommended limits. Neighboring counties have higher rates—15 per cent in Koochiching, 33 per cent in Beltrami and 63 per cent in Roseau counties.

"These statistics may be misleading," Zak said, "because only a small percentage of the total homes in these counties have tested for radon—which is the only way to determine if there is a radon problem."

Detecting radon gas is easy, and if a home has an elevated radon level the homeowner can take simple measures to reduce or virtually eliminate it. Homeowners can purchase a simple, inexpensive type of radon detector for use in their homes. Called an "alpha track detector," this device consists of a container with a small piece of plastic inside and a small opening covered by a filter. After leaving the detector in the home for a period of time (12 months is the time period recommended), the canister is sent to a lab to be tested.

Many county extension offices have kits available for individuals to purchase at a cost of $24.95 each. The price covers the cost of the canister, postage for mailing it to the testing laboratory and the actual testing. The testing laboratory will report to the homeowner what the radon level in the home is.

For more information call the Pennington county extension office at 681-2116 or the Minnesota Lung Association at 1-800-642-5864.

Friendship club receives award

Friendship Club in Thief River Falls has been selected this year to receive the 1992 Pennington county Distinguished Service award from the Minnesota Social Services Association. Accepting the award was Val Chommie who has been active as a volunteer in the club since she helped found it in 1967.

The club began as a social club for people who had been in state hospitals and were returning home and people in the community with mental illness or developmental problems. Some members had never had a birthday party or received presents.

One lady who had been in the Fergus Falls regional treatment center for 30 years called the club "the fun place."

Mrs. Chommie said she loves working with the members and that it is very rewarding. "I always feel so good during and after the get-togethers," she said.

The club began as a volunteer organization when fewer community support services were available than there are now and filled a gap in the lives of its members. It now receives some funds from the United Way and Pennington county department of welfare and human services and continues as a bright spot in the lives of the people it serves.

At present the club has about 30 members. At one time volunteer drivers transported members to the twice monthly meetings, but now the bus in Thief River Falls picks up members and brings them to the meetings on the first and third Monday of each month.

Activities include playing Bingo, talking about experiences, music, singing and dancing. Each member's birthday is celebrated as well as all special occasions. The members go out to eat for Thanksgiving, have picnics in the summer and greet Santa Claus who comes to the Christmas party and gives out presents to everyone.

Goal of the social organization is to allow members to share thoughts and experiences and have fun together. In addition to the original core group of volunteers, many different people have been involved with the Friendship club over the years. Many organizations and churches in the community have supported the club by providing food and/or other services.

4-H judging awards based on points earned during the past club years were presented at the annual Pennington county 4-H awards night program Friday, October 23, at the Lincoln high school auditorium. Sarah Koland of the Silverton 4-H club earned the rabbit judging award and Ryan Swanson of the Happy Acres 4-H club earned the general livestock judging award. Not pictured is Lauran Lavalier of the Silverton club who won the horse judging award.

Dairy industry aims to maintain share of market

A billion dollar difference in Minnesota's economy – that's what's at stake in an effort by the Minnesota dairy industry to maintain its share of the national milk market at the 1990 level.

The 1990-level market share has been set as a goal by a group of nearly 50 Minnesota dairy industry leaders who met recently in St. Paul. The group is called the Dairy Leaders Roundtable, and it grew out of dairy industry concerns regarding loss of market share and the loss of over one-third of Minnesota's milk producers in the last ten years.

At the recent meeting, roundtable members saw preliminary figures on the importance of market share to the Minnesota economy. They also reviewed strategies being developed by several committees to reach the market share goal.

"Minnesota's share of the national milk market in 1990 was 6.8 per cent," said Don Ault of Ag-Nomics Research, who is putting together a report for the roundtable on the economic impact on Minnesota of milk production changes. "To retain this 6.8 per cent market share by the year 2000, our annual production would have to be 11 billion pounds. Production in 1991 was 9.85 billion pounds. If current trends continue, production will decline to 9.35 billion pounds, or 5.7 percent of projected U.S. production, by the year 2000."

Ault compared the difference between the current trends scenario (9.35 billion pounds) and the market share retention scenario (11 billion pounds). The difference amounts to $670 million in total gross revenues for the dairy industry, and $482 million in non-dairy industry output. The difference also amounts to $184 million annually in employee payroll in Minnesota, an employment difference of 16,000 jobs, and a $513 million difference in value-added economic activity.

Roundtable members also heard preliminary reports from several task forces working on various dairy issues. Some of these issues are financing dairy operations, regulatory impacts on the dairy sector, and creation of a statewide Dairy Resource Center. A series of 13 recommendations dealing with these issues were affirmed, and the task forces are working on plans and strategies for implementing the recommendations.

The task force reports and recommendations will be submitted to the roundtable for final approval at its next meeting, December 10 at the Sheraton Midway in St. Paul. The reports will be made public at that meeting.

"There's no reason the Upper Midwest can't remain the premier dairy region in the U.S.," said roundtable member Mark Furth, North Central Region manager for Associated Milk Producers, Inc. "We have changes to make, but we have dairy producers and a dairy infrastructure that are able to compete with any other region in the country."

Achievement award for club members 14 years of age and older was won by Heather Shafland of the Silverton 4-H club and presented at the annual awards banquet Friday, October 23, at the Lincoln high school auditorium. Not present to receive their leadership awards were Guy Dreviow, Smiley, 14 and older; Cami Sorenson, Happy Acres and Laura Stalgar, Smiley, 13 and younger.

Enrollment options number is changed

Beginning Monday, October 19, with a change to automation of the State of Minnesota's 800 telephone system, the number of the state enrollment options hotline will also change to 1-800-657-3990. The metro area and direct call number will be 612-296-1261.

Learners in Minnesota have several enrollment option programs which allow them to choose the school or education program they wish to attend. Summary of these programs is as follows:

The Postsecondary Enrollment Options program provides 11th and 12th grade students, who qualify for the postsecondary institution of their choice, the opportunity to take college courses for high school credit. The program gives the student choice of a wider variety or more advanced courses than may be available in high school.

Open Enrollment program allows students in kindergarten through 12th grade the opportunity to apply to attend a school outside the district in which they live. Applications are due in the nonresident district before January 15, except for those choosing to enter or leave districts with desegregation plans.

High School Graduation Incentives program is designed for students who are not likely to graduate or who have dropped out of school before getting their diplomas. These learners may choose from a variety of education options to complete the requirements needed to graduate.

Diploma Opportunities for Adults Aged 21 and Over encourages those who have not completed high school to return to get their diplomas. Qualifying learners have up to two years of free state aid to finish their requirements. Many of the same education programs under High School Graduation Incentives are available to these adults.

Area Learning Centers offer personalized education programs, year around, day and evening to accommodate the needs of learners. A wide variety of courses, leading to diplomas, are taught using alternative methods of instruction. Additional services are provided to assure each learner's success. Learners age 12 through adult may attend.

Public or Private Alternative Programs personalize the education of learners at risk of not completing high school. Classes are taught using alternative methods with flexible scheduling. These programs are offered during the typical school day and year.

Education Programs for Pregnant Minors and Minor Parents are designed to encourage parenting and pregnant teens to continue their education and receive their high school diplomas. There is a variety of education options available. Child care and transportation may be arranged.

For more information see a principal or counselor in the school district or call the Enrollment Options Hotline at 1-800-657-3990.

The class will be held at Dahl's Service and Repair. Registration is $3. The class size will be limited, so individuals need to preregister.

The beginning oil painting class is offered the second Tuesday of each month beginning November 10. It will be held at the Newfolden Community Center from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Bernie Wilebski will teach the painting class. Students are asked to bring a stock-size canvas to class (8" by 10", 9" by 12" or 12" by 16"). Brushes and paints will be supplied for a small fee. Pre-registration is not required.

A basic first aid class will be taught in the MCC high school from 6 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, October 28 and November 4.

Doug Johnston will instruct the 8-hour class and it will cover standard first aid procedures including CPR. Upon successful completion of the course requirements, participants will receive a card certifying that they have passed the course. Registration cost is $10 and class enrollment is limited, so individuals need to pre-register.

Volleyball team beats Fergus Falls 3-1...

Prowlers end losing streak

[illegible] Thief River Falls [illegible] Anderson. "It looks like we should be seeded [illegible] which will give us home court advantage in the first round."

"[illegible] was a strong team effort," said Anderson. "The entire team contributed to the win," she explained. "They played their hearts out. It was a team match."

Because of the balanced effort, Thief River Falls coaches awarded the Prowlers Player of the Night honors to the entire team instead of picking out an individual for the recognition.

"Our blocking was so much better and I thought we played smart in finding the holes in their defense," mentioned Anderson.

The Prowlers hit double figures in last touch, kills and service points for the match. The leaders included Carie Lawrence with 16 last touch points, Kelly Skeim with 18 kills and LuAnne Maslowski with 16 service points.

Lawrence wound up with [illegible] and Maslowski [illegible] 15 set assists.

Sarah Huschle was named Player of the Night as the Thief River Falls junior varsity beat Fergus Falls [illegible] 15-6. The Prowlers C team also won 16-14, 15-6, with the entire team sharing in Player of the Night honors.

Northland Community College volleyball...

Division matches end year

Minnesota Community College Conference matches Wednesday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston and Friday at home against Fergus Falls will close out the 1992 season for the Northland Community College volleyball team. Both matches start at 6:30 p.m.

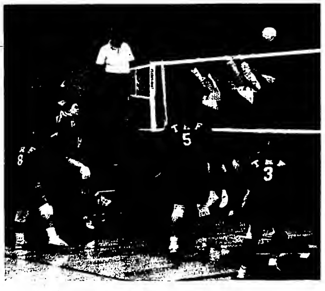
Northland saw its record fall to 5-18 Monday with a pair of 2-0 losses to the University of Minnesota-Morris junior varsity and North Dakota State College of Science at an NDSCS-hosted triangular in Wahpeton.

The Pioneers started the night with an 8-0 lead against Morris, but the Cougars came back to win 15-12, 15-3.

NDSCS, the No. 1-rated team in NJCAA Region 13 volleyball, handled Northland 15-5, 15-0.

"We would play with them (Wildcats) for a long time, then make a couple of mistakes and they would score three points," explained Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "Then we'd play with them again, make a few more mistakes, and they would score three more points. That's the way the match went."

Northland will take an 0-4 MCCC record into the Northwest Division match against UMC.



Toni Chiodo spiked the ball past two Fergus Falls defenders during Thief River Falls' Saturday night high school volleyball match against the Otters. LuAnne Maslowski (8), Carie Lawrence (5) and Kendra Dimich (3) of the Prowlers looked on.

TRF-EGF rematch scheduled tonight

■ Section 8A football playoffs

East Grand Forks will be back at Prowler Field tonight (Tuesday) for a first round Section 8A high school football playoff game against Thief River Falls – just six days after leaving here with a regular season-ending 14-13 win over the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls is 5-3 for the year; East Grand Forks is 4-3.

Other Section 8A quarterfinal match-ups tonight include Wadena-Deer Creek (1-7) at Detroit Lakes (8-0), Little Falls (4-4) at Park Rapids Area (5-3) and Crookston (2-6) at Fergus Falls (7-1).

Playoff pairings were determined by a point system – 120 points for a win over a Class AA team, 100 points for a win over a Class A team, and 80 points for a win over a Class B or Class C team. Detroit Lakes finished with 780 points, Fergus Falls 740, Thief River Falls 500, Park Rapids Area 480, Little Falls 440, East Grand Forks 400, Crookston 200, Wadena-Deer Creek 100, Perham 80, and Staples Area 0. The 1-7 Yellowjackets and the 0-8 Cardinals did not make the playoff field.

Semifinals will be played Saturday at the site of the higher-seeded quarterfinal winner, with Detroit Lakes or Wadena-Deer Creek playing Park Rapids Area or Little Falls, while Fergus Falls or Crookston takes on Thief River Falls or East Grand Forks.

Championship game will be played Friday, Nov. 6 – again at the site of the higher seeded qualifier.

All Section 8A games have 7 p.m. starting times.

Will the Thief River Falls-East Grand Forks rematch feature another down-to-the-wire finish? "They (Green Wave) played very well last time," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "If they play that well again we'll have a tough time. They did an excellent job against us. We'll have to take our game to a whole new level if we want to be playing Saturday night."

The Prowlers will have to show more consistency offensively and defensively, said Mumm. East Grand Forks was one of the few teams the Prowlers faced this year who could match their quickness.

"They've got good speed," noted Mumm. "They took a lot of things away that we wanted to do. We weren't able to break a long one against them."

Defensively, the Prowlers will again have to contend with the Jared Kovar-to-Gabe Valtierra passing combination and the hard running of Ricky Rivera. Valtierra caught four passes for 114 yards and Rivera rushed 24 times for 107 yards in the Wednesday contest.

8AA boys, girls cross country races will be run on Thursday

Thief River Falls boys and girls will compete in the 1992 Section 8AA high school cross country meet Thursday at the Ponderosa Golf Course near Glyndon.

The boys will run at 3:30 p.m. Girls will take the course at 4.

A 14-team field will include runners from Alexandria, Elk River, Moorhead, Sauk Rapids, Bemidji, Fergus Falls, Rocori, Thief River Falls, Brainerd, Little Falls, St. Cloud Apollo, Detroit Lakes, Milaca/Princeton, and St. Cloud Tech.

Top two teams, along with the top five individuals, will advance to the state meet.

Nordics beat Ponies 3-1

Marshall County Central spotted Warren a 1-0 lead, but came back with three straight wins to beat the visiting Ponies 13-15, 15-13, 15-7, 15-4 Monday in high school volleyball.

"We started out well – we were passing well and doing a lot of things right," reported Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "It fell apart on us for a while, but we did get it back together. We were playing better by the end of the second game, and, as the scores show, we were playing pretty well at the end."

Freshman Tricia Pederson started her first varsity match in place of injured Sarah Lokstad and played well, pointed out Jorgenson. Lokstad, who sprained an ankle in practice last week, did play, however.

Marshall County Central, 16-7, closes out its regular season schedule tonight (Tuesday) at home against Roseau.

Deer Hunters group will meet Thursday

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Eagles Club.

A representative from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will serve as a guest speaker.

Mustangs in section semifinals

Red Lake County Central advanced to the semifinals of the 1992 Nine Man Section 6 high school football playoffs with a come from behind 30-8 first round Monday night win over Ulen-Hitterdal at Oklee.

No. 4 seeded Red Lake County Central will take on top seeded Clearbrook/Gonvick Friday at 7 p.m. in Gonvick.

The other first round game will be played tonight (Tuesday) when No. 3 seeded Kelliher/Northome plays No. 6 Win E Mac at 7 p.m. in Kelliher. The winner will meet second-seeded Fisher/Climax in a 1 p.m. Saturday semifinal at Fisher.

Championship game will be played Friday, Nov. 6, at the site of the highest seeded semifinal winner.

Red Lake County Central improved its record to 6-3 with the post-season win and made amends for a 28-18 homecoming loss at the hands of Ulen-Hitterdal. The No. 5-seeded Spartans finished the year 3-5.

A 1-yard Aaron Durkop touchdown run and a Guy Hidebrant two-point conversion provided Ulen-Hitterdal with an 8-0 lead on the Spartans' first possession of the night.

The Mustangs, who got on the board with a 12-yard second quarter Scott Lorenson touchdown pass to Ryan Salberg, grabbed the lead on 3-yard third quarter Jonathan Sundrud touchdown run following a 50-yard punt return by Shannon Willett.

Moments later a low punt snap resulted in the Ulen-Hitterdal kicker being downed by the Red Lake County Central defense, setting up a 4-yard Jacob Melby touchdown run as the Mustangs went up 18-8.

Red Lake County Central then iced it with a pair of touchdowns from the defense – a 27-yard fumble recovery return by Melby and a 35-yard pass interception return by Shannon Willett.

"The defense really went to work in the second half," said Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "Coach (Rick) Koivisto and his defense really did a great job."

Adam Killian and Salberg turned in outstanding games at the ends, pointed out Brantl, to lead the Mustangs' defense. Killian had five sacks and wound up with 10 tackles for the night. Darrin Hofstad, Adam Lundeen, Chad Pahlen, Jacob Melby and Willett were also key contributors on defense, according to Brantl.

Offensively, the Mustangs netted 149 yards on 44 running plays, with Willett picking up 72 yards on 10 carries and Sundrud getting 51 yards on 11 tries. Lorenson was 5-for-12 passing for 40 yards.

The 8-0 Clearbrook/Gonvick team beat Red Lake County Central 32-26 earlier this month. "The kids are happy to have the opportunity to play some more football," said Brantl. "We're looking forward to playing Clearbrook/Gonvick again."

Northland hosts Brainerd; eyes playoffs

Northland will close out its 1992 regular season football schedule Thursday when the Pioneers take on Brainerd in a 7 p.m. Minnesota Community College Conference game at Prowler Field.

A playoff possibility exists for the 5-2 Pioneers, but they will need a win over the 3-4 Raiders to be in line for a post season berth.

Top two teams in the Northern and Southern Divisions will form the Saturday, Nov. 7, MCCC playoff semifinals. Heading into the final week of regular season play, Fergus Falls and North Hennepin are locked in at 1-2, respectively, in the South, and Vermilion has the No. 1 spot sewed up in the North.

The fourth and final playoff spot that will go to the No. 2 team in the North is up for grabs between the University of Minnesota-Crookston, Mesabi and Northland.

UMC, which has a nonconference game against Fergus Falls Thursday, finished its Northern Division obligations at 4-2 followed a 20-0 win over Northland last week. Mesabi, beaten by Vermilion 56-10 Thursday, and Northland are both 3-2 and can gain a second place tie with UMC with final-week wins. The Ironmen will be hosting Hibbing while the Pioneers entertain Brainerd.

According to the NJCAA Region 13 Operating Code for the Fall of '92, a two-way playoff tie would be broken by results of regular season head to head competition, but a three-way tie would be broken by a coaches vote. If a tie still exists after the coaches vote, a coin flip will determine the playoff qualifier.

UMC owns the win over Northland, but the Pioneers beat Mesabi 15-7 and the Ironmen, in turn, defeated the Trojans 21-10.

Under the Operation Code playoff selection criteria, Northland and Mesabi wins Thursday would produce the coaches playoff vote. A Northland win and a Mesabi loss would advance UMC to the playoffs, while a Mesabi win and a Northland loss would extend the season for the Ironmen.

Playoff semifinals will find the South No. 2 at North No. 1 and North No. 2 at South No. 1. The Nov. 14 championship game will be played at St. Cloud State University.

Making the playoffs would be great," acknowledged Northland coach Gene Klinke. "But whether we go to the playoffs or not, we want to win the football game, finish 6-2 and go out on a positive note. The playoffs would be a bonus."

Brainerd owns Northern Division wins over Itasca 24-7 and Hibbing 45-7. The Raiders lost MCCC games to Mesabi 20-6, Vermilion 27-6 and UMC 26-14. They also lost nonconference games to Willmar 18-6 and Normandale.

"Whether or not we make the playoffs, we've still had a great year," pointed out Klinke, who took over a program that went 1-7 a year ago. "We're a contender. No one expected us to be here. The kids have worked hard to get to this point, to being respectability back into the program."

The hard-hitting UMC game put several Pioneers in the questionable category injury-wise for the Brainerd game. Punter/receiver Brian Lambert and quarterback Mitch Bernstein are both bothered by shoulder problems, offensive lineman Brian Maurstad is struggling with a hip-pointer and tight end Jeff Alvarez has a back injury.

Bulldogs 2-2, MCC goes 1-3 at tournament

Badger/Greenbush Middle River went 2-2 for a fifth place finish, while Marshall Country Central struggled through a 1-3 showing Saturday at the Warroad Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

The Bulldogs defeated Littlefork-Big Falls 15-8, 3-15, 15-6, but were beaten by Warroad 15-3, 3-15, 15-11 and were swept by Tri-County 15-9, 15-13 before finishing with a 15-13, 15-8 victory over Indus.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished its 1992 regular season schedule at 11-12 overall.

It tough day for Marshall County Central as the Nordics lost 2-0 decisions to Kittson Central 15-3, 15-5, Lake of the Woods 15-13, 17-15 and Indus 16-14, 15-11 before coming up with a win over Littlefork-Big Falls 14-16, 16-14, 15-7.

"It wasn't a good day for us," acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "We made a lot of mistakes. It was frustrating."

Marshall County Central was without Sarah Lokstad, who suffered an ankle injury in practice earlier in the week.

The results nearly doubled the loss total for the Nordics.

INSURANCE Update
by Ron Hanson
BUDGETING INSURANCE COSTS
According to a nationwide survey of 10,000 American households, (using information from the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics), the average person spends less on insurance than one might think. The information available indicates that the combined premiums for all types of insurance, (auto, home, health, life & disability) accounts for only 5.2% of the average household's budget. This means that the average household spends less money on insuring than it does for transportation, clothing, retirement, or food. Auto insurance accounts for only 1.9% of the household budget. In fact, the data shows that auto insurance accounts for only 10.8% of the cost of owning and operating the average motor vehicle.

Sportsmen's Club offering additional dates for shooters

The public is invited to take advantage of the rifle sighting-in opportunity being offered by the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club.

Second weekend of sighting-in at the club's shooting range will be presented from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Non-members will be charged $5 per game per day for the services.

It's a opportunity for deer hunters to prepare their guns for the upcoming 1992 firearms deer hunting season, note club officials, who remind hunters about Department of Natural restrictions concerning the use of firearms that go into effect 10 days prior to the start of the deer season, except on an approved target range.

Next meeting of the Sportsmen's Club will be held Thursday, Nov. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the club house. Items for discussion will include an exchange of ideas, competitive shooting matches, training needed to be DNR certified firearms instructors, and organization of black powder shooters. A special invitation will be made to the Thief River Falls Rifle Club to attend the meeting.

Club officials noted at the Oct. 22 monthly meeting the Boy Scouts have been given approval to build a nature walk trail at the club as conservation project. Work is scheduled to begin next spring. The trail will follow some existing open areas, wind along Ditch 18 and the river to the picnic area along the west boundary of the property. The design will allow the use of a regular-size riding lawn mower for upkeep.

East Grand Forks runningback Jarrod Risks took a hand-off from quarterback Jared Kovar and looked for running room against the Thief River Falls defense during last week's regular season-ending high school football match-up at Prowler Field. 'Thief River Falls' Jason Niemi (52) closed in on the ball carrier. East Grand Forks won 14-13. The two teams meet again tonight (Tuesday) at Prowler Field in the opening round quarterfinals of the 1992 Section 8A playoffs. Kickoff is scheduled for 7 p.m. The winner moves into Saturday's semifinals.

Poaching activity is reported on the rise

Deer poaching activity in northwest Minnesota increased steadily during the month of September, according to Capt. Bob S. Dyrland, Regional Enforcement Supervisor for the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources at Bemidji.

Dyrland reports that in just one week, the week ending October 3, his officers made arrests and filed charges in eight gross misdemeanor deer poaching cases, and issued numerous citations and warnings for misdemeanors and minor violations.

The gross misdemeanors included four arrests in Beltrami County, two in Kittson County and two in Clearwater County. The most prevalent violations was the possession of uncased bows or uncased, loaded firearms in a motor vehicle.

Gross misdemeanors are punishable by a maximum fine of $3,000 and up to one year in jail. Under the state Wildlife Restitution Act, which took effect last year, violators caught in possession of illegally taken deer are also charged restitution of $500 per deer, in addition to any fines or jail time imposed by the court. Regular misdemeanors can draw fines up to $700 and/or 90 days in jail.

Motor vehicles and equipment used in major poaching violations are subject to legal seizure by law enforcement officers and, upon conviction, are confiscated to be sold at public auction.

One-hundred percent of funds raised by the Wildlife Restitution Act and sales of confiscated vehicles and firearms is returned to the state Game and Fish Fund, along with 50 percent of the fines. Counties where violation occur receive the other half of the assessed fines.

According to Dyrland, "DNR conservation officers spend a maximum [illegible] of their time [illegible] the law and protect [illegible] and natural resources. [illegible] poaching [illegible] officers set deer decoys [illegible] aerial surveillance [illegible] Turn In Poachers [illegible]

Decoys are usually deployed in response to citizen complaints of [illegible] shooting [illegible] spots and set up at times and places where taking deer and/or the use of [illegible] is clearly illegal. Decoys are usually used in conjunction with video cameras.

Aerial surveillance involves DNR officer pilots and spotter partners circling overhead, in radio contact with teams of DNR, and sometimes local, law enforcement officers on the ground. Flights are made at random times, day and night. A handful of officers can effectively cover 100 square miles or more with this technique and put ground-based officers on the scene of a suspected violation within minutes, anywhere in the patrol area.

One of the best weapons in the fight against wildlife and natural resource crime is the TIP Inc. hotline. Citizens can call the toll-free number to report suspected fish and game or nongame wildlife violations. The hotline is answered 24 hours per day, seven days per week by trained law enforcement dispatchers, who take down pertinent information and relay it as soon as possible to the DNR Conservation Officer or county sheriff's office where the alleged violation took place.

TIP callers can remain anonymous, if they prefer, and still be eligible for a cash reward if their "tip" leads to an arrest.

Controlling Beaver Damage

Although beaver activities can sometimes be beneficial to the environment, they can also cause significant property damage. With the Minnesota beaver population presently abundant, the Department of Natural Resources has been receiving numerous calls for beaver control assistant, according to Nancy Huonder, DNR Enforcement law information officer.

"In many cases, beaver damage cannot be effectively addressed unless the beaver are removed," Huonder said. "Simply removing a beaver dam without removing the beaver will usually result in the dam being rebuilt."

DNR conservation officers must be contacted before a beaver dam is removed. Names of licensed explosive experts may be obtained from the county sheriff's office.

Once a beaver dam is removed, landowners should check for signs of reconstruction, Hounder advised. "Seeding the area with grass and keeping it free of shrubs and trees will discourage beaver from returning, she said.

Non-lethal methods of controlling beaver damage can sometimes be effective, Hounder said, but often removal is the only practical solution.

In some cases, Huonder said, the water level in a beaver pond may be controlled by use of specially designed devices. DNR Wildlife Section offices can provide technical assistant. DNR Forestry offices can provide advice about how to protect valuable individual trees.

"Live relocation is not generally recommended," Huonder said, "due to difficulty, cost, and the risk of moving the problem from one area to another."

Landowners experiencing beaver problems on their property may shoot or trap the animals without a permit or license. However, the landowner must contact the local DNR conservation officer within 24 hours after taking action. "It's sufficient to just leave a message on the officer's answering machine stating your name, address, telephone number, and the total number of beaver shot or trapped," Huonder noted.

Removing beaver from somebody else's property is a different situation. Permission of the landowner and a free permit from a DNR conservation officer is required, Huonder said. Permits can be obtained by telephone. Conservation officers can also provide the names of experienced area trappers who might be willing to help control problem beaver.

Using poison or artificial lights to take beaver is prohibited, Huonder noted.

Beaver pelts may be sold if the necessary permit is obtained from a conservation officer beforehand. "We encourage landowners to do beaver control during the fur season," Huonder said.

Two-Deer Opportunities

Minnesota deer hunters have more opportunities than ever before to take two deer during the 1992 seasons, according to Department of Natural Resources (DNR) officials.

However, the DNR noted that there is some confusion regarding how and where a second deer may be taken. The following are answers to the most frequently asked questions:

Q: What is the maximum number of deer that I may take this year?

A: In no case may an individual tag more than two deer, even if more than two licenses and/or permits are obtained.

Q: May I tag one deer with a regular firearms license and one deer with a regular archery license?

A: No, except in an experimental three-county area in northwestern Minnesota consisting of Kittson, Marshall and Roseau counties. However, there are other opportunities to take a deer with each type of weapon.

Q: How else may I legally take and tag two deer?

A: You may take and tag two if at least one deer is tagged under either a firearms or archery deer management permit. Deer management permits are valid only for antlerless deer. Deer management permits are sold for one-half the cost of a regular license. They are valid only in certain areas of the state, as described in the hunting regulations handbook.

Q: May I tag a deer with a multi-zone buck license and a second antlerless deer under an archery deer management permit?

A: Yes. Also, in the experimental two-deer area, you may tag a deer with your regular archery license and a second deer with a multi-zone buck license.

Q: Normally, bowhunters are limited to bucks-only hunting during the firearms season. May I take an antlerless deer with an archery deer management permit during the open firearms season in a zone open for firearms hunting?

A: Yes. Archery deer management permits are valid only for antlerless deer, event during the open firearms season.

Q: Am I required to use the tag from my regular license tag before I can use the deer management permit?

A: No. A person possessing both a regular license and a deer management permit may use either the management permit or the regular license tag first.

Q: If I purchase an archery deer management permit after the archery deer season opens, when will the permit be valid?

A: The archery deer management permit will be valid immediately upon issuance. However, a regular archery license purchased after the season opens is not valid until the fifth day after issuance.

Hunters face water danger

With waterfowl hunting season open, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reminds hunters that cold water, overloaded boats and high winds can mean danger to careless or unprepared hunters.

DNR officials said it is especially important that hunters have life jackets available in the generally poor weather conditions that often come during duck hunting season. High winds and cold water, coupled with overloaded small, flat-bottomed boats, add up to a dangerous boating situation.

A 1988 law requires Minnesota duck hunters to carry one U.S. Coast Guard-approved personal flotation device for each person on board their duck boats.

"Many hunters still aren't aware of the law," said Tim Smalley, DNR boating safety specialist. "Lack of life preservers is one of the most common boating law violations found by DNR conservation officers during duck season, and the leading cause of duck hunter drownings."

Although the law only requires that the life preservers be on board the boat, it is strongly recommended that hunters wear them while traveling to and from blinds, Smalley cautioned.

U.S. Coast Guard studies show that finger-numbing ice-cold water makes it almost impossible to put on a life jacket after a victim has fallen into the water or capsized a boat. Seat cushions often blow away faster than a victim wearing duck hunting clothing can swim.

Most duck hunting boat accidents are directly caused by hunters trying to carry too much equipment in too small of a boat. "We've investigated a number of fatal accidents where as many as two hunters, three dozen decoys, two guns and two dogs were all crammed into a 10-foot, flat-bottomed jon boat," Smalley noted. "A boat will capsize with the first big wave that hits it."

The DNR recommends that hunters take several trips to transport equipment and hunters to the blind, especially when using a small boat.

Another fatal error made by some duck hunters who fall into the water is that they try to take off their waders or hip boots. Many hunters who fall into a lake believe they had better take off their boots, because the weight of the water might pull them down like concrete galoshes. According to the DNR, taking off the boots might be the worst thing to do.

"Often, the bodies of drowned waterfowl hunters are recovered with their boots pulled halfway down," Smalley said. "The victims wasted valuable energy and trapped air, struggling in panic to remove their boots. Instead, if they had stayed calm and kept their knees bent, they may have been able to float back to the boat and safety."

Since water has no weight in water, the only weight a person has to deal with in flooded boots is the weight of the boot – only about two pounds when submerged, explained Smalley. Air trapped in the boots more than counters that, plus provides buoyancy. With knees in a bent position, the boots will not turn the practiced hunter upside down," Smalley said.

Although it is possible to float wearing waders or hip boots, it is made infinitely easier when wearing a life jacket, stressed Smalley. "People must actually be wearing it because they probably won't be able to put it on after falling into the water. Try leaving your hands in a sink full of water and ice for a couple of minutes and see how difficult it is to work even a simple device like a life jacket zipper," Smalley suggested. "It would be like trying to put a seat belt on during a car accident.

TRF council to meet tonight

Thief River Falls planning commission has recommended to the city council that a request for a zoning amendment which would permit a 3.2 beer and food establishment to open in the former D & J Market be denied.

Meeting Monday night, the commission heard a request from Kevin and Sue Johnson to rezone the vacant D & J Market property at 516 Eighth street east from C-1 to C-2 for a proposed 3.2 beer and food sports bar. Plans called for the building to be remodeled, a fence constructed along the south property line and off-street parking to be located across the street on property leased from Home Lumber. Sue Johnson said she was not interested in serving hard liquor at the establishment and would be serving 3.2 beer.

Jim Suronen and Bill Moeglein, neighbors of the proposed 3.2 bar, opposed the zoning amendment request. As soon as he learned of the hearing and request, Suronen started a petition drive in the neighborhood. He was soon joined by Moeglein. On Monday night, the two presented petitions signed by 42 neighbors opposed to the proposal.

Suronen and Moeglein opposed the request on grounds that it would create additional noise and traffic, make the neighborhood unsafe for children, and they wanted to maintain the neighborhood as primarily residential.

City Attorney Paul Ihle explained that there are many factors that are taken into consideration when the planning commission makes a decision. A petition is only one of the factors taken into consideration and the courts have given more weight to established zoning rules.

After much consideration, the board unanimously approved a motion to deny the request. The matter will be discussed along with several other items at the city council meeting 5 p.m. Tuesday (tonight) in council chambers at the city auditorium.

TRF man in five car pile up near Salol

Thousands of dollars in damages were racked up but there were no injuries in a five car pile up near Salol Thursday, October 22.

Minnesota state patrol received a report of a five vehicle accident at 3:37 p.m. Thursday two and one half mile east of Salol on Highway 11. According to the accident report, a 1985 Chevrolet Blazer driven by Roger Dale Sonsteng of Roseau, was westbound on Highway 11 and had stopped to make a left turn into a private drive. A 1991 Chevrolet Cavalier driven by Myles Allen Erickson of Thief River Falls, stopped behind the Sonsteng vehicle. A 1983 Chevrolet Celebrity driven by David Gene Karol of Roseau, however, was unable to stop in time and his vehicle struck the Erickson vehicle and pushed the Erickson vehicle into the Sonsteng vehicle. A fourth vehicle, a 1987 Chevrolet Celebrity driven by Todd Allan Qual of Warroad was also unable to stop and it struck the Karol vehicle. After striking the Karol vehicle, and pushing all of the vehicles together again, the Qual vehicle slid into the east bound lane of Highway 11 and was struck by a semi trailer driven by Edward William Fish of Williams. Fortunately, there were no injuries in the accident. Damages, however, were estimated at $1,500 to the Sonsteng vehicle, $2,500 to the Erickson vehicle, $2,500 to the Karol vehicle, $2,500 to the Qual vehicle and $2,000 damage to the Semi driven by Fish.

The Minnesota state patrol is still under investigation. Charges are pending.

Whole Wheat Bible Study

WHOLE WHEAT BIBLE STUDY

Understanding grace

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

God's grace is so overwhelming! Grace means undeserved pardon, and we certainly are undeserving of God's grace toward us. Governments of this earth owe their existence to God's grace. It is because of God's grace that we continue to draw breath. We are called to repentance and our ears and eyes are opened to understand the Scriptures by God's grace (2 Cor. 4:3; 1 Cor. 2:12).

We have done nothing to earn grace. It is like salvation—something we cannot earn (Eph. 2:8-9). It's like a bonus turkey an employer gives his employee. He didn't earn it, it is a free gift. However, if the employee didn't please his employer with good works, he would be fired and there would be no free turkey. If that unworthy employee practiced bad works and bad working habits, he would be fired because when he was hired, he promised his employer he would do good works for him and glorify his business.

A true disciple of Jesus Christ, in the same way, agrees to glorify God with good works when he is baptized (Eph. 2:10; Rom. 6:4). God wants people to glorify His name with daily good works and to come out of a life of living daily bad works. Christ is purifying for Himself a people who are zealous for good works (Titus 2:14).

God did not have to call you to be His servant. He could have called someone else, but He didn't. By grace, God called you. So now, make your calling sure. Overcome evil by doing good, thinking good and speaking only what is good, until Christ is formed in you (Rom. 12:21; Psalm 37:27; Gal. 4:19). Then you will become a new creature, complete with the new nature, which comes from serving God by serving others for His glory. As you do these things, you will be worshiping Him in Spirit and in truth (Rom. 12:1; John 4:24; Phil. 3:3). This is how God wants to be worshiped today.

Candidates for MN House and Senate express views

Stumpf . . .

My work at the legislature has reflected that. I have served on the Senate committees for Education and Education Finance. For the past two years, I have chaired the Higher Education division of the Senate Finance committee. In this position, I have worked to keep Minnesota's colleges and universities as strong as possible.

Other committee assignments I have had include environment and natural resources, judiciary, finance, agriculture and rural development, transportation and taxes. These assignments have been challenging, but I have gained experience that helps me be more effective in representing northwestern Minnesota.

My work experience also has helped me represent the region. As a farmer, I face the same problems many other farmers face. I share their frustration with government over-regulation and have worked to stem the tide of paperwork. In the 1992 session, for example, I introduced a bill to reduce the power bureaucrats have to make rules affecting our lives.

My educational experience has also helped me at the legislature. I attended St. Paul Seminary, Metro State University and Syracuse university. At Syracuse I received a Master's degree in public administration. By studying government, I have become more effective at changing it to meet changing demands.

Those demands include using state resources more wisely. As the federal government cuts back on aid to states, Minnesota faces tough finance decisions. Some people believe that cutting aid to local governments and putting more of the burden on homeowners' through property taxes is the answer. I do not.

Support of rural schools through state aid is also an important issue. I do not believe that forced consolidation is right, nor do I believe that it will help students.

The right approach is to help rural schools operate more effectively. One way to do this is through adequate funding, flexibility, and interactive television, something I have supported. Our rural schools are an excellent environment for good education to take place.

I look forward to the opportunity to represent you in the Minnesota Senate. By bringing good ideas and sound reasoning, we can move close to finding solutions to problems we face and continue to make Minnesota a great state.

I would greatly appreciate your continued support on November 3rd.

Jensen . . .

Red River Valley Beet Growers Association and a 4-H adviser. I am a member of Trinity Lutheran church, the American Legion, the National Rifle Association, Minnesota-Dakota Growers Association and Minnesota Wheat and Barley Growers Association.

Why am I running for the State Senate District I Seat? I care about Minnesota!

Realizing a need for fundamental change in the way government operates is a basic reason why I decided to enter the senate race.

It seems our State Government has forgotten what public service means. Our state bureaucracy does more hassling than helping. The fact that more companies continue to choose other states in which to do their business means our tax base continues to shrink, and if times get tough essential goods and services will be unaffordable.

Waste in Minnesota is a critical joke. I am frugal and believe there must be clear justification for every penny spent and every tax charged by the government! History proves increased taxes have never checked the deficit and only lead to increased spending and more waste. Since 1983, the three largest tax increases in Minnesota history have been passed.

I believe Minnesota's largest employer should be the private sector not government! Today, the three top employers in Minnesota are: The University of Minnesota, Federal Government and State Government. In 1991 Minnesota companies created over 18,000 new jobs. Only 2,000 of these jobs were located in Minnesota. I believe we have to provide a better business climate giving incentives for entrepreneurs to invest in Rural Minnesota.

A better business climate would provide the tax base to improve the quality of affordable health care, and to continue Minnesota's excellence in education.

Environmental issues are one of our most important concerns, but I believe in dealing with them in accordance with one of Minnesota's most important industries which is agriculture.

I believe in limited terms and limitation of Political Action Committees (PAC) and special interest money because of the influence this has upon a legislator as opposed to the influence of the voter he represents.

I believe in traditional family values and respect the rights of each individual.

the Zion Lutheran church council as chairman, and also taught Sunday school for a number of years. I served on the Thief River Falls school board for nine years, three of those years as board chairman. I was formerly employed as the county executive director of ASCS for 13 years, 10 of those years in Pennington county. I also co-owned and operated Sparby-Johnson Implement Company for a number of years; and co-owned the Country Inn motel and participated in other business interests.

I am a member of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association, the Pennington county Sportsmen club, National Rifle Association, Lions and Eagles club.

I am running for state representative because I want to continue working on issues that are important to rural Minnesota, including health care, rural economic development, education and agriculture. I hold three positions in the House of Representatives that help me focus on those priorities. One of those positions I've held since I was first elected to the House. My seat on the agriculture committee has been a good opportunity for me to focus on agricultural issues.

The seat I have on the appropriations committee has been very beneficial to my constituents. It has given me the opportunity to work on funding for many of the communities in District 1B as well as the school and colleges. The committee seat assignment I have on the economic development committee has provided our area with input into legislation that I have worked on which enhances our job development base in northwest Minnesota.

Serving as vice chair of the ways and means committee gives me direct input into the flow of legislative business and in shaping what kinds of legislation is considered during the next session.

There are many issues that are important to rural Minnesota coming up in the next couple of sessions and I want to be at the Capital to work on them. Affordable and accessible health care, reforming the state workers compensation system, more equitable funding for education in rural Minnesota and enhancing agricultural aspects of Minnesota's diverse economy are some of those issues.

I am running for State Representative because I feel my work at the legislature isn't done yet. I believe the good people of rural Minnesota deserve a state representative who has a strong voice on their behalf, and has enough experience in the legislative process to be effective at meeting the needs of the district.

Your consideration, support and vote will be very much appreciated.

Finseth . . .

Senate aid for Senator LeRoy Stumpf. In 1986 I ran for State Representative in District 2B.

In 1987 I married Ruth Andrews. We currently live on a farmstead near Angus. We are members of the Evangelical Covenant church. For the last four years I have worked for the Marshall county Soil and Water Conservation district where I am manager. This has given me the opportunity to fight for farmers in northwest Minnesota. Fighting for what I believe in and helping farmers has proven to be the most difficult, yet most enjoyable part of my job. I have gone to bat for many farmers with problems with governmental regulations, many of those concern wetlands. Farmers have been very happy with the way I fight for them and with the results I have accomplished. My job also lets me talk with the people first hand and gives me the opportunity to listen to the concerns of the public.

The things that I hear the most are concerns over the State budget deficit, over regulation, lass of rights, politicians lack of true concern for the people and representatives from northern Minnesota giving in to urban legislators and voting the way they tell our representatives to vote.

I have these same concerns and more. I know the public does not want tax increases and I don't want them. People are tired of governmental bureaucracy and over regulation, and so am I. People want their concerns listened to and action taken, so do I.

Ruth and I are committed to northwest Minnesota. We want to do our best to make sure that this area is safe, healthy and economically solid for the future of all the children. This is why I am asking for your vote. I do not want a political career (I believe in term limits). I want to do my part to make this a better State and then move out of the way to let someone else do theirs. I make you one promise. I will listen to you and take your concerns to St. Paul and fight for them.

areas. My 10 years seniority will be vital for rural Minnesota. At the present time seniority determines chairmanships. I believe without the seniority system the people who live in the metropolitan area would receive all the chairmanships, it would be a great loss for rural Minnesota.

We must continue to press the point that rural Minnesotans deserve accessible health care, excellence in education, and a fair chance to compete in the marketplace. I believe that we must reexamine our state spending priorities to make sure that we are getting the most for our tax dollars. All of us are feeling the effects of the continuing national recession, but this is a perfect opportunity to take a hard look at state programs to cut back where possible and to enhance where necessary. We also need to be sure that our tax system is fair for all and based on people's ability to pay.

Homestead Credit, Agriculture Credit and Local Government Aid are very important to District 1A. Our Governor believes that the state is not raising taxes by taking away these credits. As a farmer, I know how important Homestead Credit and Agriculture Credit is, just look at your tax statement and add those figures to your taxes. This past session we tried overriding the governor's line item veto, but needing two-thirds majority we were unsuccessful because the Republican House members would not vote with the DFL. Your Homestead Credit was reinstated in the Omnibus Tax bill, by the majority votes of the DFL.

I am concerned about affordable health care and our rural health facilities. I didn't agree on how HealthRight should be funded. The two per cent gross revenue tax on hospitals and licensed health care providers could discourage doctors from coming to Minnesota's rural areas to work. I know how important our rural hospitals and caregivers are to this district, and to impose a tax on them would be taxing the sick.

As your State Representative, I have made great strides for our district. District 1A has four new schools; I was a strong supporter of the re-building of the Newfolden school. All the schools in our district have the opportunity for Interactive Television. I am proud to be an advocate for our rural schools. This past year, I received a 100 per cent rating for children, and a 100 per cent rating from nurses. My votes for agriculture resulted in a 100 per cent rating from Farmers Union. I assure you when I vote in St. Paul, my votes are for rural Minnesota.

My 10 years experience in the Minnesota House has made it clear that my constituents and I are partners. Any successes I have at the legislature are due, at least in part, to your input. I hope I can count on your support on election day, November 3, so I can continue to bring our message to St. Paul.

Magnusson . . .

As we have recently down sized our farm operation by selling the dairy herd and letting two rented farms go, I was rather pleasantly surprised when a search committee asked me to consider running for the position of legislator from my district.

I believe the most important issue the Minnesota legislature must focus on and act on in 1992 is the economy. We have had shortfalls the past two years and it is expected that along with this year a shortfall is also expected in 1994. Legislators must act together without regard to party to deal with this issue. The state must act responsibly in new laws and programs as it pertains to finances. Down-sizing government can be a part of the solution if we eliminate waste, fraud, duplication and over regulation.

Jobs for the state are most important. When over 18,000 new jobs are created in the state in 1991 by Minnesota businesses and only 2,000 of them stay in the state because of hostile attitudes by the state and unworkable Workman's Comp insurance it is time for the legislature to listen to the people and assure these jobs stay here instead of listening to lobbyists whose concerns are mostly in the best interests only of their special interest group.

Welfare reform is a must. Our welfare is a classic case of over regulation. The people who work in these offices are often forced to do things that could be considered illegal by rules sent down by persons who are never involved in local affairs. We need to leave these people the leverage to run the affairs of county welfare with less paperwork, less regulation and support for positive function of meaningful programs for those truly in need.

Equity in education and funding of all schools must also be a priority. When one considers that over 70 per cent of all students who graduate from greater Minnesota schools gravitate to the large cities in our state, there should be no consideration of disparity of funding all schools alike.

Reasonable health care for our citizens and assurances to our seniors that programs in place will be assured are a must.

Profit in farming must be pursued relentlessly. Farmers deserve a profit and profit in farming assures money flow in greater Minnesota more than any other programs. In an editorial in the Grand Forks Herald they said, "Insensitivity and ignorance to the peculiar needs of agriculture need to be overcome in Washington."

Family values need to be the basis for all policies related to needs of our people. We need protection but the state has no business entering our homes with useless regulation in the name of domestic policies.

'Two Rooms' Is fall play at Northland

Northland Community College will present its fall production, Two Rooms by Lee Blessing on October 29-31 at 8 p.m. and November 1 at 2 p.m. Cast members include Julie Pearson and Miranda Miller of Thief River Falls, Scott Halverson of Warroad and Cheryl Erickson of Red Lake Falls. The play is directed by Janet Haak Aarnes.

Unusual and provocative, this play deals with a subject much in the minds of contemporary society — the taking of innocent hostages by political terrorists. The two rooms of the title are a windowless cubicle in Beirut where an American hostage is being held by terrorists, and a room in his home in the United States which his wife has stripped of furniture so that, at least symbolically, she can share his ordeal. In fact, the same room serves for both, and is also the locale for imaginary conversations between the hostage and his wife, plus the setting for the real talks which she has with a reporter and a State Department official. These four characters relate an arresting and memorable story as they deal with the pain and fury of their situation.

Technical support crews for the play include Kelly Engelman, Terry Blacklance, Kristi Bothum, James Herceg, Jim Kindrick, Stacy Olson, LuCinda Patterson, Mark Bridges, Melinda Hausken, and Markus Carlson all of Thief River Falls, Andrew Dahlen and Rhonda Smsky of Goodridge, Jarrod Spoor of East Grand Forks, Tammie Siedschlag of Mahnomen, Trisha Prickett of Cambridge, Travis Kelley of Two Harbors, Patrick Myhrer of St. Hilaire, Joel Dub of Pisek, ND, and Karoll Walsh of Cooperstown, ND.

Performances will be held in the theatre at Northland Community College. Tickets are $5 for adults, $4 for senior citizens and 18 and under, and free for Northland College and Technical College faculty, students and staff. Tickets are available at Northland in Faculty C, and may be reserved by calling 681-2181, ext. 131. Tickets are also available at the door. Don't miss this compelling play.

Contemporary society has to deal with the real threat of political terrorists. Northland Community College's presentation of Two Rooms examines the issue of the taking of innocent hostages by political terrorists. Above, Julie Pearson, Cheryl Erickson and Miranda Miller, act out some of concerns involved in this tense situation. Two Rooms is written by Lee Blessing and will be presented October 29-31 at 8 p.m. and on November 1 at 2 p.m.

Cheryl Erickson and Julie Pearson confront each other in the Northland Community College production of Two Rooms. The play, which is written by Lee Blessing, deals with a subject much in the minds of contemporary society — the taking of innocent hostages by political terrorists. The play will be performed at Northland Community College 8 p.m. Ocotber 29-31 and at 2 p.m. on November 1.

Two Rooms by Lee Blessing is an unusual and provocative play that deals with a subject much in the minds of contemporary society — the taking of innocent hostages by political terrorists. Scott Halverson and Julie Pearson act out one scene in the play, which will be presented at Northland Community College October 29-31 at 8 p.m. and November 1 at 2 p.m.

The Road Is Done, The Weather Chilly; Now Wax Poetic, Roger Hille

Dedication ceremonies for the highway 32 improvement project have been scheduled for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, October 29, with a program at 11:45 a.m. in the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls. Free hotdogs and beverages will be provided by Northern State, Norwest and First National banks.

While the public in general has marveled at the volume of work accomplished on the project in the relatively short construction season, resident engineer Roger Hille of the Minnesota Department of Transportation in turn gives praise to the public for its part in the project. It's a neat little twist by the project coordinator, who not only juggled the construction schedule and public relations effort but found time to write a poem as well. Here it is:

TO WHOM THE KUDOS GO
by Roger Hille

When the job is well done, like the one was done here
It's time to say thanks, and give a big cheer
To all who contributed to make this new street
A safe and smooth passage, which also will meet
The wants and the needs of a city this size,
And for new development will be seen as a prize.

It is also the custom to give out some kudos
Ta key people involved, and decisions they chose
That made the job happen efficient and quick....
But there are so many—just how do we pick?

Should it be Cater, or Lyle with Sellin?
Or designers and the Council for what was foreseen?
Or craftsmen and laborers who toiled in the sun
Six days a week to get the job done?
Engineers, inspectors, the whole city crew?
When problems arose, they knew what to do.
Subcontractors, suppliers, truckers and such?
They all worked together while under a rush.

I think it's the public; the folks when each time
They pump in a gallon, give us two dimes
And entrust us to spend it to maintain and build Raads, streets and bridges with crafts that are skilled.
Sa now as this partnership comes to a close,
I give to the public the biggest kudos.

Nicely stated, Roger, but despite your kind words we well know the public isn't as saintly as you make it sound. In fact:

The griping and moaning when first you broke ground
Was truly a whining and pinful sound.
Then as you dug deeper and rain started to fall
All of Main Street became one wailing wall
As we warried and wondered when under the sun
The highway 32 project could ever be done.

We drove around your barricades, down in the trenches
Watched you from windows and doorways and benches
Critiqued, criticized, second guessed and avowed
That what you were doing should not be allowed.

The road was too wide, or, and sidewalks too narrow,
Your rumbling machines shook our bones to the marrow
When surfacing started it wasn't enough
That idiots chose to drive right through the stuff
But finding no way to reach their destination,
Came back through again for more devastation.

The taxes we pay when we fill our tanks
Are paid with no hint of appreciative thanks
For your expertise, efforts, patience and such—
We're more likely to claim that they are too darn much!

So thanks for the thanks, your words are most kind
And we will relay them if you don't mind
To the folks who know better, who know it is true
That really we all are beholdin' to you.
And so we say thanks, though you may deem it silly,
To the whole roadway crew and to you, Roger Hille.

Enterprise Zones Could Alleviate Poverty

"Government has been so preoccupied with preserving the safety net that it has failed to construct a ladder of opportunity for the poor," states Jack Kemp, U.S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. "It has been so preoccupied with redistributing wealth that it has forgotten how wealth is created."

Kemp's formula for alleviating poverty is the creation of enterprise zones, attracting capital to poverty pockets where it is most needed. He would eliminate the capital gains tax in distressed areas, permit expensing of equity investment in enterprise zone businesses and create a refundable income tax credit for the wages of workers in the zones.

He says the existing welfare system "provides millions of Americans with just enough cash to keep their heads above water. It not only discourages savings, there's actually a law against saving. It stops them (the poor) from owning their own homes and acquiring assets, and worst of all encourages family breakup."

Kemp says it is time to put ideology aside and join forces to address the problem. Existing safety nets must be preserved while at the same time providing incentives for business to invest in poverty zones, foster economic opportunities and enable individuals living there to acquire assets.

The idea makes sense and is certainly worth a try, but don't bet a liberal-dominated Congress will move on it. Those Congressmen are too reliant upon and loyal to a system of handouts rather than offering a hand up.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Character assassination is increasingly becoming more intense as the days before the election dwindle. The resounding plea from the left is that character is insignificant to presidential elections, but in full contradiction will employ the very same tactics as in the case of Clarence Thomas. Maybe it's more important than the left would like us to believe. Maybe it's the single most important issue that can be debated, the reason being that leadership in all forms is derived from character.

President Bush has served his country and its government faithfully. Without a doubt he understands the importance the military has meant to the freedoms and power of the United States. Gov. Clinton has contempt for the military and labeled it immoral, but he claims he is qualified to be Commander-in-Chief because he has sent out the Arkansas National Guard.

No offense intended to the Guard, but many cities have more policemen than Arkansas has National Guard members. In that sense David Dinkins is qualified to be Commander-in-Chief.

Congress is spending years and millions of dollars investigating President Bush in the Iran-Contra affair and now Iraq-Gate and has come up with the same thing they started with—nothing! Is that what we elected them for?

There is much more evidence suggesting Gov. Clinton was involved in reprehensible actions while jaunting through the Soviet Union protesting the U.S. The pitifully alleged affair rumors of President Bush, substantiated by a dead man's opinion, lasted less than a week because they had no substance. Need the Jennifer Flower tapes even be mentioned?

A commitment to protect life, which President Bush shows, is lacked by Gov. Clinton. President Bush's foreign policy is impeccable; who can refute it? Gov. Clinton is lacking in this area also, as with many other areas.

Webster defines character as an individual's pattern of behavior, personality or moral constitution. In this definition we must keep in mind the key word, pattern. The President of the United States is the Chief Citizen and representative to the world of the entire country. Isn't it logical that a representative has a pattern of integrity, honesty, loyalty and honor to the populace, government and nation he or she plans to represent?

Sincerely,
Nathan Blomker

Every Other Day Milk Deliveries To Start Here

"Proprietors of four local dairies announced today that, effective next Monday, November 2, they will inaugurate a new schedule of milk deliveries, calling for deliveries every other day instead every day as at present. The dealers point out in a formal announcement elsewhere in this issue of the Times that the change is necessary to meet the requirements of the Office of Defense Transportation so that the dairies may qualify for certificates of war necessity. It is further stated that rising costs are also a factor in the change."

3,300 Auto Licenses Issued to First of Week

"With three weeks still to go before the penalty becomes effective November 16, more than 3,300 motor vehicle licenses had been issued up to the first week from the office of Alex Campbell, deputy registrar, in this city. In 1941 a total of 5,300 licenses were issued up to November 15."

City Completes Improvement Job

"The major public improvement project carried out this year by the city council was completed last week when workmen finished pouring concrete for the new sidewalk and curbing along the east and south sides of the block in which the new Hartz building, now nearing completion, is located. Other parts of the project recently finished include the widening of Horace av. by 14 feet from Second to Third st., adding three feet to the width of Second st. from LaBree to Horace av., and the installation of new concrete paving in the alley passing through the block in which the Hartz building is located."

Busy Farmers Still Neighborly

"Farmers are busy, most of of them behind with their own work, but they are not too busy to help a distressed neighbor. Six weeks ago Ben Vatsaas who farms four miles northwest of town, was injured when his bundle team ran away. After nine days in a hospital he was able to return home but back injuries made it impossible for him to work. A group of neighbors then took over. They cut his corn and filled his silo. Then last week eight of them moved in with their tractors and plowed his fields.

"This week, northeast of town another group of neighborly neighbors held a similar surprise party. Last summer Orvin Peterson fell off a hay stack and injuries forced him to spend six weeks in a hospital and eight weeks in bed at home. On Tuesday Mr. Peterson looked out over his fields and saw 10 tractors at work."

From the Editorial Page

"A postscript to the men overseas. How about writing a letter to us telling how you spent Christmas and whatever is permissible about where you are and what you have seen. It will take weeks and maybe months to get here, but your folks and friends will be glad to read them. And for each one we use we'll send you a present."

And Another One...

"Another storm by-passed us Saturday night. Only a few miles to the south of us the ground was covered with up to seven inches of snow Sunday morning. Add this to the list of things we can feel good about."

"The construction department has turned over the Thief River Falls line to the operating department of the Great Northern railroad and in a few days regular trains will run to Thief River Falls. On Wednesday of this week, under the direction of Supt. J. W. Speelman, engine 123 made the first trip under special orders, Conductor A. B. Stilwell in charge of the train, Jerry Hurley, engineer. Public safety head gives tips

Department of Public Safety Commissioner Tom Frost has offered tips for adults to help make this Halloween a safe, fun holiday.

"This year, Halloween falls on Saturday, Oct. 31, one week after we switch from Daylight Savings Time," said Commissioner Frost. "That means it will be darker sooner on Halloween evening. Parents and other adults should make a special effort to ensure safe trick or treating for youngsters."

Among the safety tips offered by Commissioner Frost are:

- Children should trick or treat early in the evening, accompanied by at least one adult.
- Trick or treating should be confined to children's own neighborhoods.
- Drivers should especially watch for children crossing the street.
- Children should cross streets only at corners, and should walk, not run, on sidewalks.
- Costumes should permit adequate peripheral vision, and should be light colored. Reflective tape or other materials should be used to increase visibility of children.
- Costumes should be tried on before Halloween to ensure proper fit and to make sure vision is not obscured.
- Once trick or treating is done, adults should inspect treats before giving them to children.

Voters given challenge to turn out 70%

Secretary of State Joan Growe has challenged Minnesotans to turn around the decline in voter participation and break the 70 per cent mark in voter turnout.

"The number of people who vote has been declining in Minnesota as well as around the nation. Minnesota has led the nation in voter turnout in each of the past four presidential elections, but we want to do better," Growe said.

"Minnesotans have pride: pride in their communities, pride in their schools and pride in their participation. I believe Minnesotans will respond to the challenge to turn the decline around and break the 70 per cent participation rate in this Presidential election," Growe stated.

"I'm asking counties, cities and townships to challenge one another to get people out to vote. The Office of the Secretary of State will award certificates to the community that has the highest percentage of voters who go to the polls as well as the county with the highest voter turnout. All cities or townships breaking the 70 per cent mark will be recognized," Grow said.

Turnout is based on the number of eligible voters who actually cast a vote in an election. The 1990 census data for the population age 18 and over will be used to determine the number of eligible voters. Awards will be announced on December 14, the day presidential electors meet to cast Minnesota's vote for President and Vice-President.

Turnout figures for the past four Presidential election follow with national statistics listed first and state percentages in parentheses: 1976, 53.5% (75.4%); 1980, 52.56% (71.90%); 1984, 53.1% (69.49%; and 1988, 50.15% (67.23%).

Chamber offers new promotion

Thief River Falls chamber of commerce is embarking on a new promotion to help support local business and strengthen the economy. No interest loans will be provided to applicants just in time for Christmas.

The new promotion is called Christmas Cash. Christmas cash is a 0 per cent interest loan that can be obtained at any one of the three banks in Thief River Falls, Northern State Bank, Norwest Bank or First National Bank.

Loan minimums are $300 and loan maximums are $2,500 based on individual applicants eligibility. Loan applications can be taken from November 2 until December 18. The 0 per cent interest loan matures on April 1, 1993, and must be paid back to ensure that no interest is added to the loan.

All Christmas cash must be spent by December 24 or the consumer can redeem their Christmas Cash at the chamber at 90 per cent of value by January 4.

The whole idea of the promotion is to keep money in the Thief River Falls area. Money spent in Thief River Falls "rolls over" several times. For example, money spent in local businesses is used to make purchases from other businesses and pay the salaries of employees, who in turn spend money in local businesses. The more money that is spent in this area, the healthier the business climate and more jobs created. The more jobs created, the higher the demands for goods and services, the more this area grows and prospers. Every dollar spent, therefore, is important to keeping businesses and jobs.

The loan works this way: The consumer obtains the amount of Christmas Cash they expect to spend at Chamber member businesses from a local financial institution. The consumer then spends the Christmas Cash at participating Chamber member businesses. Like a check, the Christmas cash must be countersigned on the back by the bearer when redeemed at a Chamber member business in the Thief River Falls area. Businesses that are participating in the promotion will be identified by posters in the store and advertisements. The businesses then bring the Christmas Cash to the Chamber of Commerce for reimbursement. A check will be written for the amount less a 5 per cent merchant charge. One per cent remains with the Chamber to help defray printing costs, four per cent goes to the lending institutions to defray some of their costs.

Students receive lesson on voting

1,2,3 Connection, a newly-formed cooperative learning group at Washington elementary school in Thief River Falls, used the 1992 Presidential election year as a focus for its first project.

The cooperative learning group consists of first, second and third grade students, their teachers—Carol Schmitz, Cindy Vennes and Cheryl Hinschberger—and educational assistants. 1,2,3 Connection was devised by the three teachers and grew out of training they received through the School District 564 cooperative learning cadres.

Cooperative learning involves forming small groups of students to to discuss and learn about a particular topic, rather than having each student attempt to learn the material on an individual basis.

In its first project, 1,2,3 Connection attempted to familiarize the students in the three grades with the voting process before the November 3 Presidential election.

Students were placed in mixed groups to discuss the taste and appearance of cookies baked from recipes supplied by Barbara Bush and Hillary Clinton, wives of the two main Presidential candidates. Following the group evaluation, which included preparation of a written report on the results, each student was given the opportunity to vote by secret ballot on which cookie he or she preferred.

The students gathered in the school gymnasium where teachers and educational assistants helped them register as voters and receive their ballots. Each student then went to an individual voting booth to mark the ballot, fold it and place it in a ballot box between the Casting his ballot for his selection of what he believed to be the better cookie last week at Washington elementary school was Jason Blakely, son of Gary and Therese Blakely and a student in Cheryl Hinschberger's third grade class. First, second and third grade students received a lesson in voting procedure by comparing cookies made from recipes by Barbara Bush and Hillary Clinton, registering to vote, marking their ballot for the preferred cookie and placing it in a ballot box. Mrs. Bush's cookie won over Mrs. Clinton's cookie by a vote of 71 to 15.

Nelsons get their high from rock climbing

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When Ray and Jan Nelson have a day that makes them feel like climbing the walls—and they have had a lot of those days this summer—they can go right ahead and do it. The east wall of their house is perfectly suited for climbing—Ray built it to be that way.

It's not that it has been a frustrating summer for the Nelsons. Not at all. It's just that having the wall available makes them feel more like climbing.

Ray, a pharmacist at Ekeren Drug, is 54 years old. His wife Jan, a registered nurse on the night shift at Northwest Medical Center, is 52. They like nothing better than spending their free time climbing rocks, but there weren't many natural rocks around Thief River Falls that you couldn't safely jump down from after clambering to the top. A little ingenuity was in order to increase the challenge.

"I did a lot of thinking and planning and a lot of research," Ray said. "There are about 1,500 climbing walls in the United States, but very few privately owned and located outdoors. If we wanted to do any practice climbing without a lot of travel, I figured I had to build my own wall."

The wall is located on the side of the Nelson home south of Thief River Falls. It is made of 3/4-inch exterior grade plywood attached to 4x6-inch treated wood beams and measures 12 feet wide by 22 feet, six inches high. On one side there is a 48-inch wide by 12 feet high "overhang" which angles outward from the wall to a 24-inch wide top which requires the climber to lean backward while clinging by his fingertips.

To simulate natural rock climbing as much as possible, the climbing holds are actual granite rocks of various sizes which are ground flat on the back and drilled and countersunk to accept 3/8-inch bolts. The bolts have heads with hexagon holes to accept an allen wrench. They run through the rocks and holes in the wall and are tightened in place with T-nuts. With this system the rocks can be tightly secured but moved around from time to time to change the climbing pattern and the difficulty involved.

"Rock climbing is a very technical sport," Ray said. "Jan and I had one day of formal training in the Black Hills. Other than that, we watch videos, do a lot of reading and practice climbing as much as we can."

Safety is foremost in the Nelsons' climbing efforts. When ascending more than a few feet up the wall, they work as a team with ropes and climbing apparatus to protect against a fall. This also allows them to rappel down after making a climb to switch places or to climb again.

It's probably easy to forget your other cares while pressed against the wall, supported by your toes and fingertips and seeking another, still higher, hold. A stray thought in that situation invites a few scrapes and slivers at minimum.

In actual rock climbing, while picking your way up the side of a mountain or other rock face, a mental lapse resulting in an error can have much more damaging consequences. The Nelsons have had a couple of threatening experiences but no serious injuries.

Ray and Jan started rock climbing while mountain hiking in the early 1970s. They always enjoyed the outdoors and nearly all of their family vacations (they have two daughters, Jessica and Jennifer) involved outdoor activities. On their 25th wedding anniversary in 1988 they hiked to the 10,000-foot level of Mt. Ranier in Washington state but encountered too much snow to attempt climbing the rest of

Why do people climb rocks? One of the reasons is to have a view like the one shown here. The picture was taken with a disposable wide view camera carried by Jan and Ray Nelson of Thief River Falls while climbing Mt. Borah in Idaho this August. Despite the time of year the air was cold enough to freeze the water in their backpacks. They started their climb at 3:30 a.m. and by sunrise were looking down on the tops of clouds. They agree that climbing high provides a psychological high.

At this point on his climbing wall Ray Nelson says he could stop and eat his lunch. His shoes are made for rock climbing and he is shown attaching the anchors which secure the rope used while practicing on the wall. Safety is a prime consideration at all times.

Grandparenting in the '90's roles examined

The role of today's grandparents has changed considerably over the years. To help grandparents cope with these changes, the Minnesota Extension Service is offering a program on "Grandparenting in the '90's" in the following locations: Friday, November 6, 1:30 p.m. at the Thief River Falls courthouse meeting room; Thursday, November 5 at 1:30 p.m. at the Hallock courthouse meeting room; and Thursday, November 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the Red Lake Falls council room/city hall.

Deb Zak, Pennington county extension educator, will review the roles that grandparents can play in their grandchild's lives, whether they live in the same house or thousands of miles apart. The discussion will also focus on how divorce can affect the grandparent/grandchild relationship. Anyone interested in attending the program on grandparenting may attend at either location. Call Deborah Zak at 681-2116 for more information.

TRF Visitor's Bureau receives state funds

The Thief River Falls Convention and Visitors Bureau received $5,000 from the Minnesota Office of Tourism.

The bureau will use the funds to market TRF to Canadians in newspaper and periodical advertising.

"We do not have a large budget to begin with so it helps a lot," said Julie Olson, convention and visitors bureau director.

The Canadian marketing campaign will focus on marketing of natural resources, as well as shopping, camping, lodging accommodations, events and attractions available in the TRF area.

The campaign will also emphasize the availability of the Highway 59 border crossing in Lancaster and the TRF Regional Airport.

The state funds match local funds raised by the Visitor's Bureau through a 3 per cent lodging tax.

The state funds cannot be used for advertising within the local area or for participation in promotional activities.

The Office of Tourism in the Department of Trade and Economic Development has awarded grants to the TRF Visitors Bureau for the past 4 years.

Paul Roseland in concert at Newfolden

Paul Roseland, formerly of Newfolden and a collector of traditional Alaska folk songs, will appear in a free concert Thursday, November 5, at 7 p.m. at the Newfolden community center.

Roseland left Newfolden 45 years ago for Alaska. In 1967 he produced his first record album for the Alaska centennial and has since written a song book and produced three more albums. In 1968 he was the first Alaskan folk singer to appear in the International Folk Festival at Fox Hollow, Albany, NY. In 1975 he performed for the Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation during the Norwegian Immigration Sesquicentennial in Seattle, WA.

The American Norwegian Heritage Award was given to Roseland in 1989 to present five concerts at Norwegian museums explaining the importance of Norwegian music played in early American folk songs.

Roseland is currently working with a company from London, England, on a project supplying Klondike gold rush folk songs that he has collected for a program for the centenary of the gold rush of 1898.

Say What?!

By Karmen Lee Ortloff

Say What?!
The Election's Over!!
by Karmen Lee Ortloff

After almost two years of listening to Presidential want-to-bes, the '92 campaign is finally over and we now will have a new President. (Technically, as I'm writing this, the election hasn't officially been held, but that's only a formality—my candidate won. He will be the new President.)

We will no longer have to listen to the rhetoric, the promises, or the scandals. We won't have to watch the 30-second sound bites on the ten o'clock evening news or the constant flow of political commercials thrown at us between segments of the Simpsons.

Now, I could focus this installment of "Say What?!" on all the things the candidates failed to address, or other negative aspects of the '92 race.

I could spend a paragraph telling you how the electoral college is basically a crock. How the constitution was written hundreds of years ago, with women, Native Americans, African Americans, and the poor being excluded from the voting process. I could tell you that the electoral college was essentially set up as a select group with the capability of overriding the popular vote.

(Just so you know, Nebraska and Maine have the right idea. In those two states, the electoral votes are cast according to percentage of votes, therefore, it is not a winner take all deal. This eliminates the relative snubbing of states such as, oh say, Minnesota, by candidates due to the fact only ten electoral votes are up for grabs—ten votes that traditionally go to the Democrats. The possibility of picking up three or four electoral votes might be an incentive to candidates to pay attention and realize that the United States does not consist only of California, New York, Florida, Michigan and Ohio.)

I could have done those things, but I'm not going to. Instead, let's focus on the wacky, outrageous, and sometimes down right stupid things candidates have done to win votes. As always, these things are filtered through my eyes and I do have a cynical sense of humor, so bare with me.

We will start off with George Bush. Not because he's President or because he's the oldest, but because his name is first in the alphabet. (I have to be democratic about these things.) The first image of George Bush that comes to my mind each time I see him is that of trains. I like the whistle stop campaigning approach; it is very nostalgic. The scene conjures up images of bottled Coke (before it was changed to Classic Coke), of paper boys on street corners, and baseball games. (Being Catholic, I must confess, the train scene was not the first image I think of when I hear the name George Bush. Because he was not campaigning in Japan at the time, however, that scene just wouldn't do.) The whistle stop tour, on a "one of the better ideas the Republicans have had" scale of one to ten: ten.

Before moving on to other candidates, allow me to finish off the Republican ticket by making observations about Dan Quayle. Even though I disagree with his Murphy Brown assessment, I must confess (that Catholic thing again), I spell potato with and "E." Anyway, the name Dan Quayle also brings an image to mind for me. It was the Republican National Convention and the balloons have just dropped. The balloons (bigger, and generally better than those the Democrats had), in a truly awesome display that covers the podium, are waist high to Marilyn Quayle and are red, white, and blue. To be a kid and get to play in the midst of those things would be awesome, and that's primarily my focus. Way in the back of my unconscious mind though, I had visions of Dan Quayle sort of wandering off the podium and knocking himself silly (probably already done). Of course, this was the time rumors were circulating about dumping Dan Quayle, a mere coincidence?

Following the alphabet, we come to "C" and Bill "...but I didn't inhale..." Clinton. One can reasonably argue that Clinton just lost a million or so voters because he wasted good weed! This statement is the reason he's been working so hard to get the young voters, to make up for the loss of their parents. On the "duh, where were your speech writers" scale of one to ten: eleven.

Clinton's running mate, Senator Al Gore, also has been working hard to get the youth vote. In fact on a recent installment of MTV's Choose or Lose series, Gore feilded questions in a format that only allowed one word answers. This format is yet to be discovered by the other, more prestigious networks. For the record, when asked and offered a glimpse of Madonna's new coffee table book, Gore declined. (Bill probably has one he can borrow anyway.)

Lastly, we come to Ross Perot. By the way, does anyone else think that if you put little round glasses on the guy, he looks like Harry Truman? Just wondering. Ross Perot is a character. Just as Huckleberry Finn and Freddy Krueger are characters. Characters are only make believe and that is something we all must come to realize. Enough said.

The wives of candidates should not be fair game in an election, however, seeing as the Republicans did it, I will too. To Hilliary Clinton: I cannot bake cookies either. I, therefore, am able to bond with you. To Barbara Bush: I would probably eat your cookies any day—provided, of course, the sugar used in them was not from the Dominican Republic, due to the treatment of workers in that country. And finally to Margot Perot, I'd like to say that I know absolutely nothing about you other than you have impeccable taste in clothes.

Whether or not you vote for the Democrats, the Republicans, or an Independent candidate is not the issue. But rather, that you did or do vote. Voting is not to be taken lightly. I hope you studied the candidates and made an informed decision. If you just happened to vote the same way I did, YAY!

P.S.—I've been told that you are objective if you get an equal number of hate letters from both sides. I've tried to be as objective as I can and I eagerly await all the hate mail I am sure to generate. One more note (this one is really the last one): The above opinions are mine and mine alone. So send the letters to me directly and not the editors of the Times. Thank you.

IMPRESSIONS

BY BETH JOHNSON

If as you read this column you realize that you still have time to go to the polls to cast your ballot, put down the paper and go vote. Most of us, however, will be reading this column after the results of the election are known. The tally of popular votes and electoral votes will have been tabulated. The persons who have won or who lost will have given their appropriate speeches. The celebrating will be occurring in earnest by the victors. Campaign '92 is finally over.

We can all breathe a sigh of relief that we no longer need to be bombarded by commercial after commercial after commercial after commercial. We can look once again to news, not political commercials, being the subject of the nightly news shows on television. We can once again look for local business advertising and news stories to retake the space of the political advertising in the newspapers. The yards of this town and every town across America can once again look like yards, not political advertisements. Campaign '92 is finally over!

But, even as the campaign is over, the promises promised in this campaign have not yet had a chance to be fulfilled. Promises have been made by all candidates of every kind of election. Each candidate has promised to serve the people of their constituency. Each candidate has outlined ways in which he or she can better serve us than their opponent. Promises are not meant to be broken. The American people expect that candidates truly mean to fulfill their promises.

The promises made during this campaign dealt with the gamut of issues from health reform to education reform to economic recovery to nuclear reductions. They are surely promises that each of the candidates in their own way fully intend to fulfill.

Yet, real life overtakes campaigns. Real life is the time when each of the winning candidates will need to decide how those promises made will actually be fulfilled. Real life is the complications which arise which make for broken promises. Real life is when each individual candidate will be confronted with major decisions that may or may not be along the lines of their campaign plan. Real life is the time when each candidate will be tested to their maximum. Real life is when promises may need to be broken to better help our nation. Real life is when decisions will be made, either good or bad decisions, that will affect all of us.

Real life is not often discussed in campaigns. Campaigns create an image of life as we would like it to be in our country or state or town. This image is always an improvement of what currently exists in a local community or state or nation. Real life problems tend to tarnish this glorified campaign image.

So, now that campaign '92 is over, how do we think that our nation or state or community will be? Will we benefit from the results of the election? Will the victors truly help to better our lives or the lives of our children? Only time will surely prove which promises will truly be fulfilled and which will be broken. Only time will prove the effectiveness of the winning candidates.

Our nation, though, is not made of only those doing the governing. A town, a state, a nation, can only be as great as its people will enable it to be. We, the people, need to take the responsibility of supporting the governing of our nation. We first of all show our support when we exercise our constitutional right to vote. If you are eligible to vote and you haven't bothered to vote, you have not shown the support our government needs to be effective. Your vote does matter. Be sure to express your opinion by voting.

The voting is over, the election has been won. Life with its myriad of complications is just waiting to befuddle the best plans of our candidates. The victors in this election will need the support and encouragement of all of us. Don't give up on the candidates if they are not your choice. Instead, encourage them, pray for them, actively find ways to support the efforts you consider important. Real life can be overwhelming. As we all work together, we will not be overwhelmed.

Speaking Of . . .

Sharon LaCoursiere

Thank Goodness, the Day has Come

[illegible] we have been waiting for for many months [illegible] we have looked forward to with great anticipation [illegible]

[illegible] we get to the polls to choose a [illegible] people too. But the fact that this is voting [illegible] important thing about today.

Today is something more than voting day. Even more [illegible] than voting day, today is also the day we will see the end [illegible] campaigning and we can get back to normal!

[illegible] imagine it, no more of those one minute bragging "how [illegible]" radio and television blurbs done by those little people who are running so hard for offices. No more hours or half hours [illegible] watching a crafty candidate character tell us how wonderful he [illegible] and what outstanding things he or she will do for the country, the state, the county or city, as well as us, the Average American Citizen personally.

Just imagine it, back to the good old radio and television commercials that will try to sell us cars, diapers, laundry soap, shampoo, pet food, and all those other things we cannot afford, but they try to tell us we cannot afford to do without.

Before we can get back to normal, there is one more political event we must suffer through prior to returning to the familiar commercials interrupting our familiar radio and television shows. That political event is Election Coverage.

Election Coverage is the culmination of all of the months of politicking we have been watching and listening to. It is the time when the television and radio stations devote nearly all of their time to telling us who wins the elections, one way or another.

Today we will be hearing pre-election broadcasts and predictions that will tell us what to expect from the voting, who will be voting how and why, how many people are actually getting out to vote, and why they are or are not getting out to do it.

Later in the day, we will begin to hear election tallies and totals from every state, county and city that will tell us in specific terms who is getting voted into what, maybe, why they are getting voted into whatever, maybe, and just how that will affect the country in the next four years, maybe, if they all actually do get voted into whatever office it looks like they might be going to get voted into.

Tomorrow morning the final returns will give us the real lowdown and names of the actual winners in all the elections. We will hear these results over and over for the rest of the day, along with a variety of people trying to tell us why it happened the way it did, what it all means to us right now, and what it will mean to us in the next four years.

We will hear interviewers interviewing every average Tom, Dick and Mary to see what they think of how the election is going while it is going on, as well as what they think of the election once it is over. We will hear interviewers interviewing every political personality they can get hold of to see what they think of how the election is going, as well as what they think of the election once it is over, too.

Isn't it odd how the fancy dandy politicians have no more knowledge about the election than the average Tom, Dick and Mary? Actually, it is often the case that Tom, Dick and Mary are better informed and have more insight than the fancy dandy politicians. I'd much rather listen to the opinions of Tom, Dick and Mary, by the way.

We will hear these political things throughout most of the day and night during the Election Coverage. Once the votes are counted and the winners have had their arms raised in victory, we can all get back to normal. Won't it be nice to get back to normal?

Nonetheless, in spite of the humor of it all, do remember that your vote is very important and do GET OUT AND VOTE TODAY.

In groups of three, each including a first, second and third grade student, these Washington elementary school youngsters participated in an election exercise last week. The students sampled cookies made from recipes supplied by Barbara Bush and Hillary Clinton, wrote descriptions and opinions of them, then registered and cast their ballot for their preferred cookie. Mrs. Bush's cookie was preferred 71 to 15 with students commenting that the other cookie was "too crumbly" or "too hard." One third grader wrote, "This must be the first time Hillary Clinton has baked cookies." In addition to a lesson in voting, the students had a chance to work together in a cooperative learning situation.

The workshop is entitled "Taking Charge: Living with Diabetes," and the association encourages all persons with diabetes, their families and health professionals to attend.

The workshop provides up-to-date ideas about diabetes care and management for people with diabetes and their family.

Dr. Bruce Ring of Northwestern Clinic will open the workshop with a discussion titled, "What's New with Diabetes." Cindy Flannery, Riverview's Clinical Dietician and a diabetic for 31 years will present nutritional information on the exchange system, diabetes meal planning, eating out, reading labels, and illness and diabetes.

Certified Diabetes educator, Diane Bachmeier, and Julie Hursman, RN, who also has diabetes, will speak about insulin, oral hypoglycemic (diabetes pills), and blood glucose testing. Other discussion topics will include the treatment of low and high blood glucose, exercise, and the prevention of long-term problems related to diabetes.

Preregistration is required before November 5 as seating is limited. The fee for the workshop is $20 which includes lunch and snacks. There is no charge for a family member who accompanies a person with diabetes. Contact hours will be provided for nurses and other health professionals.

Experience in the election procedure in the United States was received by first, second and third graders at Washington elementary school last week. The students were placed in groups of three with one student from each grade in each group. They sampled cookies baked from recipes made available by Barbara Bush and Hillary Clinton—wives of the U.S. Presidential candidates from the two major parties—then wrote reports about the two cookies. In the top photo they are shown registering to vote and receiving their ballots. In the bottom photo they are marking their secret ballots at polling booths and placing them in the ballot box between the flags. Mrs. Bush's cookie won by a vote of 71-15.

Arctco, Inc., Digi-Key, Inc., and Northwest Medical Center have adopted the theme "70% by '92" as the slogan for their 1992 safety campaign.

A recent survey of seatbelt usage among Northwest Medical Center employees showed 56 per cent using their seatbelts—a lower percentage of use than among the general population, according to Gail Holland, public relations coordinator at the medical center.

"But in 1990 if every person in the country riding in the front seat of a motor vehicle had worn a seatbelt, an additional 10,000 deaths and nearly 300,000 serious injuries could have been prevented," Mrs. Holland said.

To increase employee safety awareness, this week (October 10-16) has been designated as "Seatbelt Emphasis Week" by Arctco, Digi-Key and Northwest Medical Center. In addition to payroll stuffers, articles, posters and table top information displays, a survey of seatbelt use will be taken at all three organizations.

"The use of seatbelts can save lives," Mrs. Holland said. "Motor vehicle crashes are the greatest single cause of death for people between the ages of one and 34. More children under the age of five are killed or crippled as passengers involved in motor vehicle crashes than the total number of children killed or crippled by the seven most common childhood diseases—pertussis, tetanus, diphtheria, measles, mumps, rubella and polio."

Mrs. Holland said 42,000 deaths result from crashes reported by the police each year and individuals are in the best position to prevent more of these deaths simply by wearing their seatbelts.

"Please join Arctco, Digi-Key and Northwest Medical Center by helping create awareness, buckling up and driving safely," Holland said.

Nominations sought for health boards

Citizens with interest in playing a part in the future of health care reform in Minnesota are encouraged to apply for one of six new regional health boards.

The boards, established under health care reform legislation enacted this spring, will make recommendations to the Minnesota Health Care Commission regarding ways to improve affordability, accessibility and quality of health care in each region.

In addition, the 16-member boards will make recommendations regarding major capital expenditures and the introduction of major new technologies and medical technologies in their area, facilitate voluntary agreements between area providers and undertake voluntary, cooperative community cost containment, access or quality of care projects.

Each regional board has three consumer members, one selected by the governor, one by local boards of health and the other by legislators representing the region.

To apply for one of the legislative-appointed positions, interested persons may contact their area state representative or senator, or can contact the Legislative Commission on Health Care Access at 375 State Office Building, Saint Paul, MN 55155, phone (612) 296-2317.

Tri-Valley gets Bremer grant

Otto Bremer Foundation has authorized $243,500 in grants to non-profit organizations in Minnesota. One of the non-profit organizations to benefit was the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc. of Crookston.

The Otto Bremer Foundation is a private charitable foundation established in 1944 by Otto Bremer. Its giving is concentrated on programs that benefit communities in Minnesota, North Dakota, and northwestern Wisconsin served by Bremer Financial Corporation, which is owned by the Otto Bremer Foundation and employees of Bremer First American banks, agencies and trusts. The foundation gives priority to programs dealing with rural poverty and those broadening understanding around issues of racism. Although its commitment to the countryside and rural communities dominates the foundation's grant making, support is also given to programs that address the issue of poverty in the city of St. Paul. In general, the foundation supports programs in the area of community affairs, human services, health and higher education.

The grant of $18,500 from the foundation to Tri-Valley Opportunity council was approved in September. Tri-Valley will use the grant for "the self empowerment of low-income families project which will provide transitional housing for poor families in Crookston."

State ranks near top in recycling

Each year the magazine BioCycle conducts a state by state survey to determine how much is being recycled in each state, how much is being burned and landfilled, how the material is being recycled and at what cost. BioCycle provides a good comparison as to how various states manage solid waste.

Only two states landfill less than Minnesota—Massachusetts and Connecticut. Massachusetts landfills 24 per cent of its waste, Connecticut 20 per cent, and Minnesota 39 per cent. It is notable that over 80 per cent of the states landfills more than 70 per cent of their solid waste.

Minnesota incinerates 25 per cent of its solid waste. Only four states incinerate more—Connecticut, Hawaii, Maine and Massachusetts.

Minnesota ranks number two in amount recycled, recycling 31 per cent of material generated. Only the state of Washington recycles more at 34 per cent. Other states including Massachusetts, Michigan and New Jersey also rank high in recycling. It should be noted that data varies somewhat because not all states use the same solid waste definition.

Minnesota also ranked high in disposal cost, with only eight states having higher landfill tipping fees, and no reported state with higher incineration fees. For incinerated material, tipping fees average $83 per ton, which is one of the highest reported in the nation. This is particularly significant since material incinerated and landfilled when combined, average out to a tipping fee that approaches $60 per ton. This would suggest that Minnesota disposal cost between landfill and incineration is one of the highest in the nation and provides Minnesotans a true monetary incentive to recycle.

Comparing number of curbside programs, Minnesota ranked third behind only New Jersey and Pennsylvania. When population is considered, Minnesota falls to seventh, because of the larger states' population. In terms of compost programs, Minnesota ranked first, with considerably more programs than any other state.

UND school of medicine gets accreditation

University of North Dakota School of Medicine has received full, seven-year accreditation from the national agency which oversees accreditation of medical schools in the United States, the Liaison Committee on Medical Education.

This marks the first time in the school's history that it has been awarded an accreditation term of this length, according to Dean Edwin James. Seven years is generally considered a maximum period of accreditation for institutions of medical education. The four-year School of Medicine has been fully accredited, but for shorter durations, since its inception in the mid '70s.

Arctco, Inc., Digi-Key, Inc., and Northwest Medical Center have adopted the theme "70% by '92" as the slogan for their 1992 safety campaign.

FMS students participate in honor chorus

On October 27 four Franklin Middle school students from Marcia Knuttila's 8th grade chorus were chosen to participate in the 1992 Junior High/Middle school Honor Choir Concert hosted by the University of Minnesota, Duluth, music department. Performers in the 180 voice Honor Choir Concert were Lene Rodehl — soprano, Michelle Mathson — alto, Jordan Goldesberry — tenor, and Jacob Jacobson — bass.

Thirty-three junior high/middle schools were represented in this select group of choral students performing in the 1992 honor choir clinic held during the day rehearsing to put a polished finish on the five choral pieces for the 4:45 p.m. Honor Choir Concert performed in the Marshall Performing Arts Center.

The choral program included "Like An Eagle" by Carl Strommen, "Save the Child (Liverpool Oratorio)" by McCartney & Davis/Crocker & Klavberg, "Shenandoah" arranged by Linda Spevacek, "Lord of Hosts, We Praise You Forever" by Franz J. Haydn, arranged by Hal H. Hopson, and "Shut de Do" by Randy Stonehill, arranged by Mark Hayes.

Dennis Jewitt, vocal music instructor at Plymouth Middle School, also adjudicator and clinician for vocal contests and festivals, rehearsed and conducted the junior high/middle school honor chorus.

Family night was observed recently at Oakland Park Nursing home when family members of residents were invited for a special evening meal with them, prepared by the Oakland Park dietary department. Tri-Valley gets Bremer grant

Otto Bremer Foundation has authorized $243,500 in grants to non-profit organizations in Minnesota. One of the non-profit organizations to benefit was the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc. of Crookston.

The Otto Bremer Foundation is a private charitable foundation established in 1944 by Otto Bremer. Its giving is concentrated on programs that benefit communities in Minnesota, North Dakota, and northwestern Wisconsin served by Bremer Financial Corporation, which is owned by the Otto Bremer Foundation and employees of Bremer First American banks, agencies and trusts. The foundation gives priority to programs dealing with rural poverty and those broadening understanding around issues of racism. Although its commitment to the countryside and rural communities dominates the foundation's grant making, support is also given to programs that address the issue of poverty in the city of St. Paul. In general, the foundation supports programs in the area of community affairs, human services, health and higher education.

The grant of $18,500 from the foundation to Tri-Valley Opportunity council was approved in September. Tri-Valley will use the grant for "the self empowerment of low-income families project which will provide transitional housing for poor families in Crookston."

State ranks near top in recycling

Each year the magazine BioCycle conducts a state by state survey to determine how much is being recycled in each state, how much is being burned and landfilled, how the material is being recycled and at what cost. BioCycle provides a good comparison as to how various states manage solid waste.

Only two states landfill less than Minnesota—Massachusetts and Connecticut. Massachusetts landfills 24 per cent of its waste, Connecticut 20 per cent, and Minnesota 39 per cent. It is notable that over 80 per cent of the states landfills more than 70 per cent of their solid waste.

Minnesota incinerates 25 per cent of its solid waste. Only four states incinerate more—Connecticut, Hawaii, Maine and Massachusetts.

Minnesota ranks number two in amount recycled, recycling 31 per cent of material generated. Only the state of Washington recycles more at 34 per cent. Other states including Massachusetts, Michigan and New Jersey also rank high in recycling. It should be noted that data varies somewhat because not all states use the same solid waste definition.

Minnesota also ranked high in disposal cost, with only eight states having higher landfill tipping fees, and no reported state with higher incineration fees. For incinerated material, tipping fees average $83 per ton, which is one of the highest reported in the nation. This is particularly significant since material incinerated and landfilled when combined, average out to a tipping fee that approaches $60 per ton. This would suggest that Minnesota disposal cost between landfill and incineration is one of the highest in the nation and provides Minnesotans a true monetary incentive to recycle.

Comparing number of curbside programs, Minnesota ranked third behind only New Jersey and Pennsylvania. When population is considered, Minnesota falls to seventh, because of the larger states' population. In terms of compost programs, Minnesota ranked first, with considerably more programs than any other state.

UND school of medicine gets accreditation

University of North Dakota School of Medicine has received full, seven-year accreditation from the national agency which oversees accreditation of medical schools in the United States, the Liaison Committee on Medical Education.

This marks the first time in the school's history that it has been awarded an accreditation term of this length, according to Dean Edwin James. Seven years is generally considered a maximum period of accreditation for institutions of medical education. The four-year School of Medicine has been fully accredited, but for shorter durations, since its inception in the mid '70s.

Thief River Falls police officer Danny Winskowski demonstrates fingerprinting during the Junior Girl Scout lock-in October 23 at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls. She showed the 200 girls and 40 leaders attending how fingerprinting is done, how a fingerprint is lifted at a crime scene and how fingerprinting is used in law enforcement work.

Making paper was one of the activities for Junior Girl Scouts participating in the lock-in October 23 at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls. This was one of several science projects involved with the Science Sleuth badge program. Activities were conducted from 9:30 p.m. Friday to 7 a.m. Saturday with 200 scouts and 40 leaders from 19 area troops participating.

Creating a volcano were these Junior Girl Scouts during a lock-in Friday evening, October 23, at Franklin middle school in Thief River Falls. Sand was packed around a bottle, half an eggshell cradled in the bottle opening, vinegar placed in the eggshell and baking soda added to create the bubbling "lava" flow. The girls were working on their "Science Sleuth" badge from the Junior Badge Book. There were about 200 girls and 40 adults from 19 troops taking part in the over-night program which lasted from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. The troops were from Thief River Falls, Middle River, Red Lake Falls, Roseau, Wannaska, McIntosh, Karlstad, Grand Forks, Erskine, Viking, Newfolden, Warroad, Greenbush and Gonvick. Helping to plan and conduct the event were members of Cadette Troop 380 of Thief River Falls with Elaine Gaffaney as leader. Cadette scouts telling about their experiences in the "Wider Opportunities" program were Nicola Armstrong, Thief River Falls, Europe; Sara Olson, Thief River Falls, Science Museum in St. Paul; and Tricia Blumner, Greenbush, Black Hills in South Dakota.

Irv Inniger, former basketball coach at North Dakota State University in Fargo, will be guest speaker at a youth night program Wednesday, November 11, at the Marshall County Central high school gym. The session is being sponsored by youth groups of churches in the Newfolden, Viking and Holt communities and everyone is invited to attend. A free-will offering will be received.

"I'M NOT A PEAK BAGGER!"

Jan and Ray Nelson are shown in front of their climbing wall which Ray built on the side of their house this summer. At the upper right is the "overhang" which angles out from the wall by 24 inches on a 12-foot height. The Nelsons use the wall for recreational physical conditioning and training for actual rock climbing expeditions.

Hand holds on the climbing wall at the Ray and Jan Nelson home may be only fingertip size. It adds to the challenge of scaling the wall. In actual rock climbing the holds will often be smaller than this. The rocks are pieces of real granite, ground flat on the back side, drilled and countersunk to accept a 3/8-inch bolt which tightens to a T-nut with an allen wrench.

After reaching the top of the climbing wall he attached to the side of his home south of Thief River Falls, Ray Nelson reppels back down with the assistance of his wife, Jan. Safety apperatus is always used and the couple assists each other in climbing efforts by anchoring the safety rope. The wall is 22 feet, six inches high and Ray is planning to add another 10 feet of height.

Jan Nelson reaches for a hold while climbing the wall her husband built this summer on the side of their house. It is an activity that provides exercise and conditioning as well as training for more natural rock climbing pursuits in other areas.

Nelsons get high from rock climbing

the way to the 14,410 foot summit. Since then they have taken an increasingly intense interest in climbing.

In September of 1990 they scaled 14,494-foot Mt. Whitney in California, spending 50 hours on the mountain after leaving a parking lot at 8,300 feet. They hiked six and a half miles to get to the 12,000-foot level where they camped overnight. Early the next morning they began the climb to the summit, making 98 switchbacks to reach the summit just before noon.

They spent about an hour and a half at the summit, returned to the 12,000-foot level by 4:30 p.m. and stayed there overnight before hiking back down.

On the same trip they climbed Half Dome Peak in California and Dana Mountain in Yosemite National Park.

Last year they climbed 14,431-foot Mt. Elbert, the highest peak in Colorado, camping at the 10,000-foot level and hiking a five-mile trail to the peak the next day.

At Long's Peak in Rocky Mountain National park, Ray and Jan started their ascent at 3:30 a.m. and by sun-up were above the clouds. "It was a breath-taking sight and one of the reasons why climbing is so exhilarating," Jan said.

Conditions on the mountain are often harsh. Climbing Mt. Borah, the high point in Idaho, the Nelsons found that the 12,662-foot summit was obscured by the smoke from a forest fire five miles away. Although it was August, the air was so cold that water froze in their backpacks and they stopped every hour to eat. Ray injured his knee and because of the pain in flexing it he backed down the hiking trail so he could keep the leg extended.

In the fall of 1991 they joined the Highpointers Club as its 500th and 501st members. The club was started in 1987 by Jack Longacre and is for people who have stood or intend to stand on the highest point of all 50 states. This ranges from 345-foot Britton Hill in Florida to 20,320-foot Mt. McKinley in Alaska and 13,796-ft Mauna Kea in Hawaii.

Enroute to attending the annual Highpointers convention this month in Mt. Rogers, VA, the Nelsons carried the club banner to Timms Hill, the highest point in Wisconsin at 1,951 feet. The banner has been to the highest point in 43 states, including trips up Mt. McKinley and Mauna Kea. It must be carried by a different club member to each state high point.

Minnesota's high point, incidentally, is Eagle Mountain northeast of Grand Marais at 2,301 feet. The Nelsons have climbed that, as well as reaching the high points in Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Michigan and California. On the current trip they added visits to the highest points in Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri and Iowa.

Some of the high points are not really great high points. In Iowa, for instance, the 1,670-foot highest elevation point is a farmer's feedlot (watch out for slippery rocks!). In another state it is a parking lot.

When their daughters were growing up the Nelsons took annual ski vacations and they have been to 43 different downhill ski areas in the United States. They still enjoy skiing, including the cross-country variety, but it has taken a priority drop behind rock climbing.

"We still ski," Ray said, "but it is more a part of our year-around workout program. I jog, lift weights several times a week, ride bicycle, do a lot of walking and, this year, climb the wall.

"While I was still a heavy smoker a few years ago I didn't think I would live to do a lot of these things. When I quit I realized that there was a good chance I could do them."

Ray wants to add another eight or 10 feet to the height of his wall and to space the rocks a little further apart to make the challenge greater.

"There are a couple of spots on the wall now where I could stop and eat my lunch," he said. "I think it would be more fun if it was a little tougher."

polling booths.

Voting results mirrored the written reports which had been turned in by the student groups. The reports indicated that Hillary's cookies were "too hard" and "too crumbly" with one group suggesting that "it must be the first time Hillary Clinton has baked cookies." Voting results showed the students favored Barbara's cookies 71 to 15.

"Intention of 1,2,3 Connection is for students to work cooperatively in groups which cross grade levels while maintaining independent thinking," Carol Schmitz said. "As the school year progresses the program will integrate language arts, mathematics, social sciences and the arts around central themes or units.

"The three teachers who founded 1,2,3 Connection believe education is a continuous, cooperative process from one year to another and from one subject area to another," Schmitz emphasized. "We are pleased with the interest and participation by the students as indicated by this first project and are eager to continue with more projects in the future."

Meeting to discuss potential grad requirements

The meeting is Monday, November 16 in the Detroit Lakes Jr. High School auditorium, East Central Street.

When implemented the rule will require demonstrated achievement of learner outcomes rather than completion of courses based on clock hours.

The rule has been substantially changed in response to public concerns voiced during a previous round of regional meetings. The Minnesota State Board of Education is again seeking suggestions from the public before presenting a second draft of the proposed rule to the legislature this winter.

Public input will be used to further revise the proposed rule before presenting it for review by the legislature in February 1993. The legal rule hearing process is scheduled for June 1993, with final adoption set for August 1994. Full implementation is set for the year 2001.

The revised version calls for state standards and total latitude on how to implement them at a local level. The state will help local educators design assessment processes to measure student achievement of the standards.

The three performance levels in the previous draft were replaced with a single state standard so learner achievement is reported in relationship to high expectations. This standard specifies the level at or above which all students are expected to perform, as well as setting an optimum level of performance.

Minnesotans thought the three levels in the previous draft would result in tracking and discrimination against some learners.

The requirement for a personalized learning plan for every student was dropped and made a district option because of public concern that the requirement would be costly and time-consuming.

The first draft contained a single list of interdisciplinary graduation outcomes. The new version separates the key skills and concepts taught across the curriculum from outcomes specific to subject matter. This allows teachers flexibility to work across disciplines while ensuring that essential outcomes are learned.

After the rule is revised based on this round of public meetings and reviewed by the legislature, a third draft will be presented for further public comment. Models for student assessment will be developed and tested at selected pilot sites from June 1993 through 1995, with a second report to the legislature set for February 1994, followed by the legal hearing process and final adoption.

Prowlers reach Section 8A finals

■ TRF advances with 21-0 semifinal win at Fergus Falls

A rock solid effort on defense, combined with a big play offense carried Thief River Falls past host Fergus Falls 21-0 Saturday in the Section 8A high school football playoff semifinals. The win advances the Prowlers into the state playoff-qualifying Section 8A finals for the first time ever.

The championship game appearance will come Friday at 6 p.m. in Detroit Lakes. The defending Section 8A champion Lakers, ranked No. 3 in the latest Class A state polls, went to 10-0 Saturday with a 41-18 semifinal romp over Little Falls. The Prowlers are 7-3.

Fergus Falls beat Thief River Falls 28-19 during the regular season, but the 8-1 second-seeded Otters couldn't move the football against the third-seeded Prowlers in the post season rematch. They netted just 113 yards worth of offense, and never mounted a serious scoring threat. Fergus Falls ran out of downs at the Thief River Falls 31-yard line in the second quarter, and the Otters reached that same spot on their first possession of the second half. But that was as close as they came to the Prowlers' end zone. Fergus Falls was limited to 94 yards on the ground, and added only 39 yards passing. The Otters' biggest gain was a 36-yard burst by Scott DeBrito on that second half-opening possession, which meant 27 other running plays produced a mere 58 yards.

"Defensively we did as fine a job as any football team could do," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "We shut them down. The kids played a heckuva game."

And the Prowlers' offense, led by quarterback Jason Svir, came up big, too. Svir, who helped generate a 13-7 quarterfinal win over East Grand Forks Tuesday by running for 77 yards on 20 carries – mostly on scrambles out of the pass pocket, did his thing in the air this time. The 5-10, 160-pound senior was 9-for-13 passing for 182 yards. He threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score.

Halfback Marc Haugen caught both touchdown passes and wound up with 140 yards on four catches.

"Offensively we made the big plays when we had to," pointed out Mumm. "Everything we did seemed to go right for us tonight."

Thief River Falls reached the Fergus Falls 18 on the first drive of the game, but there was no scoring until the final moments of the first half when Svir and Haugen connected on an 8-yard touchdown play with just 28 seconds left. Svir intercepted Fergus Falls quarterback Brady Jensen near midfield with 47 seconds left, and promptly went to Haugen for a 36-yard pass play that also had a penalty tacked on, moving the ball to the Otters' 9.

Two plays later Svir rolled left and found Haugen open in the end zone. The kick was off-target, leaving it 6-0.

The Prowlers had only two offensive possessions in the third quarter, but that was enough to increase their lead to 21-0.

Svir hit Haugen in stride over the middle on a 20-yard completion that was turned into a 60-yard touchdown when Haugen out-ran the defense to the end zone.

The two-point conversion might of been the most remarkable play of the night as Svir scrambled, breaking away from several would-be tacklers and lobbed the ball into the end zone as he was trying to catching his balance back around the 20-yard line. The ball floated into a crowd, and Carter Rogalla came down with it for a 14-0 lead with 6:55 gone in the third quarter.

Four plays later a 20-yard Fergus Falls punt put the Prowlers back in business at the Otters' 36, and they capitalized on the opportunity when Svir scored on a 12-yard run with 1:13 left. Barry Rineberger's kick made it 21-0.

The Prowlers, who spent the fourth quarter concentrating on running time off the clock, ended up with 101 yards on the ground. Haugen had 42 of those yards on 12 carries.

Senior Eric Halbert, a 6-5, 235-pound offensive lineman, also shared the spot light for the Prowlers by putting all four of his kickoffs into the Fergus Falls end zone, eliminating any run-back possibilities for the Otters, and forcing them to start at their 20-yard line on each possession.

"Our kids played as well as we've ever played," offered Mumm. "This was the biggest football game our school has ever played, and next week will be even bigger. We've talked about getting from one level to the next. We did that in beating East Grand Forks, then Fergus Falls. Now it's Detroit Lakes. We're really looking forward to the challenge. It's going to be fun playing them again. Right now, the way we're playing, I'd say we're one of the best teams in Section 8. It'll take a heckuva Detroit Lakes team to beat us. I know they'll be tough, but we think we can play with them. It should be a great game."

Prowlers challenge Lakers a second time Friday night

Thief River Falls and Detroit Lakes are right back where they started the 1992 high school football season – facing each other at 6 p.m. Friday at Molberg Field in Detroit Lakes. However, this time the stakes are a little higher – a berth in the Class A state playoffs.

Detroit Lakes kicked off an 8-0 regular season back on Sept. 4 with a 21-2 win over the visiting Prowlers. The defending Section 8A champion Lakers are now 10-0 following one-sided post-season wins over Wadena-Deer Creek 55-6 and Little Falls 41-18.

Thief River Falls finished 5-3. The Prowlers won five straight after the first-game setback, but then lost their final two regular season starts to Fergus Falls 28-19 and East Grand Forks 14-13.

However, Thief River Falls gained a measure of post-season revenge over both Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks by beating the Green Wave 13-7 and the Otters 21-0 in the Section 8A quarterfinals and semifinals, respectively. Now they will try duplicate that turnaround trend against the Lakers.

Detroit Lakes followed that pattern last year when the Lakers lost their season opener to Fergus Falls, but came back to knock off the Otters 14-13 in overtime in the Section 8A finals. They added a first round state playoff win over Hutchinson, but lost to Rocori in the semifinals.

"We'll see which team has progressed the farthest since the beginning of the year," noted Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "Detroit Lakes as been picked from Day One as the favorite, and they have lived up to those expectation. They have an outstanding football team. They have speed, size and strength – all the ingredients you need to have a strong team. It'll be a real challenge for our kids."

However, Mumm isn't about to sell his team short at this point. The Prowlers also have outstanding speed, solid size and have been able to more than hold their own against the physical teams down the stretch this fall.

"I think the two teams match up pretty well," said Mumm. "It'll come down to execution. Which ever team can get the job done with a minimum number of mistakes will win the football game."

The Prowlers had trouble moving the football against the Lakers in the opener. But runningback Marc Haugen played little that night because of illness, and since that time Thief River Falls has renovated its offensive line.

"We've made a lot of changes in the offensive line since that first game," acknowledged Mumm. "The kids we have in there now are playing well for us."

Thief River Falls' all-senior starting offensive line-up includes tight ends Josh Balmer and Rick Ostby, tackles Darrin Weleski and Eric Halbert, guards Robert Nelson and Brad Kragness, center Lee Nieland, quarterback Jason Svir, and runningbacks Kevin Johnson, Carter Rogalla, and Haugen.

On defense the Prowlers start seniors Shane Skeim and Adam Jacobson at the ends, Weleski and Nelson at the tackles, and senior Jason Niemi at nose guard, with Ostby, junior Chris Ortloff and sophomore John Davis at linebacker, and Svir, along with seniors Nathan Knutson and Wade Evenson in the secondary.

Several others see almost as much playing time as the starters coming off the bench.

"We play a lot of kids, and they're all doing a nice job," said Mumm. "We've got 55-56 kids who are all working hard and having a lot of fun."

While the Prowlers look forward to their first-ever championship game appearance, the Lakers will be shooting for their third straight Section 8A crown. They edged Fergus Falls 10-8 in the 1990 finals, and beat the Otters again in the 1991 title game.

A balanced Detroit Lakes offense is headed by quarterback Toby Steinmetz, a 180-pound junior who threw four touchdown passes as the Otters built a 41-6 first half lead en route to the semifinal win over Little Falls.

The Lakers' ground game is spread among several backs, led by 170-pound senior Chad Rosell and 155-pound junior David Johnson. Eric Gilbertson and Erik Gunderson have also be used extensively as ball carriers.

Jason Maneval and Jason Ziegler, a couple of 6-3, 195-pound ends, anchor the Lakers' line.

The Detroit Lakes-Thief River Falls winner will host the Section 3A champion in a first round Class A state playoff quarterfinal game – most likely on Friday, Nov. 13. Brooklyn Center (10-1) and Totino Grace (6-4) will be matched up in the Section 3A finals. No. 1-seeded Brooklyn Center beat St. Paul Humboldt 30-6, while No. 3-seeded Totino Grace handled No. 2 Mahtomedi 44-13 in Saturday's semifinals.

Semifinals and finals in all five Minnesota State High School League football classes will be played at the Metrodome in Minneapolis. Semifinal games will be played Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21. The five Prep Bowl championship games will be played Friday, Nov. 27.

Spartans sweep NCC

Fergus Falls stopped Northland 15-4, 15-6, 16-14 Friday in a community college volleyball match played in Thief River Falls that closed out a disappointing 5-20 season for the Pioneers.

Northland was winless in six Minnesota Community College Conference Northwest Division matches.

"We had a lot of problems to start the year, and we just couldn't overcome the injuries," noted Northland coach Deb Jacobson.

Northland had 11 kills in Friday's first game, produced just six of them in Game 2, but bounced back to record 12 in the final game.

Jill Brantl finished the night with 13 kills, while Kathy Kvick had 9. Jodi Chaplinski had 10 blocks for the night and Leigh Anderson picked up 9.

Swimmers close year with Pirates

Final regular season meet of the 1992 season for the Thief River Falls girls high school swimming team will be a 5 p.m. Thursday dual against Crookston at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Section 8 meet will be held Nov. 13-14 at the University of North Dakota.

The Prowlers competed Saturday at the Fargo South Invitational, where they placed sixth as the only Minnesota entry in an otherwise all-North Dakota nine-team field. Mandan won it with 348 points, followed by Minot with 334, Fargo North 252, Fargo South 149, West Fargo 134, Thief River Falls 107, Grand Forks Red River 53, Fargo Shanley 14, and Grand Forks Central 4.

Top Thief River Falls placing at the Saturday meet was a second by Amy Adams in the 100 butterfly.

"The times were solid, but most of our work right now is designed to get us ready for the section meet," explained Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken.

Winter sports seasons

Winter sports activities are just around the corner for high school athletes, and Thief River Falls Activities Director Lee Alger reminds participants to have the proper forms completed before the start of preseason practice drills.

Students involved in a fall sport need only to pay the participation fee to be ready for the start of the winter sports season. If the student has not been out for a fall sport, the necessary forms must be filled out and a current physical must be on file in the activities office.

All forms can be picked up at Alger's office.

Under Minnesota State High School League regulations, hockey and girls basketball practices can start Nov. 16. Wrestling and boys basketball work-outs begin Nov. 23, while the opening date for boys swimming is Nov. 30.

Backcourt Club meets

Thief River Falls Backcourt Club will meet Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at the Rex Cafe.

All basketball fans are invited to attend.

Sportsmen's Club

Next meeting for the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club is scheduled for Nov. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the club house.

The club hosted sighting-in days the past two weekends as deer hunters prepared for the upcoming firearms season. Safety was stressed on the line, and club officials encourage all hunters to continue the safe hunting procedures throughout the 1992 hunting season.

Those who might have purchased guns or scopes this week and need a place to try out the equipment before the start of the season should contact a club member, who will try to get them on the range for practice rounds.

Prowlers fall in North Sub-Section 8AA volleyball...

Bemidji ends TRF season

Bemidji started strong and managed to hold on Monday for a 3-1 first round North Sub-Section 8AA high school volleyball win over host Thief River Falls.

The No. 5-seeded Lumberjacks beat the No. 4-seeded Prowlers 15-10, 3-15, 15-10, 15-10.

Thief River Falls' 1992 season ended at 8-15, with two of those wins coming against Bemidji. The reward for winning? The 10-12 Lumberjacks must go to Alexandria Thursday for a 7:30 p.m. semifinal match against top-seeded Alexandria, the defending Section 8AA champion.

The Lumberjacks ate up the Prowlers at the start, running up a 14-4 lead before Thief River Falls came alive behind the serving of Ali Peterson. She dished up six straight points, including an ace to make it 14-10.

The rally fell short, but the Prowlers carried the momentum into Game 2 and dominated play. Jamie Martell helped turn a 5-2 edge into a 12-3 gap with a string of seven straight service points, and Carie Lawrence closed it out with a kill and a block to tie the match at 1-1.

Bemidji regained the upper hand in the pivotal Game 3 when Thief River Falls errors, a kill by Ruth Tank and an ace serve by Timberly Fallis helped stake the Lumberjacks to an 8-1 lead.

It was still an 11-3 spread when Thief River Falls began a comeback that made it 12-10 when Martell won out on a tie-up at the net for a point.

Neither side was able to hold onto the ball, however, with Thief River Falls twice putting up errant serves, before a double-block by Tank and Beth Toftum made it 14-10. The Prowlers were then unable to come up with a clean bump on a deep hit by Tank that finished off the 15-10 decision.

Thief River Falls again battled long and hard in Game 4, but never caught Bemidji after giving up a 6-5 lead.

The Lumberjacks were up 11-6, only to have the Prowlers pick up points on a block by Kendra Dimich, back-to-back Bemidji errors, and a deep kill by Lawrence to pull within 11-10.

However, Tank caught the corner with a spike to break the Prowlers' serve, Jodi Stebe's hit was bumped into the net, and Thief River Falls was called for a net violation on an apparent side-out block by Lawrence.

A ace by Tank made it 14-10 and the Lumberjacks got the final point when Thief River Falls hit the ball into the net.

"Passing, and serve receiving – those were the two things that really hurt us," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "The kids worked so hard, but we just weren't getting it done on offense."

Toni Chiodo led the Prowlers with 10 last-touch points and 12 kills. Martell finished with 12 service points and LuAnne Maslowski was credited with 18 set assists. Maslowski was named Player of the Night by the Thief River Falls coaches.

"It was a tough loss for the kids, especially for the seniors to lose their last match at home like that," mentioned Anderson.

No. 3-seeded Detroit Lakes hosted No. 6 Fergus Falls in Monday's other semifinal match. Second-seeded Moorhead joined Alexandria in the first round bye department. The Spuds host the Fergus Falls-Detroit Lakes winner Thursday.

Championship match will be played Saturday at the site of the highest seeded semifinal winner. Alexandria snapped a seven-year Moorhead Section 8AA volleyball championship reign last fall.

Middle School

Franklin Middle School eighth grade volleyball teams closed out their 1992 seasons Friday with a pair of losses at the hands of Red Lake Falls.

It was a 15-6, 11-15, 15-3 Red Lake Falls win in the A match and a 15-4, 15-0, 15-5 Red Lake Falls win in the B match.

Mustangs lose 36-8

Inability of Red Lake County Central to come up with the key short yardage plays combined with the penchant for long yardage strikes by Clearbrook/Gonvick added up to a 36-8 Bears win over the Mustangs Friday in the Section 6 Nine Man high school football playoff semifinals in Gonvick.

"We couldn't make the plays when we had to, and we couldn't stop their big plays," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brandt.

The loss ended a 6-4 season for the Mustangs. The win advances the 9-0 Bears into Friday's sectional finals against Fisher/Climax at 7 p.m. in Gonvick. The Knights advanced with a come from behind 18-12 Saturday afternoon semifinal win over Win-E-Mac.

Red Lake County Central lost to Clearbrook/Gonvick by a narrow 32-26 margin during the regular season, but the Mustangs went no where in the rematch. "We were able to run the ball on them the first time we played," explained Brandt, "but they played much better defensively this time. And they executed well offensively."

The Mustangs had a first-and-goal inside the Bears' 10 yard line in the first quarter, but gave up the ball on downs, and Chris Schmitz promptly made it 6-0 Bears when he hauled in a 75-yard touchdown pass from Perry Torgerson.

A 9-yard Chris Olson touchdown run produced a 14-0 Clearbrook/Gonvick lead, but Red Lake County Central threatened to close the gap before the Bears came up with a pass interception at the goal line. That turnover led to a 38-yard Peter Imle touchdown reception from Torgerson on the final play of the first half.

Red Lake County Central rushed for over 200 yards during the regular season match-up with Clearbrook/Gonvick, but the Mustangs netted just 60 yards on [illegible] running plays Friday. Jonathan Sundrud led the ground game with 22 yards on 6 carries, while Darin Hofstad gained 19 yards on 5 attempts.

Red Lake County Central quarterback Scott Lorenson was 14 for 22 passing for 147 yards. He was intercepted once. Jacob Melby caught four passes for 38 yards.

Crookston is 3-2 winner over TRF

[illegible] Friday [illegible]

"It was a very [illegible] match," [illegible] Thief River Falls [illegible] Anderson. [illegible]

The [illegible] North Sub-Section 8AA tournament [illegible].

"The first two games were close and they could have easily been ours," mentioned Anderson. "We came back in Games 3 and 4 and played really hard."

Game 5 included a 4-1 Crookston head start. Thief River Falls tied it at 5-5, but then ran into a rash of mistakes to lose ground down the stretch.

"Both teams were tired, but Crookston added up the points on our serve reception errors," pointed out Anderson.

Several Prowlers turned in strong performances, according to Anderson, who cited Carrie Lawrence – 25 kills in her best performance of the year; Nessa Anderson – 10 kills, 17 last touch points and several key blocks; Kendra Dimich – 9 kills in a solid night at the net; Kelly Skeim – a number of nice digs in an attention-grabbing back row showing; Jamie Martell – 7 kills while playing both front and back row; and LuAnne Maslowski – 59 assists on 117 sets.

Lawrence and Anderson were named Players of the Night by the Thief River Falls coaches.

Toni Chiodo missed the match because of an ankle injury suffered in a 3-1 loss at the hands of East Grand Forks earlier in the week.

Nov. 6 is deadline for purchasing a 1992 deer license

Minnesota deer hunters who plan to hunt this fall must buy their licenses by Friday, Nov. 6, according to Margaret Winkel, Department of Natural Resources License Bureau administrator.

"Every year there are a few disappointed potential hunters who don't realize that deer hunting license sales close the day before the opening of the firearms deer season," Winkel said.

All firearms deer licenses (including those for the special muzzleloader season) and all archery deer licenses must be purchased by Nov. 6. Hunting license applicants must appear in person in order to purchase a license.

Licenses are sold at county auditors offices and their license agents, such as stores that sell sporting goods.

Agassiz Refuge Lost Bay Drive closed for year

Lost Bay Auto Drive at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will close for the season Wednesday, Nov. 4, and will remain closed until spring, 1993.

Visitors may continue to observe wildlife along Marshall County Road 7, which bisects the southern portion of the refuge. Species seen during the winter months include moose, deer, ravens, magpies, northern shrikes, and a variety of other birds that stay for the season.

The refuge staff said they hoped that everyone who visited the refuge during the year enjoyed the wildlife and scenery along the drive. A news release will be issued in spring 1993 announcing the re-opening of the Lost Bay Auto Drive.

Marc Heugen left Fergus Falls defenders laying on the ground during much of Thief River Falls' 21-0 Section 8A high school football playoff semifinal win Saturday night. The Thief River Falls senior caught four passes for 140 yards and netted 42 yards on 12 carries to lead the Prowlers into this week's title game at Detroit Lakes.

Agassiz is open to deer hunting

The 1992 deer hunting season at the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will be held Nov. 7-15 in accordance with Minnesota Department of Natural Resources regulations.

Fall population is estimated at 3,300 deer within the 130 square miles of Area 203 (Zone 2), which consists of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge, and the Elm Lake, Eckvoll and Mudlac Wildlife Management Areas. The area will be open to bucks and antlerless deer by permit.

Antlerless permits have already been mailed to all who submitted a valid application. Within Area 203, there were 1,000 available antlerless permits. There were 693 applications received for the 1,000 permits, with 688 applicants eligible to receive them. All 688 received antlerless permits. An additional 464 deer management permits were issued to applicants who checked the bonus box on their application. It is not known how many applicants will purchase a deer management license, but a total of 1,152 antlerless permits were issued for Area 203.

Except for two closed areas, the entire refuge will be open to deer hunting. The closed areas surround the headquarters and the maintenance center, and are posted with "Closed Area" signs. Both areas are also clearly marked on the refuge hunting leaflets available at headquarters. No entry into these areas is permitted. Refuge officials must be contacted before looking for a wounded deer that has traveled from the open area into the closed area.

Within Agassiz Refuge, pre-season scouting will be allowed the day before the season – Friday, Nov. 6 – from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hunters are reminded that construction of, or hunting from, permanently-constructed tree stands is illegal. Portable stands are legal and can be placed at any height, but cannot be left overnight to preempt a hunting spot. Spotlighting is also illegal on the refuge all year long. Casting spotlights or vehicle lights from a public road onto the refuge is considered spotlighting. Camping is not permitted on the refuge, but camping opportunities are available on adjacent state wildlife management areas.

During the deer hunting season, hunters may enter the refuge at 6 a.m., and must leave the refuge as soon as possible after sunset. Refuge roads open to motorized vehicles during the season have gates that are open. Several new deer hunting signs have been installed on the refuge showing open roads. All other refuge roads, trails and dikes will be restricted to foot traffic and non-motorized carrying devices for transporting deer. Non-motorized watercraft may be used on ditches and pools. The use of 3-wheelers, trail bikes and other off-road vehicles is prohibited throughout Area 203. Snowmobiles are allowed on DNR lands according to state regulations, but not on the refuge.

Deer taken in Permit Area 203 must be registered at any check station before leaving Zone 2. There is no check station at refuge headquarters, but most nearby towns have at least one check station.

A total of 528 deer were harvested in Area 203 in 1991.

Hunter safety is always of special concern, note refuge officials. Increased hunter numbers make accidents more probable and make it a must that hunters be sure of their target. The potential for hypothermia and heart attack also exists and hunter caution and awareness is advised. All hunting accidents on the refuge must to reported immediately to headquarters.

The staff at Agassiz wishes all a safe and enjoyable hunt.

Park Permits Available

A black bear and her cub are featured on the 1993 Minnesota state parks vehicle permits, which is now on sale. The new permit highlights the 50th anniversary of St. Croix State Park, the largest of Minnesota's 66 state parks.

The annual permit allows unlimited access to all of Minnesota's state parks all year around. The 1993 permit costs $18, the same as last year. Permits cost $12 for Minnesota senior citizens, residents who are handicapped, and for those who buy a second vehicle permit. Daily permits are $4 each. All prices include Minnesota sales tax.

Permits can be purchased at any state park.

Each year the DNR features one of Minnesota's resource treasures on the annual permit to help people become more aware of the environment and our responsibility to protect natural resources, said Kate Brady, marketing and merchandising director for Minnesota state parks. "We want to focus attention on Minnesota's resources that are found in and protected by our state parks," said Brady, "and the black bear is one of them."

The 1993 permit depicts a black bear and her cub along a grassy river bank in a scene created by wildlife artist Don Breyfogle. Black bears, the most common bears in North America, are indigenous to several of Minnesota's northeastern state parks, including St. Croix.

Female black bears, after mating in June or July, carry their cubs for seven months through the winter season, giving birth in late January or early February. Newborn cubs arrive furless, weighing less than one pound. The cubs nurse from three to four months while the mother eats nothing. The sow sleeps until April, when she allows the cubs outside the den.

"In general, black bears are very shy and will usually run from humans," Brady said. "But common sense and responsible camping practices are encouraged in any areas inhabited by bears. Mother bears can become quite agitated if they feel their cubs are in danger, so the public should take care to avoid approaching any bear."

A Minnesota State Park Nature Store holiday catalog featuring the new permit and other state park merchandise is available through the DNR Information Center by calling toll-free 1-800-766-6000.

Public hunting area information offered through DNR maps

Hunting for a good hunting site? That search can be made easier with Public Recreation Information Maps (PRIM) published by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Bureau of Engineering. The maps are like several maps combined into one, bringing together federal, state and county lands and their recreational facilities – making it easier to find public lands where hunting is permitted.

PRIM maps system divides the state into 51 areas, with each map showing campgrounds, wildlife management areas, parks, state trails, waterfowl areas, boat and canoe accesses, forest and nature areas, trout streams, and more.

The maps are sold in many sporting goods stores and quick-stop station stores in Minnesota. The maps, which cost $3.95 plus tax, can also be ordered by phone and charged by VISA, MasterCard, American Express or Discover by calling toll-free 1-800-657-3757.

DNR proceeds from the map sales go back into the program to keep the maps current and available to the public.

Fergus Falls runningback Scott DeBrito was chased by Thief River Falls linebacker Chris Ortloff during Saturday's Section 8A high school football playoff semifinal game before being brought down after a short gain. The Prowlers shut down the Otters' offense most of the night en route to a 21-0 win.

DNR News

More than 2,000 miles of forest roads are managed by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, and most will be open throughout the hunting season, according to Barry Morse, state forest management supervisor for the DNR Forest Division.

Hunters and others who enjoy Minnesota's state forests should be aware, however, that a few selected forest roads may be closed this autumn, Morse said. He noted that closures aim to protect people and the state's investment in roads.

"A few forest roads may be closed to vehicular traffic if there is a road washout or unsafe bridge, if vehicles will damage the surface because of wet conditions, or ongoing road repair work, or if there is a high wildfire danger," Morse said.

Most people agree with the closures, even if a temporary gate is an inconvenience, according to Morse. "Taxpayers don't want to pay for the same road twice, and neither do we," he said. "That can happen if rainfall is heavy, roads get spongy, and vehicle traffic is heavy."

Morse recommends that hunters planning to use state forestlands do some scouting to find out if their favorite hunting area has experienced any changes in the past year. "Timber harvesting or tree planting activities may have taken place in some areas, changing habitat and deer movements," said Morse. He also warned that weather conditions can change rapidly in Minnesota. Heavy rains or early, wet snows can greatly affect the drivability of many forest roads and access trails, sometimes resulting in these being closed.

"Graded and posted roads are open to foot traffic," Morse said. "A hunting trip doesn't necessarily have to be postponed due to a road closure; it just might mean a longer walk." He said gates will usually have a sign attached to them that explains why the road is gated and what type of traffic is being restricted.

Minnesota has more than 4 million acres of state forestlands open to the public for hunting. Locations of these lands can be found on the DNR's new Public Recreation Information Maps (PRIM). For a complete listing of places where the maps are available, call the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-800-766-6000.

INSURANCE Update
by Carol Nelson

UNDERSTANDING NO-FAULT COVERAGES
The Minnesota Legislature passed the No-Fault Automobile Insurance Act in 1974. It requires that motor vehicle owners have three types of coverages included as part of their automobile insurance policies:
—Basic Economic Loss Benefits (also called Personal Injury Protection, or PIP). $40,000 is the basic limit for PIP. Up to $40,000 is available to each person injured in a motor vehicle accident, regardless of fault.
—Uninsured (or hit-and-run coverage) and Underinsured coverage. The required limits are $25,000 per person, $50,000 per accident, and refer to Bodily Injury only.
—Liability Insurance for Bodily Injury and Property Damage. The required limits are $30,000 per person and $60,000 per accident for Bodily Injury, and $10,000 for Property Damage.
The figures listed above are the limits required by the State. Higher limits are available for each of the three coverage types.
If you have questions or concerns regarding your policy coverage, call NORTHERN STATE AGENCY to discuss it. Our response to you is our assurance of giving you our best. NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri., 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

The wheelchair donated to him was once used by Anna McDowell. Larry and Ruth McDowell donated the chair but it needed adjustments for Keith. Options Inc., a resource provider, brought several organizations together to provide the funds so that the chair could be adjusted by Country Health Inc. Organizations donating funds included the local chapter of the VFW, Eagles club, Goodridge Jaycees, and Goodridge Development corporation. Keith has had the wheelchair for about a year, but those who helped make it possible for Keith to have the chair only recently got together. Blood drive set in TRF Nov. 9-10

Thief River Falls community residents will have an opportunity to make an important, personal contribution to its welfare Monday and Tuesday, November 9 and 10, while United Blood Services will conduct a blood collection drive at the Northwest Medical Center chapel.

Hours for the drive will be from 1 to 7 p.m. November 9 and 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. November 10, according to Peter Solem, drive chairman.

Solem said he would like everyone to consider this drive to be an invitation for personal action to donate blood for a person in great need. "In less than an hour," he said, "you may give the most precious gift of all—the gift of life."

In this area over 3,000 units of blood are needed each month to supply the needs of patients served by United Blood Services. The blood can come only from caring individuals since the human body is still the only source.

All healthy persons between the ages of 17 and 79 are eligible to donate. The adult human's body contains 10 to 12 pints of blood, and since the body manufactures blood constantly, the amount donated is quickly replaced.

The entire donor process usually takes less than an hour with the actual donation itself taking only about five to seven minutes. A medical history is taken of each donor and temperature, blood pressure, pulse and hemoglobin level are checked.

After the blood is drawn it is typed and tested for diseases which might be transmitted to the receiving patient or patients. This mini-physical benefits the donor as well as the patient, because if any of the tests indicate a need for medical attention, the donor is referred to his or her personal physician.

Almost all of the units of blood donated are broken down into components to assure maximum utilization. This means that an individual's blood donation may actually help several different patients. Since whole blood must be used in 35 days following donation, and some of the components within a few hours, there is always the need for a constant, fresh supply of blood to be donated by volunteers.

Persons with questions or who would like to make an appointment to donate November 9 or 10 may call Kay Nelson at 681-4760.

Chamber provides review of revenue system model

■ TRF Chamber Spotlight — MN model revenue system

After two years of work, the Model Revenue System for Minnesota is the department's first attempt to provide consistent answers to questions posed to legislators, citizens and tax policy makers. It is the department's vision of what our state and local revenue system should look like in 2000, a road map identifying needed changes for improving the performance of each tax type.

Many people helped develop the model revenue system, two revenue commissioners, two assistant commissioners for tax policy, and countless numbers of revenue employee teams and managers. After extensive feedback and revision, the department met with legislative staff, public interest groups, and tax policy experts during a two-day seminar to get an outside view of how the tax system is performing and how it should be reformed.

Ready for public release, the Model Revenue System is a viable indicator of the department's commitment to actively develop sound tax policy. Poorly designed tax laws are difficult to administer, making it difficult for taxpayers to comply. We are dedicated to working at the front to ensure sound tax policy, thus avoiding administrative nightmares.

While using the Model Revenue System, it is important to understand what the model is not:

- It is not a short-range, specific legislative proposal. It is a long range plan for gradually improving the revenue system.
- It is not a completed product. It is the first step in building support for a stronger revenue system, and will be revised annually.
- It is not the answer to all tough tax policy questions. It will expand in the future covering additional revenue issues such as HealthRight and gambling taxes.
- It does not debate whether state or local taxes are too high or too low. It discusses the features and structure of an ideal system, not how heavily it should be used.

The department has identified five essential characteristics of goals for this model: understandable, fair, competative, reliable and efficient.

The model discusses each characteristic in detail an uses the characteristics to support the model features for each of the major state and local taxes. Included are personal income tax, sales, use and motor vehicle excise tax, property tax and corporate franchise tax.

These characteristics and some of the model's recommendations are briefly summarized below.

1. The revenue system should be understandable.

- Deductions, exclusions and exemptions from individual income tax should be kept to a minimum for simplification and understandability.
- Property tax rates should be sharply reduced from 15 to 3 with owners of all types of housing paying the same tax rate, whether homestead or rental.

2. The revenue system should be fair.

- Combined state and local tax burdens should be at least proportional to income. In other words, taxes should equal the same or an increasing percentage of income at all taxpayer income levels, meaning the progressive state income tax should be used to offset regressive sales, excise and property taxes.
- Homeowner and renter property tax refund programs should be combined and expanded to help reduce high property tax burdens for lower income taxpayers, and the special property tax refund program should be eliminated.
- Tax bases should be as broad as possible, ensuring that taxpayers with the same level of consumption, wealth or income pay similar taxes, such as expanding sales tax to include clothes, newspapers, gasoline and automobile repairs.

3. The revenue system should be competitive.

- Broad-based taxes should be used to keep tax rates as low as possible for all taxpayers — individual and business — and keep us competitive with other states.
- Subsidies to specific businesses encouraging economic develop-

Sportsmen's club to adopt-a-river

The Thief River Falls Sportsmen's Club is organizing an area "Adopt-a-River" project.

Participants remove trash from lake and river shores in this DNR-sponsored program.

The cleanup would involve the Thief and/or Red Lake rivers in the Thief River Falls area. The cleanup would occur next spring and Jim Counter, Sportsmen's Club director, said any interested individual or organization may participate.

Counter said the cleanup involves one meeting with a DNR official, who will further explain the program. The cleanup will take place over a weekend, Counter said.

The DNR reports that adopt-a-river groups removed about 93 tons of trash from Minnesota river and lake shores in 1991. There were 7,207 reported volunteer hours in 1991. The program was organized in 1989.

In addition to sight pollution, toxic garbage discarded on the shore or near shores contaminates water running into the river.

For more information contact Jim Counter at 681-1901 (home) or 681-1270 (work).

Whole Wheat Bible Study

WHOLE WHEAT BIBLE STUDY

Belief and faith

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Do you believe? Do you have faith? Do you know what these words mean in Greek and Hebrew? Do you know they have different meanings in the English language than they do in the Greek and Hebrew?

Using Strong's Concordance, an indispensable must for anyone who desires to know and understand the Bible, look up the word "believeth" as found in John 3:16. Notice on the far right there is a number, 4100. Because John 3:16 is from the New Testament, turn to the Greek dictionary which is found in the rear of the concordance. Turn to the number 4100 to find what the word believe means in Greek. Here we find that "believe" comes from the Greek word pisteuo. It refers us to 4102, pistis, for a more complete explanation. We find that the word "believe" means to be faithful, have conviction, have faith, and to have fidelity. Then it refers us to 3982, peitho, for a full understanding and explanation. When we turn there, we find that the word "believe" means obey, yield, and trust.

In John 11:26, the words "lives and believes" are used in the same sentence by our Lord Jesus Christ. So now we know that the word believe means to obey, yield, trust, have faith in, have fidelity, and to live the Christian life.

Now we look up the word "faith" in Strong's Concordance, and find with amazement that the far right column tells us to go right back to 4102, pistis, in the Greek dictionary. That's the same place we just came from after looking up the word believe. What is so shocking about this?

Turn to John 6:28-29. The people said to Jesus Christ, "What shall we do, that we may work the works of God?" They were simply asking Jesus what works they could do that would be pleasing to God. Jesus replied by saying, "This is the work of God, that you believe in Him whom He has sent." This is a parable, as Jesus always spoke to the people and answered them by way of parables (Mark 4:33-34; Matt. 13:35). Jesus was saying to them, "This is the work of God, that you obey Me, keep My words (My sayings), do them, and act on them" (John 8:51; 12:47-48; Matt. 7:24). Jesus made it very clear in Luke 8:21 that anyone who considers himself to be a follower of His, will hear the word of God and do it. It is only the person who becomes an effectual doer of the word who will be blessed in whatever he does (James 1:25). Those who do not do, or do not know what to do, are not saved, but remain deluded.

You must prove yourself a doer of the word (James 1:22). You must bear much fruit, which is good works (Col. 1:10), and thus prove to be Jesus Christ's disciple (John 15:8). That's what real belief and real faith are all about.

why do you think they call it art work?
Becoming an artist is hard work. It takes sweat, determination and commitment.

The Arts High School is looking for dedicated, talented 10th graders. Are you motivated? Committed to serious study in dance, literary arts, media arts, music, theater or visual arts?

The Arts High School is a tuition-free, residential program for 11th and 12th grade students from throughout Minnesota and may be the place for you. Some students have had extensive training in the arts; others are just discovering their abilities as writers, actors, sculptors, photographers, and dancers.

And you'll discover that academics are equally stressed at the school. Students are offered a comprehensive liberal arts program including world languages, social studies, science, communications and math.

For more information contact the Minnesota Center for Arts Education, (612) 591-4700 or toll free 1-800-657-3515.

On a limited basis and as space permits, students who will be 12th graders in the fall of 1993 will also be considered for enrollment.

ment should be paid for by direct appropriations subject to the biennial budget process, not by indirect tax breaks, which are seldom re-evaluated.

4. The revenue system should be reliable.

- State and local revenue should grow over time at the same rate as personal income, providing sufficient revenue in the long run. For example, income tax brackets should be indexed for inflation, and excise tax rates should be automatically adjusted upward with inflation.
- Broad-based sales and property taxes should be used to provide for a balanced system of income. Along with an adequate budget reserve fund, this provides stable revenue over the ups and downs of a short-run economic cycle. Income and property taxes should each account for 25 to 30 per cent of state and local taxes. Sales tax should provide 20 to 25 per cent.
- Frequent changes in tax rates, bases or administrative rules and regulations should be avoided, making the tax system more certain and helping taxpayers make long-range plans.

5. The revenue system should be efficient.

- Broad tax bases and low tax rates minimize interference in taxpayers' economic decisions.
- Provisions in the model should contribute to efficiency by reducing compliance and administrative costs while maximizing voluntary compliance by taxpayers.
- Indexing of tax rates and brackets, Truth in Taxation, and the removal of levy limits for cities and counties should strengthen accountability by clearly identifying responsibilities for fiscal decisions.
- Efficiency of state aid to local governments should be improved by directing state aid to local governments with high spending needs compared to their ability to raise revenue.
- Goods and services purchased by businesses for production should be exempt from the sales tax, including both new and replacement manufacturing capital equipment.

State wildlife featured in lottery game

Minnesota artist Brian Jensen, a partner in the firm of RKB Studios in Minneapolis, created the watercolor illustrations of mallard ducks, deer, wolves, pheasant and walleye. The colorful scenes of Minnesota's native wildlife mark a departure from the typical ticket design and are another in a series of Minnesota-theme games.

Minnesota's Wildside is a match three game paying out 66.38 per cent in prizes, more than $16 million. To play, players scratch off the coated play area on the left side of the ticket and match dollar amounts to win $1, $3, $5, $15, $25, 550, 51,000 or the top prize of $5,000. Approximately 24 million tickets are on sale at 3,800 lottery retailers. The odds of winning are 1:3.83.

MN Survey measures low-income households

In a 21 county region in northwest and west central Minnesota, 28 per cent of low income people surveyed reported that members of their household go without necessities to pay for housing.

The statewide survey sample included 3,390 participants in the state's Energy Assistance Program, of whom 760 resided in the 21-county Northwest Region.

Energy Assistance is available to households whose incomes are less than 135 per cent of federal poverty guidelines. For a family of four, this figure is $17,144, according to 1991 guidelines.

Statewide, an average of 37 per cent of low income households in greater Minnesota reported going without necessities so that housing costs could be paid.

The following are survey results from the 21-county Northwest Region:

- 69 per cent reported household income of less than $10,000 per year, equal to the statewide average of the seven regions in the survey.
- 34 per cent reported paying 30 per cent or more of household income for housing. 9 per cent reported paying 50 per cent or more of income for housing.

Under standards established by the federal department of Housing and Urban Development, housing is considered affordable for a low income household if it consumes no more than 30 per cent of the household's income.

- 76 per cent reported that they owned their home, the highest level of home ownership of the seven regions in the state.
- 55 per cent, the highest percentage in the state, reported that their home had weatherization problems.
- 19 per cent reported that they lived in mobile homes, among the highest percentages of the seven regions in the survey.

The survey was conducted during the summer and winter of 1991. Staff from Tri-Valley Opportunity Council assisted administering the survey.

The survey, conducted by the nonprofit Minnesota Housing Partnership, was an activity of the Partnership's Regional Network Project, which is funded by the Northwest Area Foundation.

Professor Richard Wintersteen of Mankato State University's social work department coordinated the survey.

The Minnesota Housing Finance Agency provided additional funding for the survey.

Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Crookston is the sponsor of the Northwest Minnesota Regional Housing Network.

Donating Blood Can Make You A Lifesaver

Appointments are being accepted for people to donate blood at the next donor clinic to be held Monday, November 9 from 1 to 7 p.m. and Tuesday, November 10 from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the C&NC chapel at Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Appointments may be made by calling Kay Nelson at 681-4760. Donors are also welcome to stop at the clinic without an appointment but are subject to the appointments made by others. You can save some time by making an appointment, but don't let not having an appointment stop you from being a donor.

Blood donated during the clinic will provide life-giving components. Platelets to patients receiving chemotherapy, plasma to the patient being treated for severe burns, red cells to the patient who is anemic and cryoprecipitate to the patient suffering from hemophilia —all from one donation.

Mrs. Nelson listed some of the following reasons people have expressed for not giving blood and the responses provided by United Blood Services which provides the mobile team coming here to collect blood.

"No one has ever asked me to donate blood." Consider yourself invited. Call for an appointment.

"Other people must be giving enough blood." Dead wrong! The demand for blood and blood products is constantly increasing and the need doesn't take a vacation or holiday. Other people are not giving enough blood.

"I don't have any blood to spare." If you weigh at least 110 pounds and are in good health, you do have enough blood to spare. The human body contains about 10-12 pints of blood.

"They'll take too much and I'll feel weak." Less than a pint is all that is taken. The body manufactures blood constantly and the amount given will be replaced within a few hours. After donating, most people resume their usual activities.

"My insurance covers the blood I'd need." United Blood Services doesn't charge for the unit of blood, and many insurance policies will cover all the administrative costs, but dollar bills and insurance policies can't be transfused. That takes an adequate supply of blood—right here or close by when a patient needs it.

"It's too inconvenient to donate blood." Here in Thief River Falls giving blood is as easy and convenient as possible. A visit to the C&NC chapel usually takes less than an hour and the actual donation itself is always less than 10 minutes.

"I'm too busy." Really? Too busy to spare an hour a few times a year? A lot of people are betting their lives that you're not too busy. Every 12 seconds in the United States someone needs blood. Does the idea of saving someone's life appeal to you? You'll probably never find an easier way to be a lifesaver. Call 681-4760 today.

Take The Time To Go To The Polls

Weary from the blitz of campaigning that has been most heavily concentrated in the past several weeks, voters may be tempted to tune it all out and stay away from the polls today. That would be the wrong decision to make. Even if you elect to not vote for a candidate for all offices on the ballots, there are candidates worthy of your vote.

When we encourage voter turnout, we think particularly of the local candidates who take their public service seriously and are constantly available to the electorate on a personal basis. They spend a good deal of their time and a fair amount of money campaigning for offices that do not provide a great deal in the way of payment for service performed. One of their rewards is the public support they receive at the polls.

This is not to discount the importance of the national election which has a definite bearing on the way the American people will live their lives in the future. But despite the huge campaign war chests and the national exposure through the wire services and television, it is easier to become confused about the candidates than to come to know them.

Voting in a national election is something like buying a used car while blindfolded—you may get something dependable or you may not. The main difference is that when you listen to a car run you get a fairly honest impression of what it can do; when you listen to a national politician run, you can't be so sure.

But it is important in our Republic to exercise the voting option and keep alive the system which keeps the government responsible to the people. The effort required to go to the polls is a small effort to give and certainly worthy of being given by all eligible voters.

Letter to the Editor

"Editor of the Times:
What is the objection to the pupils wearing slacks in school? Would it be any worse to see your daughter going to school in slacks than in a dress halfways up to her knees. It more than likely will be cold in the school rooms this year because of the shortage of fuel. I think this should be brought up before the parents and teachers of Thief River Falls.
A Mother"

Pipeline right-of-ways are popular areas for motorcycles, snowmobiles, all-terrain vehicles and other off-road vehicles. They are also popular for skiing, horseback riding and other off-the-road activities.
You should know that the cleared lane over a pipeline belongs to the owner of the land.
The landowner has granted an easement permitting the line to be built and maintained, but the strip remains private property. Persons wishing to use pipeline right-of-ways must first obtain the landowner's permission.

Services for seniors only a call away

Finding home care and other services for senior citizens in Minnesota is now only a phone call away, according to Faith Rud, director of the Northwest Minnesota Area Agency on Aging, at the Northwest Regional Development commission office in Thief River Falls.

Senior LinkAGE Line is a new toll-free state wide system that helps families, friends and seniors find answers and services for older people. It is a service of the Minnesota Area Agencies on Aging and the Minnesota Board on Aging, funded in part through Title III of the Older Americans Act. The toll-free number is 1-800-333-2433.

"Our goal is to make it easier for people to find the support they need," Rud said. "We are hearing from family members in the Twin Cities, for example, who need help getting services for their parents who live in this area."

"Services are available to older persons in their homes, through community programs, and in institutions. Programs that provide companionship and social activities, assistance with shopping, housekeeping, transportation, health and personal care facilitate independence and dignity for seniors," Rud said.

Callers who phone the Senior LinkAGE Line for information about services may use their touch tone phone to punch in the zip code of the area where they want to find services or stay on the line to talk to an operator.

Calls for information about services in the seven counties of northwestern Minnesota will be automatically transferred to the NWRDC Area Agency on Aging that serves that locality.

Senior LinkAGE is part of a national network called Eldercare Locator (1-800-677-1116) which provides information about services to older people across the country. Persons with questions may contact Faith Rud at 681-2637.

Richard Parnows are Conservation Farmers

Goodridge couple named by Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District

When Richard and Donna Parnow placed part of their farm in the Conservation Reserve Program five years ago, they planted five acres to three species of evergreen trees. In addition to drought which took its toll on the seedlings, the trees also faced a couple of other problems. Moose took a liking to one species and nibbled off the tops. And this tree shown by Richard was one of many damaged by buck deer rubbing their antlers.

Name a conservation practice that applies to this part of the country and you will probably find it in use on the Richard and Donna Parnow farm in Kratka township southwest of Goodridge. The Parnows have been selected as Conservation Farmer of the Year for 1992 by the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation district.

Although he grew up on the parental Ray Parnow farm a short distance from his present home, Richard didn't really intend to be a farmer. He graduated from Goodridge high school and attended Bemidji State University for one year before joining a carpentry crew and working his way up to foreman for the company.

"We built a lot of pole buildings and other farm buildings across several states," Richard said. "I enjoyed the work but it did get tiresome living out of a suitcase most of the time."

When his parents wanted to get away from the farm for a month of vacation, they asked if he could come home to take care of the livestock. He got the time off and came home for what he expected to be a month of caretaking. That was 25 years ago. He doesn't think he will be going back.

"Land was coming out of the Soil Bank program about that time," he said, "and land prices were reasonable and crop prices were pretty good." He also met Donna Fuller of Thief River Falls, a Lincoln high school graduate who had attended the marketing and management program at the local vocational school.

"We were married in 1967 and I bought a quarter section (160 acres) of land from Jeanne Rude," Richard said. "In 1968 we bought a half section from Harold Knutson whose land adjoined our first quarter. Later we bought the rest of Harold's section, buying the last quarter seven years ago."

Presently the Parnows farm 1,100 crop acres, including the 800 acres they own and the remainder rented from Richard's father. About half of the land has been placed in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) and the remainder used primarily for production of wheat and barley.

Over the years Richard has

NWRDC gets funding for Enterprise fund

Northwest Regional Development Commission will receive a $300,000 grant for re-capitalization of the Northwest Regional Enterprise Loan Fund.

Congressman Collin Peterson announced Tuesday (today) that the Federal Economic Development Administration has approved a $300,000 grant to the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) for re-capitalization of the Northwest Regional Enterprise Loan Fund.

This grant is being matched by $150,000 in local funding for a total project of $450,000. Local contributors include the Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund, the Northwest Regional Development Commission and the seven counties of northwestern Minnesota.

The Enterprise Loan Fund is a non-profit organization which provides gap financing to businesses in the seven counties of Kittson, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, and Roseau. The program provides this funding to encourage the creation of jobs and the investment of

Arctco production line turns out Thundercat

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

If you expect to get a look at the new Thundercat now on the production line at Arctco, Inc., it will have to be a quick look. The new snowmobiles are not expected to stay in dealer inventory very long and once they hit the snow they will be mostly a blur.

Production on the new model began Friday at the Arctco plant in Thief River Falls and the limited number to be produced is being carefully allocated to cover all Arctic Cat dealers, rather than to concentrate blocks of supply with certain dealers.

While the distribution is being spread, it's not likely the new machines will be in any dealer showroom for more than hours, if at all. Nearly all of the Thundercats to be produced are believed to be already sold at retail by dealers ordering them—despite a retail price just small change under $8,500. Most will probably be in the hands of the new owners shortly after they arrive at dealer facilities.

What makes this new model snowmobile such a hot ticket item anyway? Arctco publicity material states that "The Thundercat is one of the world's most powerful production snowmobiles" and that "the heart and soul of the Thundercat is a 900cc liquid-cooled engine with three cylinders of muscle."

Mechanical purists will note that the Suzuki three-cylinder engine with 900cc displacement, oil-injected lubrication, three VM 38 Mikuni carburetors and liquid cooling drives a full block/Kevlar track that is 15 inches wide and 121 inches long.

They will point out that the front suspension is AWS III double-wishbone, progressive-rate, adjustable coil-over gas shocks with swaybar and rear suspension is the Arctic FasTrack extra-long travel slide-rail with gas shock.

Engineers will emphasize the balance shaft built into the crankcase to neutralize vibration, a gear-driven water pump, crankcase reed valve induction, three tuned

Production began Friday at the Arctco, Inc., plant in Thief River Falls on the new extra high performance Thundercat model snowmobiles. The machine features a 900cc Suzuki three-cylinder engine and a number of other amenities and carries a price tag just under $8,500. It is expected that nearly all of the production run is already sold at retail by dealers awaiting delivery. Production of 1993 models should be completed by Thanksgiving.

Arctco nears end of '93 production run

Production of 1993 Arctic Cat snowmobiles which began about April 1 is expected to be completed before Thanksgiving, according to Chris Twomey, president and chief executive officer of Arctco, Inc. in Thief River Falls.

Production is currently underway on a limited number of the new extra high performance Thundercat models. Remaining to be produced are the ZR 440 racing machines which succeed the Prowler Z model of a year ago.

At present the company has about 850 full-time employees. This number will be reduced at the end of the production run with callback for some when start-up manufacture of the Tigershark personal watercraft begins January 3.

A separate new assembly line is being created for the Tigershark in part of the area previously used for the company's fiberglass operations, Twomey said. The separate line is expected to be more efficient for Tigershark manufacture, more adaptable to other product manufacture, and will allow both snowmobiles and personal watercraft to be manufactured at the same time.

Expectations at present are that Tigershark production will be at a slow start-up pace in January, increase to full speed by February 1 and continue until some time in May of 1993. Production of 1994 snowmobile models may begin as early as March next year.

Twomey said that the extended production year in 1992 was a result of increased sales for the 1993 Arctic Cat models.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride chose a black dress with floral jacket. The groom's mother wore a two-piece floral print tapestry suit. Each wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses with pearl sprays and red ribbon. The fathers of the couple wore black tuxedos with black ties and cummerbunds. Their boutonnieres were white sweetheart roses.

Dear Readers,

Death may destroy life, but it can never destroy love. Because this is true, those of us who grieve are left with precious memories that will always be ours to cherish. Never try to forget a beautiful part of your past because remembering is painful. The British writer, James Barrie, says it so eloquently, "God gives us memory so that we may have roses in December."

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

NWRDC gets grant for Enterprise Fund

Léon Heath of the Northwest Regional Development Commission said the fund was at a point where the original money for the program was pretty much loaned out and the dollars coming back was not enough to keep up with demand.

Heath believes the program has been fairly successful in northwestern Minnesota. That success can be attributed in part to the participation of representatives of the fund in determining where and how the funds should be spent.

The purpose of the fund, Heath said, is job creation and improving the tax base. Currently, there are about 25 loans in the program, and the program has created 300 or so jobs. One gauge of whether the program has been successful, of course, is the participation of the member counties in the required matching funds. Heath said the county commissions which allocated money for the match must have thought the program successful or they wouldn't have provided the matching funds.

The new funding will make it possible for the Enterprise Fund to make a number of new loans both now and as funds are repaid. Anyone interested in additional information concerning the Enterprise Loan Fund should contact Donna Christianson at the Northwest Regional Development Commission at (218) 681-2637.

Lincoln High School students rehearse for the play "Narnia," a musical version of "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe," by C.S. Lewis. They perform at 7 p.m., Friday, November 20, and Saturday, November 21 in the Lincoln High School auditorium. Pictured left to right are Lori Golightly, Chris Tsukichi, Stacy Jensen, Kelly Gould, Ryen Dupree, Dan Lavalier, Mitch Scramstad, Jennifer Strang, and Beth Natvik.

This buck stops here. Deer season opening provided this familiar sight around the area last weekend. Mike Pemble of Albeny shot this deer. Pemble and a party of six others from Albeny made their annual northern hunting trip to the Middle River area over the first weekend of deer season. They filled their limit of four bucks and three does. Chuck Schwertz, DNR area supervisor said it was a quiet opener with only 60 to 75 hunting violations as compared with last year's 120 to 130 violations during the first weekend of deer hunting.

Alternative education program serving 150

Alternative education program is a relatively new aspect of education in Thief River Falls but currently is serving about 150 people ranging in age from 12 to 60 years, according to Wayne Johaneson, coordinator. It is most frequently referred to as the Area Learning Center or ALC.

"Designed to meet individual student needs and enable them to earn a high school diploma," Johaneson said, "the ALC is an educational program approved by the Minnesota Department of Education. It is a place where individuals can gain academic and/or vocational skills, work experience and assistance in the transition from school to employment or other educational opportunities."

In Thief River Falls the alternative learning center is located on the second floor of the School District 564 service center at 230 LaBree Avenue South. There are also satellite centers in Roseau and Warroad. All centers are open to all students but those who range between 16 and 21 years of age are the priority group.

The program is primarily aimed at students who are one or more years behind in credits for graduation. It is also directed toward students who are chemically dependent or possess mental health problems.

"Flexibility of the program makes it an ideal setting for pregnant girls and/or single parents," Johaneson said. "quite often after all of the alternatives in a regular school system have been exhausted, a student is referred by a counselor or principal to the ALC."

Another targeted group in the ALC is the middle level learner (ages 12-15). A variety of classes is open to them and they are required to spend six hours per day at the ALC just as any other middle school student would attend school for six hours.

"The instruction for this group requires multiple approaches for assessment of individual needs and strengths, multiple models of instructional delivery and varied instructional opportunities which motivate students," the coordinator added.

Adults are also welcomed and greatly encouraged to finish their high school education through the area learning center. This is especially important since many local employers in both large and small companies require a high school diploma.

Classes offered at the ALC are in the areas of social studies, mathematics, health, science, English, parenting, typing, word processing, career choices, managing resources and work readiness. After conferences with the coordinator and teacher, the student has individual lesson plans developed for his or her particular needs.

"The program itself is outcomes performances based," Johaneson said, "which means that only the amount of work successfully completed will be considered by the instructor toward graduation. The ALC requires a minimum mastery level of 80 per cent for passing on all tests. The program is delivered through individualizes, self-paced, competency-based instruction using audiovisual and computer-assisted instruction in combination with one-on-one teaching."

A new concept also used in the ALC is the leadership team, which is derived from site base management and the Minnesota Effective Educational Program (MEEP). The leadership team is comprised of teachers, coordinators, support staff and secretaries. The team, with a designated team leader, meets every Friday to resolve issues relevant to the ALC.

Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools for School District 564 in Thief River Falls, serves as director of the ALC. In addition to Johaneson as coordinator of the programs, instructors in Thief River Falls are Peter Solem, social studies; Sharon Buron, math and science; Rod Rothschadl, health and work experience; and Jim Goldesberry, English. Assisting the instructional staff are Audrey Burda, secretary and Lynell Wayne, educational assistant.

Hours at the ALC are flexible and many of the students have part-time or even full-time jobs. In order to accommodate all, the ALC in Thief River Falls is open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Friday.

In Roseau, the center is open on Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. In Warroad the ALC is open on Tuesday and Thursday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Persons who would like information about the area learning center or want to earn a high school diploma may call 681-8676 in Thief River Falls, 463-3857 in Roseau or 386-3838 in Warroad.

. . . A Letter to the Newly Elected About Their New Jobs

Dear Recently Elected or Re-Elected Official –

Congratulations on your recent election win!

At this time, I would like to remind you that you have us, the ordinary American citizens, to thank for your victory. You would do well to remember this throughout the years of your service.

Speaking of service, you would also do well to remember that "service" is the main word in a description of your job as an elected official. We did not elect you to office to have a good time or so you could accumulate power and "perks." We elected you to be our spokesman and serve us and care for our (country, state, county, city) and us. That is your job.

We American citizens are very touchy lately. The country is not in very good shape. I think we are blaming our elected officials for some of the problems that the nation is having, and rightly so, because I think some of our elected officials have created and contributed to the problems.

We expect you to do everything you can to get the country back on track and make it work again, and we think that you can do this. That is one of the reasons we elected you. Please remember that we did not elect you to make things worse.

We elected you because we think you are honest and fair. We looked at you and your opponents and decided you were the best person. Now it is your job to be the best person for us.

It is also your job to listen to us, all of us. You must hear the common people as well as the influential people, the poor as well as the rich, the downtrodden as well as the mighty, the jobless, the homeless, the ill, those who labor, those who sorrow, those in need. You must listen to all of us. That is your job.

You must speak for us and be our voice. You must speak for those of us who can and do advise you of what we want and need, and especially, you must speak for those who do not have voices or people to speak for them. You must speak for all of us, because you represent us. That, too, is your job.

You must speak to us. When you speak, you must be truthful and trustworthy. Your information must be accurate and reliable, so we can have faith in what you tell us. You must never be deceitful or dishonest, or think that you can trick us. Other politicians have tried to trick us, and they soon found out that this was not the thing to do.

Yes, this job you have been elected to do is beginning to sound like a mighty big job, but you said you could do it. We believed what you said and trust that you can.

In your campaign promises you said you were the best person for the job. You promised to do things for us and to listen to what we want and be accountable to us. Now we are going to hold you to those promises.

President Bush made campaign promises that he did not keep. He said, "Read my lips – no new taxes." Then he raised taxes. We did not forget this at election time, did we? We will not forget your campaign promises, either.

We wish you good luck in your new or renewed job.

We will be keeping an eye on you.

– (Mr., Mrs., Ms.) American Citizen

IMPRESSIONS

BY BETH JOHNSON

[illegible] an afghan in my house. This afghan is finer than any of the other afghans I own. Each afghan I [illegible] its own beauty and its own [illegible] this one in particular [illegible]

The special afghan is composed of wool knit squares. Each square measures about five inches by five inches. The squares are sewn together with black yarn. The entire afghan is edged in a rosy purple wool. Each square is different in color. Any one square may be a hodgepodge of colors.

This afghan is the warmest and [illegible] one I own. When I really want to feel cozy, this afghan is called into service. I see this afghan each day as I keep it at the foot of my bed. It somehow does not seem out of place with the blue and pink floral design in that room.

This afghan was made out of scraps of wool. The scraps of wool were from the making of socks which were sent to servicemen during World War II. My mother and her mother knit the socks and the afghan.

This afghan is warm and cozy. It has seen my family through many naps in the safety of our home.

How unlike the life of a serviceman! A serviceman was not usually warm and certainly not cozy. He probably dreamed of a quiet nap in the safety of his own home as he was holed up in a fox hole, defending our nation.

In my home is also a story sent to us this past Christmas by my husband's sister. She incorporated into one small volume the letters my mother-in-law received during World War II from a family in Estonia. The letters tell of their daily struggles to survive. The letters are full of thankfulness for the gifts they had received from my mother-in-law. The letters tell of the hope this family had to some day be able to leave their homeland and come to America.

My husband remembers going to [illegible] this family when they arrived [illegible] in America. Hope was certainly the inspiration that helped them throughout their ordeal.

The husband was a doctor. He had been a [illegible] doctor in his country. He was hoping for a job in America that would allow him to use his talents as a physician.

It was after this family arrived in America that hope failed them. Not being able to provide for his family as a doctor, this man committed suicide. He had survived the atrocities of war and had even escaped some atrocities. Yet, the denial of his hope caused him to despair.

War affects all of us. It affects the serviceman trying to do his duty to his country even as he tries to simply survive. Leaving the cozy comforts of home to travel to foreign soil to maintain the world's fragile peace is the way many servicemen and women have served our country.

War not only affects those who serve in any war, but it also affects the people of the countries at war. Dashed hopes and families changed forever seem to be the results of war.

Wednesday is Veteran's Day. It's a day which we set aside to honor and remember those who have served in our nation's wars, and particularly it's a day in which we remember those who gave their lives so as to allow us to live in peace.

This Veteran's Day, look around you and see how truly fortunate you are to be living in a land of peace. Remember the years now gone by in which we were at war, not peace. Remember the sacrifices made by those serving in those wars, and yes, even those who simply had the misfortune to be living in the towns and villages and countrysides where war raged.

As you remember your own stories of wars gone by, consider the peace in which we now live. Pray that this peace will remain.

Conservation farmers for 1992 in the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District are Richard and Donna Parnow of rural Goodridge. They farm about 1,100 acres in Kretka township southwest of Goodridge, including 800 acres of their own and the remainder rented from Richard's father, Raymond Parnow, who lives nearby.

Several wildlife food plots were planted by Richard Parnow on his farm southwest of Goodridge this year. Some volunteer corn is shown in this sunflower plot which adjoins a wooded area on the farm. Corn planted for wildlife failed to mature due to the cold weather and early frost this year but sunflowers will provide feed for deer and birds.

THANK YOU!
I would like to take this time to thank my many champaign workers for their time and contributions.
I also would like to thank all the people who showed their support with their votes.
Sincerely,
Janice Davis

installed and maintained about five miles of surface drainage ditches in his fields, planted more than a mile of field shelterbelts and installed half a dozen field drainage outlet structures to drop field drainage water into deep drainage ditches without eroding the field edges. Trees have also been added to the farmstead windbreak.

Richard has constructed a wildlife pond about an acre in size with a nesting island in the center. Each year he plants about seven acres of corn and/or sunflowers for wildlife food plots in several areas of the farm. There are about 85 acres of woods on the farm which Richard expects will remain in that condition. He harvests dead and down trees for wood for home heating.

In their CRP acres the Parnows have planted five acres to three varieties of evergreen trees. Although the dry years following the planting have taken their toll, some of the trees have done exceptionally well and are now over six feet high.

"There was one species that the moose particularly liked," Richard said, "and they ate the tops off most of those. And some of the trees are missing branches where buck deer used them to rub their antlers. Considering that and the drought, I guess we can't be too disappointed with they way they are growing."

Members of the Pheasants Forever organization, the Parnows have raised a hundred or more pheasant chicks each of the past several years for area release. Some have traveled to neighboring farms and at least one hen produced a brood the following year, but overall survival of released birds has been poor—typical of pheasant releases in this area of the state.

Richard does soil sampling on the farm and applies fertilizer according to soil test results. While he prefers moldboard plowing, he does some chiselplowing to leave residue on fields which have light soils and a tendency toward wind erosion. Crop rotation is also practiced on the farm.

The Parnows have been members of the area farm management program through the Thief River Falls technical college for more than 20 years.

In addition to their farm operation, Richard and Donna have been active in their community. They are members of Faith Lutheran church in Goodridge where Richard serves on the council and Donna is a member of the Rachael Circle of the Faith Lutheran Church Women and a past Sunday School teacher.

Richard served on the Goodridge school board for 12 years and for the past 15 years has been a member of the Pennington county extension committee. He served on the board of Farmers Co-op Grain and Seed association in Thief River Falls for four years and was Pennington County King Agassiz in 1979.

The Parnows were named Farm Family of the Year in 1988 through the University of Minnesota extension service. They have been members of the Goodridge Trailblazers snowmobile club for more than 20 years and are avid fishing enthusiasts, both winter and summer. Richard is a member of the National Rifle Association and an avid deer hunter with his hunting party headquartering at the former Harold Knutson farm home.

Donna is a member of the local chapter of the Minnesota Agri-Women and a charter member of the Chattering Chicks homemakers club.

The Parnows have two sons. Tim was a member of the Kratka 4-H club for nine years and now lives in Roseau while working at the Marvin Windows plant in Warroad. Jerry was a member of the Kratka 4-H club for seven years, is a senior at Goodridge high school and attends the auto mechanics program at the Thief River Falls campus of the Northwest Technical College. He is also a member of the National Guard and attended nine weeks of basic training last summer.

As Pennington county's Conservation Farmer award recipients, Richard and Donna will attend the annual convention of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts later this year at the Radisson South hotel in Bloomington. They will receive their award plaque next spring at the annual meeting of the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District.

More than a mile of field shelterbelts to control wind erosion have been planted on the Richard and Donna Parnow farm southwest of Goodridge in Kretka township. Need for this particular row was diminished when the light soil was planted with vegetative cover under the Conservation Reserve Program. The Parnows are Pennington county's Conservation Farmers for 1992.

Say What?!

By Karmen Lee Ortloff

Say What?!
Excuses, Excuses

It is the end of the quarter at Lincoln High School and not only are report cards thrust upon us, but parent-teacher conferences as well. The stress is mounting and students are formulating excuses concerning their grades.

Some less creative students have used the old standbys such as, "My dog ate my homework, therefore, I couldn't get it in on time. Hence, my grade." (Once, my dog DID eat my homework, and anyone who has met my psycho puppy from hell knows that this is entirely possible. Thank heavens I had a gracious math teacher who believed that I did do the work. Of course, she did make me redo my assignment.)

I shouldn't speak for teachers (I will anyway), but I would think the same old lines would get a little tiring. Therefore, as a tribute to teachers and a service to students everywhere, I offer, whether you approve or not, ten new excuses to use when negotiating grades.

Line number ten: I am merely playing possum. You see, this time I do poorly and next time I surprise you with my absolute genius. Therefore, I feel it is completely unwarranted to receive an (insert grade here) when I was only sticking to my game plan. Don't you agree?

Number nine: Well, every night, as I'm studying, I am visited by alien beings. Their mission is to extract my new found knowledge and take it back to their home planet. As a result, I have been left with an abyss in the area of the brain responsible for (insert subject here).

Number eight: I know where you live and I have a psycho puppy from hell that I am not afraid to use!

Number seven: It was this whole election thing. It threw me in a tizzy. I was flabbergasted as to who to support (I will withdrawn from political commentary here except to say that the choice was obvious). I stayed home and stared, without blinking, at the television set for hours. Surely you wouldn't hold being a concerned citizen against me.

Number six: (This one has actions. Get down on your hands and knees, fold your hands together, and allow the tears to flow freely.) Please, please, please don't give me that grade. I'll do anything for you. I'll scrape gum off the bottoms of desks, I'll correct papers for you, I'll wash your car, I'll ...

Number five: I know where you live and I have a psycho puppy from hell that I am not afraid to use! (I know that I already used this one, but it is a particular favorite of mine, so leave me alone, okay?)

Number four: I suffer from a rare disease, about which very little is known. It's called post traumatic dodgeball syndrome. I've suffered in silence for many years and have only recently been diagnosed. Due to the severe psychological damage done to me on the elementary playgrounds, I am unable to function as a normal student. Any sudden movements or red kickballs can set me off and once that happens, I am doomed. It's a medical condition that must be taken into consideration when you assign my grade.

Number three: I didn't even know I had this class.

Number two: Did I ever tell you how much I admire you. Your sense of style, your witticism, your social awareness, your... (Directions: in order for this one to work properly, you must continue with the compliments well beyond the initial flattery stage. You must keep them coming until your teacher is so annoyed/distraught/big-headed that he or she will give you any grade you want just to get you out of the room.)

Finally, the number one excuse, from the typewriter in my bedroom (obscure satire of the David Letterman show): I know where you live and I am only kidding! Actually, the number one excuse is. In these hard economic times, can one really afford to give anything but an "A"? I don't think so.

Allow me to indulge in a personal plea to all my teachers for one moment. I would just like to take this opportunity to tell, say (in chronological order and with no reference to favorites), Mr. Dyrud, you're the best Literary Arts/AP English teacher in town. Senora Ene, Mi gusts tus clase; Miss Stoltman, I won't be late for Geography this week; and Mr. Forney, I still don't know the difference between the occipital and peripheral lobes but otherwise get the drift. All right! All right! Because I need a good grade in band, I am forced to say that Mr. Felt is even a good teacher. Believe me, this brown nosing to all my teachers hurts me more than it does you. Furthermore, if any of my teachers fail to give me an "A," I'll retract everything next week. Comprende?

exhaust pipes and an efficient tunnel-mounted heat exchanger with a heavy-duty Arctco/Comet overdrive clutch system.

Comfort and safety enthusiasts will stress the lightweight AWS III chassis, laid-down front shocks with a 39-inch ski stance and seven inches of rising-rate travel and the rear FasTrack suspension with eight and one-half inches of travel, gas shock, progressive-rate skid frame, ski carbines and the full block Kevlar track.

But mostly people are buying it because, as one test rider put it, "it goes to beat hell!"

Arctco president and chief executive officer Chris Twomey gives several reasons in response to the question of why his company is offering such a machine.

"Obviously there are few conditions where a snowmobiler could or would go as fast as this machine will go," he said. "But we are a consumer products company that is responsive to the desires of our customers. A certain segment of that customer base gets its exhilaration from acceleration—a response from the machine that will snap your head back when you crack the throttle while riding along at normal speed. We are responding to that market with the Thundercat.

"In return," he added, "we expect that our customers will use our products in a responsible manner—just as the automobile industry builds high performance sports cars that most often can't or won't be driven to the limits of their capabilities."

"An added benefit to all our customers is that the research and development which goes into creating, refining and building these extra high performance machines is often applied to many models in the rest of the line. The overall result is greater safety, reliability and dependability for all Arctic Cat riders."

The Thundercat isn't for everyone, but for the limited number who want to spin the track when they crack the throttle at 80 miles per hour, it's the ideal machine.....not that it is lacking in creature comforts and other amenities as well.

Standard features are tachometer, speedometer, odometer, trip meter, gas gauge (11-gallon tank), low oil warning, temperature light, parking brake, handwarmers, thumbwarmer, tether switch, plug and belt holder and adjustable handlebars. High windshield is optional and the machine is equipped with an aero-molded halogen headlight.

Arctco officials do not release quantities of snowmobile models to be produced and declined comment on the Thundercat production run. Rather they said that dealer enthusiasm for the model was high at dealer meetings held last March and that enthusiasm was evidenced by extra early orders.

While Arctco has operated since its beginning on a basis of manufacturing only to orders placed by its dealers and distributors, the Thundercat is expected to have the highest percentage of pre-sale at the retail level of any Arctic Cat model produced by Arctco.

While only a relatively few Arctic Cat riders will select the Thundercat as their dream machine, all will benefit from the technology and engineering which went and is going into its development and refinement. A number of discoveries have already found their way into other models in the 1993 Arctic Cat lineup.

Other models in the 1993 Arctic Cat line-up are the Wildcat 700, 700 EFI and 700 EFI MC; EXT 550, 550 EFI and 550 EFI MC; EXT 580Z; Prowler 440Z; Jag 440Z; Pantera; Prowler and Prowler 2-Up; Cougar; Panther and Panther Deluxe; Jag and Jag Deluxe; Lynx and Lynx Deluxe; Cheetah; Jag AFS Long Track; Lynx Mountain Cat; and the youth model Kitty Cat.

Mayor Bob Reeve (left) of Thief River Falls and Willard Stromberg, vice president of the Nordic Chapter of the American Diabetes Association, review some of the informational materials available from the association. November is National Diabetes Awareness Month and has been proclaimed in Thief River Falls by Mayor Reeve. His proclamation notes that diabetes is a chronic disease that affects 14 million Americans, including 250,000 Minnesotans. The disease leads to complications including blindness, kidney disease, heart disease, strokes and amputations and kills 150,000 Americans each year. An estimated seven million Americans, including 125,000 Minnesotans, currently have diabetes and are unaware of it, although early detection and proper care significantly reduces the risk of life-threatening complications.

Detroit Lakes quarterback Toby Steinmetz was tackled for a 3-yard loss by Thief River Falls defensive end Shane Skeim on this second quarter keeper during Friday's Section 8A high school football championship game at Detroit Lakes. The Lakers won their third straight sectional title with a 48-13 win over the Prowlers.

Prowlers have high hopes in swimming

Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken will be busy determining a line-up this week as he shifts through the Prowlers' qualifiers for the 1992 Section 8 girls swimming and diving championships. The post-season meet will be held at the Hyslop Pool on the University of North Dakota campus in Grand Forks, starting Friday with the diving preliminaries at 12-noon and the swimming prelims at 4 p.m.

Saturday finals are scheduled for 1 p.m. Top two finishers in each swimming event, along with the top five divers, earn state meet berths. Swimmers can also advance by matching a state meet qualifying time.

Section 8 line-up includes Alexandria/Morris Area, Bemidji, Brainerd/Motley/Pillager, Crookston, Detroit Lakes/Frazee, Fergus Falls, Holdingford, Little Falls, Melrose, Moorhead, Osakis, Park Rapids Area, and Thief River Falls.

Each school is guaranteed two entries in each individual sectional event, and by meeting qualifying times throughout the course of the regular season, schools can have up to four entries per event. The Prowlers, for example, have six qualifiers in the 50, 100, 200, and 500 freestyle, and they have nine qualifiers in the 100 backstroke.

Lokken will be announcing the Thief River Falls line-up later this week. Competitors can enter two individual events, and two relays.

Senior Amy Adams and sophomore Theresa Giauque have been the season-long Thief River Falls leaders, and Lokken expects them to fare well this weekend, along with the Prowlers' 200 and 400 freestyle relay teams.

Adams won the 50 freestyle and was second in the 100 butterfly at last year's Section 8 meet. Giauque was second in the 200 freestyle. And they were both members of a first place 200 freestyle relay team, along with then sophomore Lisa Ulrich and now-graduated senior Lanea Dunsch.

Defending champion Brainerd/Motley/Pillager is favored to repeat its team honors this week, with Thief River Falls looking to join the likes of Melrose and Alexandria/Morris Area among the top finishers.

"We're going for the top three," said Lokken. "If the girls come through for us, I think we have a legitimate shot."

Thief River Falls Section 8 qualifiers include:

■ 200 I.M. - Adams, Giauque, Torgerson, Ulrich.

■ 50 freestyle - Adams, Giauque, Ulrich, Morken, Torgerson, Johnson.

■ Diving - freshman Jennifer Olin, freshman Becky Mattson.

■ 100 butterfly - Adams, Giauque, Ulrich.

■ 100 freestyle - Giauque, Adams, Ulrich, Torgerson, Morken, Johnson.

Lakers win one-sided title game

Thief River Falls' 1992 high school football season ended just the way it began Friday – with a loss to Detroit Lakes at Mollberg Field. The unbeaten Lakers earned their third straight berth in the Class A state playoffs by dominating the Prowlers 48-13 in the chilly Section 8A finals.

Detroit Lakes, now 11-0, will host Totino Grace Friday at 7 p.m. in the first round Class A state quarterfinals. The Fridley-based Eagles knocked off Brooklyn Center 38-20 in the Section 3A finals Friday. Thief River Falls finished at 7-4.

The Prowlers opened the year with a 21-2 loss at Detroit Lakes Sept. 4. Thief River Falls also lost regular season decisions to East Grand Forks and Fergus Falls, but reversed those outcomes in post-season rematches to reach the Section 8A finals for the first time.

However, Thief River Falls' quest to complete the cycle and make amends for all three regular season losses was quickly squashed by the bigger, stronger, faster Lakers.

Detroit Lakes put together a game-opening 9-play, 54-yard touchdown drive to grab a 7-0 lead just 3:51 into the game, promptly answered a game-tying Thief River Falls score with a 93-yard kickoff return for a touchdown, and went on to build a 28-7 halftime lead. The Lakers made sure the Prowlers wouldn't come back by scoring on their first three possessions of the second half.

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm was impressed. "They (Lakers) have a great football team," he said. "They're big; they're extremely strong; and they have tremendous speed. It would have taken an unbelievable effort on our part to win this football game. They'll represent our section very well."

Detroit Lakes out-gained Thief River Falls 403-178, including a 340-129 advantage in rushing yardage as the Lakers continually popped quick openers for big yards. That prompted one sideline observer to note that "Detroit Lakes is running north and south; Thief River Fall is running east and west."

Quarterback Toby Steinmetz opened the scoring with a keeper to the right side from the Thief River Falls 3-yard line.

A John Davis fumble recovery at the Detroit Lakes 28 set up the first Thief River Falls touchdown as Jason Svir hit Carter Rogalla in stride over the middle for a 32-yard scoring play on a third-and-14 call with 2:55 left in the first quarter.

But it was 14-7 just 15 seconds later when Detroit Lakes' David Johnson fielded the ensuing Thief River Falls kickoff at his own 7-yard line, got behind the blocking wall on the right side and then showed his speed in the open field for a touchdown return that stunned the Prowlers' sideline. They never recovered.

"The kickoff return was a big play," acknowledged Mumm. "I really don't know how much of a difference it really made in the final outcome, but it just showed what kind of football team they have. We scored on them and thought we were back in the game, but they just picked it up a notch and lifted their game to the next level."

The ball was back in the Lakers' hands just two plays after Johnson's kickoff return as Matt Sullivan recovered a fumbled Thief River Falls snap exchange at the the mid-field stripe.

Just when the Prowlers appeared they would hold the Lakers, Detroit Lakes turned a third-and-14 play into a first down at the Thief River Falls 21 when Johnson broke tackles in turning a short screen pass into a 33-yard gain. The 8-play scoring drive was completed when Erik Gunderson ran through several would-be tacklers from nine yards out with 10:16 remaining in the first half.

Another Thief River Falls turnover made it 28-7 when a scrambling Svir was intercepted by Eric Gilbertson at the Prowlers' 42 with 3:32 left. The Lakers scored from the 47 when Johnson got to the outside the sprinted down the sidelines untouched with 2:24 to play.

"We made some mistakes early, and got out of sync," said Mumm.

If the Prowlers harbored any comeback hopes they disappeared when Gunderson shot through the left side for a 48-yard gain on the first play of the third quarter. That carried to the Thief River Falls 25, and seven plays later it was 35-7 when Steinmetz lobbed a 17-yard touchdown pass to Gunderson.

Another long run by Gunderson, this one covering 41 yards to the Thief River Falls 2-yard line, made for a quick four-play, 59-yard touchdown drive. Chad Rosell scored on the next play with a dive that made it 41-7 with 3:39 remaining in the third quarter.

Detroit Lakes reserves finished a 9-play, 54-yard touchdown drive that produced a 48-7 spread on a 12-yard run by Kenny Erickson with 9:06 left in the game.

Thief River Falls got the final touchdown on a 10-play, 68-yard march that included a 20-yard run by Wade Evenson and a 10-yard touchdown effort by Svir with 4:18 showing.

Eleven different Detroit Lakes players carried the ball, led by Gunderson with 113 yards on just six attempts, and Johnson with 90 yards on seven tries. Carter Rogalla led the Prowlers with 48 yards on six carries.

John Davis came up to make the hit, but the Thief River Falls linebacker wasn't able to bring down Detroit Lakes runningback David Johnson, who turned a short screen pass into a 33-yard gain during Friday's Section 8A high school football championship match. The Lakers won 48-13.

Northwest Division volleyball...

Pioneers earn honors

Jill Brantl, a Northland Community College sophomore from Plummer, has been named a First Team Minnesota Community College Conference All-Northwest Division volleyball player for the recently-completed 1992 season, it was announced this week by Pioneers coach Deb Jacobson.

Kelly Magner, a Northland sophomore from Thief River Falls, was a Second Team MCCC All-Northwest Division selection.

Two other Northland players – Kathy Kvick, a freshman from Thief River Falls, and Jodi Chaplinski, a sophomore from Roseau – were named to the Northwest Division honorable mention list.

Brantl led the Pioneers in kills per game, was second in attack percentage, and was among the team leaders in blocks per game.

"A solid player all year," said Jacobson in describing Brantl's performance. "Jill will be missed next year, not only for her playing, but also her leadership."

Magner led the team in assists, and was probably the Pioneers' hardest worker, according to Jacobson, who said, "She was willing to go after any ball," noted Jacobson. "Her hard work and court leadership made Kelly a valuable member of this year's squad."

Chaplinski led the Pioneers in attack percentage and was second on the team to Holly Gram in blocks per game, with that combination also ranking 1-2 in that category in Region 13. Kvick led the team in digs and second on the team in kills per game.

"Jodi gets the job done, even though she played with a shoulder injury all year," offered Jacobson. "She was a positive contribution to this year's squad. Kathy progressed all season and played her best volleyball at the end of the year. She will be a definite leader for next year's squad."

The post-season honors list also included First-Team pick Kris Paulsan, a Thief River Falls sophomore at Brainerd Community College, and honorable mention selection Jenny Walter, a Plummer freshman at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Northland struggled through a 5-20 season this fall. The Pioneers figured to be a Northwest Division contender and were 5-7 heading into MCCC play when injuries, illness and team defections all contributed to a season-ending string of 13 straight losses. They failed to win a single Northwest Division match.

Area teams begin state playoff trail

Five area teams will be involved in first round state high school football playoff quarterfinal games this weekend.

The games include Detroit Lakes (11-0) vs. Totino Grace (7-4) in Class A, Warroad (7-4) vs. Esko (10-1) in Class B, Mahnomen (11-0) vs. Cook Country (10-0) in Class C, Stephen (10-0) vs. Chokio-Alberta (9-1) and Clearbrook/Gonvick (10-0) vs. Hills-Beaver Creek (9-1) in Nine Man.

Winners move on to the state semifinals at the Metrodome the following weekend.

In Friday/Saturday sectional championship games, Detroit Lakes handled Thief River Falls 48-13 in 8A, Warroad knocked off Ottertail Central 14-7 in 8B, Mahnomen beat Warren 14-6 in 8C, Clearbrook/Gonvick edged Fisher/Climax 20-14 in Section 6 Nine Man, and Stephen cruised past Tri-County 43-8 in Section 8 Nine Man.

Totino Grace won the Section 3A title with a 38-20 win over Brooklyn Center, Esko took the Section 7B crown with a 25-6 victory over Pine River-Backus, Cook County defeated Barnum 27-13 in the Section 7C championship game; Hills-Beaver Creek out-scored Beardsley-Browns Valley 28-20 in the Nine-Man Section 2 finals; while Chakio-Alberta used the same 28-20 score to eliminate Silver Lake in the Nine-Man Section 3 championship game.

Scrambling out of the pocket, Thief River Falls quarterback Jason Svir looked for an open receiver during Friday's Section 8A high school football championship game against Detroit Lakes at Mollberg Field. Robert Nelson (70) and Derin Weleski of the Prowlers watched Svir on the play.

Section 8A volleyball field set

Cass Lake will play Win-E-Mac at 6:30 p.m. and Fisher/Climax takes on Roseau at 8 in the Section 8A high school volleyball tournament first round semifinals Friday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Finals Saturday include the third place match at 6:30 p.m. and championship match at 8.

Sub-sectional play was completed last week.

Sub-Section 1

Cass Lake defeated Clearbrook/Gonvick 15-5, 15-6, 15-9 in the Section 8A Sub-Section 1 finals Friday at Bemidji State University.

Blackduck was a 15-7, 15-6, 15-7 winner over Walker-Hackensack-Akeley in the third place match.

Sub-Section 2

Win-E-Mac downed Fosston 3-1 to win the Section 8A Sub-Section 2 title Saturday in Mahnomen.

Ada/Borup stopped Norman County West 7-15, 15-13, 15-2 in the third place match.

Sub-Section 3

Fisher/Climax outlasted East Grand Forks 15-10, 15-5, 12-15, 15-9 in the Section 8A Sub-Section 3 championship match Saturday at the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart was a 15-7, 2-15, 15-9, 15-11 winner over Red Lake County Central in the third place match.

Semifinals were played Friday when Fisher/Climax swept Red Lake County Central 15-1, 15-3, 15-2 and East Grand Forks got by Sacred Heart 15-10, 15-9, 5-15, 8-15, 15-8.

"Fisher/Climax just tore us apart," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene. "We were shell-shocked. We were way too tentative. It wasn't a fun match for us."

The Mustangs played better volleyball against Sacred Heart, but still came up short of the kind of effort Borene was looking for. "We were still down," he said. "We rebounded a little, but not as much as we needed."

Red Lake County Central finished the year 13-13 overall. "You would like to do better, but realistically, that's about where I thought we might be," noted Borene.

Senior Dawn Bachand was the recognized Red Lake County Central leader – one of the best players in the area. "Dawn is a great volleyball player," pointed out Barene. "She's an excellent all-around player. She does a lot of things really well."

Injuries and illness took a toll on the Mustangs, with senior Bobbi Berberich bouncing in and out of the line-up because of illness and senior Kim Magers missing the second half of the season because of a hip injury.

But others tried to pick up the slack, noted Borene. "We saw some big improvement from a lot of the kids," he said, pointing to senior Jill Radniecki, who led the team in kill blocks, juniors Angel Mickelsan, Farrah Brantl, Karlene Jolly, Abby Chervestad and Amy Arlt, along with senior Setter Lisa Larson.

Sub-Section 4

Championship match in Section 8A Sub-Section 4 Friday at Northland Community College found Roseau out-scoring Tri-County 15-11, 15-13, 15-4.

Kittson Central was a 15-11, 9-15, 15-9, 15-13 winner over Marshall County Central for third place.

Top art entries in the Minnesota Waterfowl, Pheasant and Trout/Salmon stamp contests will be on display through Jan. 6, 1993 at the Bell Museum of Natural History, 17th Street and University Avenue S.E., on the University of Minnesota campus in Minneapolis.

Contests were held in August and September to select designs for the 1993 stamps. The top works from among 160 total entries were then selected for the special show at the Bell Museum.

Contest winners this year were Phil Scholer of Kasson in the Migratory Waterfowl Stamp Contest with a pairing of blue-winged teal; Bruce Miller of Mound in the Pheasant Habitat Stamp Contest; and Dave Brandon of Eagan in the Trout/Salmon Stamp Contest with a painting of a coho salmon.

The stamp art contests, which are only open to Minnesota artists, offer no prizes. The winning artists retain reproduction rights to their designs, however, and they usually issue limited edition prints.

St. Bernard's members earn service award

Jim Fisher, Bill Fogarty and Pat Gaffaney of St. Bernard's Catholic parish in Thief River Falls were recently awarded the St. George medal for outstanding service to youth.

The St. George Medal is the highest award bestowed on a Catholic volunteer scouter. The awards were presented at the 8:30 a.m. service by Don and Darlene Votava of Warren, lay directors for scouting in the Crookston Diocese, and Art Heinze, Thief River Falls scout leader.

Rev. Joe DeCrans, pastor at St. Bernard's church, praised the three scouters for their years of dedicated service to youth.

Heinze explained that the St. George Medal recipients are nominated by their peers based on certain criteria and service to the church, community and youth programs.

The three recipients recently at St. Bernard's have all been active in many local and district scouting events and programs and have combined for more than 40 years of service to the youth of the community.

Fogarty currently serves as assistant scoutmaster of Troop 57 at St. Bernard's and is a veteran staff member at Cub Scout Day Camps.

Fisher is serving as assistant scoutmaster for Troop 199 at St. John Lutheran church and is Voyageur Trails District Order of the Arrow advisor.

Eagle project fences grounds at St. Bernard's

Jack Hoefer, son of Donald and Patricia Hoefer of Thief River Falls recently completed his Eagle Scout project — a five foot high chain link fence around the back of St. Bernard's school.

Hoefer said the primary consideration in the choice of this project was the safety of children at St. Bernards. The safety fence will hopefully keep toys and children from going onto the nearby streets.

With the help of his friends and donations from the St. Bernard's playground fund, the Knights of Columbus and St. Hilaire Lion's club, Hoefer was able to complete his project. It took almost 10 hours of work and $1,500 to make the project come to life.

Hoefer is a member of troop 57. His Scout Master is Jerome Cota who is assisted by Bill Fogarty and Art Cloutier. Hoefer is well on his way to becoming an Eagle Scout with this project but he still has to complete one merit badge and go before the board of review.

Hoefer is a senior at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. His plans include applying for the U.S. Marines.

NW Initiative Fund elects officers

The Northwest Minnesota Initiative Fund Board of Directors elected officers for the coming year at its recent annual meeting.

Elected for one-year terms were: president, Lance Yohe, executive director of the International Coalition for Land and Water Stewardship; vice president, Kathleen Craddock, pharmacist and owner of Park Pharmacy in Park Rapids; secretary, Patricia Swanson, health care educator and farmer; treasurer, John Ostrem, executive director of the Headwaters Regional Development Commission.

Three directors were elected to their second four-year term: Kathleen Craddock of Park Rapids, Bruce Hamnes of Stephen and Norma Hanson of Goodridge.

The initiative fund is governed by a ten member board of directors who are elected to four-year terms, with a limit of two terms. Directors are selected for their broad knowledge, regional perspectives and leadership positions in the region.

For more information about the initiative fund contact either its Bemidji office at 722 Paul Bunyan Drive NW (759-2057) or the Crookston office at 204 S. Main Street (281-6528).

Fencing around St. Bernard's came about because of an Eagle project. Jack Hoefer of Troop 57 in Thief River Falls organized the effort to construct the fence pictured above in various stages of completion.

Study finds strong link between crime and gambling

A recent survey of the six state-funded gambling treatment centers by the Minnesota Compulsive Gambling Hotline shows a strong link between gambling and crime. One treatment center reported 98 per cent of their clients during 1990-91 admitted to criminal activity. Forty-one per cent of these individuals were prosecuted.

Crimes reported included making fraudulent insurance claims and loan applications, selling mortgaged property, embezzling money and writing bad checks.

An attempted bank robbery and murder last summer and more recently a series of bank robberies on the Minnesota/Wisconsin border has raised concern over this issue.

The Minnesota Compulsive Gambling Hotline surveyed the six state-funded gambling treatment centers in St. Cloud, Minneapolis, Duluth, Granite Falls and Bemidji. The centers were asked two questions:

- How serious a problem is crime and gambling?
- Is it an occasional incident or much more serious or pervasive problem?

The results were striking, said Roger Svendsen, project director.

"According to the survey, the relationship of crime and gambling is much more than an occasional incident," Svendsen said. "All treatment centers reported a high percentage of gamblers involved with criminal activity."

The problem is not limited to adults. A University of Minnesota study in 1990 identified 6.3 per cent of Minnesota adolescents as problem gamblers. Of these, 83 per cent admitted to engaging in illegal activities.

The issues reach across the entire country. Information provided by the National Council on Compulsive Gambling shows:

- More than 65 per cent of female compulsive gamblers were found to have engaged in some form of illegal activity.
- Thirteen per cent of both male and female prisoners are incarcerated because of gambling related debts.
- Approximately 24 per cent of female and 38 per cent of male compulsive gamblers have been involved in embezzlement.

Minnesota, through the Department of Human Services, has begun addressing these problems, according to Human Services Commissioner Natalie Haas Steffen.

"Compulsive gamblers throughout Minnesota are changing their lives and finding help through groups such as Gamblers Anonymous and GamAnon, and the six treatment programs which have funding from the state," she said.

Former resident writes poem

Ruth Mellby White, a former resident of Thief River Falls, has had her poem "Appalachia" published in a new book entitled "The Best Poems of the 90s."

In a letter to the Times, she says that much of the poem was inspired by growing up in Thief River Falls and the content applies to this area as well as the area mentioned in the title. Her poem follows:

"Appalachia"

Pine branches dancing in the
gracefully swaying
as though bowing to their audience.
Cats chase mice, moles, chipmunks and birds
Quietly stalking—quickly
pouncing.
Helping nature keep its balance.
Cold wind frosts the vegetation
Snow and sleet covering and decorating the landscape.
Pictures sparkle in the sun on frozen windowpanes.
Jack Frost a wonderful artist.
Snow at night turns blue with diamonds on its crust,
Shoes squeak in its hardness
While man plows along to his destiny.

Whole Wheat BIBLE STUDY

WHOLE WHEAT BIBLE STUDY

How to do God's Will with your body

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

As a disciple of Jesus Christ, your body is the temple or place where God lives (John 14:23; 1 Cor 3:16; 6:19-20). One way you can serve God with your body is to take good care of it. For example, keep your hair looking nice and trimmed (1 Cor. 11:14). Put nothing but good things into your body, which will keep the building strong. Exercise to continually maintain the temple. Keep your breath smelling sweet and dress God's temple in clothes of quality and good taste.

You are in training to be a king and a priest, so it is necessary that you know quality, wear quality and live a quality life to the degree that you can and as God has blessed you (Rev. 1:6; 5:10). Never forget, you are God's showpiece on this earth. Let your good taste, your good actions and your good words be a 10,000 watt light on this earth (Matt. 5:16; Luke 12:35; Phil. 2:15). Set your goal high. This way, if you don't reach it, you will have reached a higher plateau than if you had set your goal low, or worse yet, set none at all.

Live just as God lives. God is continually doing acts of kindness and charity to those in need (Acts 9:36). God is kind, loving, generous and giving (Gal. 5:22). He loves His enemies. He does good to those who hate Him. God cares about the widows, orphans, fatherless, sick, lame, blind, old and feeble (James 1:27; Luke 14:13; Psalm 138:6; Prov. 19:17).

In order to please God, we must be careful to engage in good deeds or works (Titus 3:8). This is something we must learn to do and not get weary in doing (Titus 3:14; 2 Thess. 3:13). God is glorified by good works and we are to glorify Him in everything we do, whether at home or for our employer (Col. 1:10; 3:17). We are to commit all our ways to God, not just some.

Ask yourself these questions: What am I doing daily with my eyes, ears, mind, mouth or body which does not please God and is not glorifying His name? What am I continuing to do that could be a stumbling stone to someone watching me?

God says He will pay you back for all the good you do in the name of Christ for His glory (Eph. 6:8). His blessings are distributed daily. Is your life a blessed one? What must you do to order your ways aright so God can begin to bless you (Psalm 50:22-23)?

Are you a continual doer of God's words or a continual forgetful hearer (James 1:22)? Are you keeping Christ's words, which is doing God's Will (John 12:47-48; 1 John 2:17)? If not, are you ever going to start? If you start, are you going to endure until Christ's new nature is formed in you (Gal. 4:19; 6:15; 2 Cor. 13:9,11)? Remember, quitters never win but winners never quit.

When you put your hand to the plow, don't look back at your life of swearing, getting drunk, living an immoral life and continuing to crave those things that are not good. Instead, crave those things that are good and show God your allegiance is to Him and not Satan.

When you think about it, the choice is clear.

"My cellular phone is a big time and money saver. I can work while driving – I use it constantly. My office can reach me anytime, anywhere... even if I take an afternoon for fishing or duck hunting. And when I'm on a job, I don't have to try to use a phone in a crowded job-site trailer. I just go to my truck and get through right now."

Trip to Texas and Mexico

Pastor Mike Forsberg of the Precious Seed Baptist church recently returned from a nine-day tour of Texas and old Mexico. First he went to the pastors' conference in Texas. Between 50 and 100 pastors from California to New York were there. He saw an old friend of his there, Pastor Wanan Klenk of Park Rapids. Then they went to old Mexico where they gave out several hundred Bibles and John and Romans (pamphlets of those two books of the Bible). They received invitations to watch a gospel film and attend church services at three different churches. Pastor Mike brought back ponchos for his wife, Lynn, and their three children. He said the merchandise there is very inexpensive right by the border and, although the climate there was very nice, it was good to be home in the U.S.A.

Weakened U.S. Military Can't Keep The Peace

Veteran's Day on Wednesday, November 11, calls to mind the sacrifices of America's military personnel who served in all our nation's wars. Each family who has had a member involved in military service during war time is acutely aware of those sacrifices—and most of the nation's families have been touched by having members in the armed forces.

Columnist Joseph Walker tells of his own father being called to military service in World War II as the 33-year-old father of four-going-on-five and serving more than two years in communications at Pearl Harbor. Walker's mother tried her best to be both mother and father to the children while working at assorted odd jobs to supplement her husband's meager military income.

"Although Veteran's Day tends to get lost each year in the advancing rush of holiday festivities, it's a good time to pause for a few moments to remember the sacrifices so many families have made in responding to their country's call," Walker writes.

"It's never easy to leave home, no matter how noble the cause. Nor is there ever a convenient time to send loved ones to war. Countless sacrifices have been made on both fronts—the battlefield and at home—including the ultimate sacrifice. Such is the price we must pay for freedoms that were purchased in a revolutionary marketplace of inconvenient sacrifice and blood.

"I thank God for those freedoms. And on Veteran's Day I also thank you—you who have served and you who have sent loved ones to serve. You have anointed this land with your tears and sanctified it with your service."

According to General William C. Westmoreland, who once commanded American troops in Vietnam, there has been a welcome resurgence of public respect for the military. Writing in Parade magazine, he said, "In our open, free-for-all society, the swings in public attitude, particularly regarding the military, can be dismaying. It is often difficult for our young citizens to separate facts from propaganda. During the hectic years of the war in Vietnam, with the increase in drug abuse and campus protests, many seemed to lose confidence in our traditional institutions."

At the same time, he continues, "We all share a concern for our nation's future. And, indeed, it is frightening to contemplate that we might, in our confusion, cast aside the ideals, ethics and standards that have made our country great.

"America is great," he writes, "because it is a land of liberty, endless challenge and unbounded opportunity. We have overcome foreign and domestic strife and staggering social, economic and political problems, and by doing so have become the most powerful nation on earth. We added to the challenges that confronted us one of our own choosing: To be, by our example, a beacon to other people in the world for individual liberty. No other nation has done that."
